Evaluation Of Social Programs

Richard M. Grinnell, Peter A.
Gabor, Yvonne A. Unrau

Evaluation Of Social Programs:

Designing Evaluations of Educational and Social Programs Lee Joseph Cronbach, Karen Shapiro, 1982 Designing an evaluation is rather an art as each must be designed according to its appropriateness to the situation being evaluated The advantages of each feature of the design must be balanced against any sacrifices each of these choices entail Designers must plan for the allocation of investigative resources selecting investigative questions that are most apt and be aware of both practical and political considerations This volume includes both new approaches to the design of educational evaluations and discusses the pros and cons of frequently used design concepts

Program Evaluation for Social Workers Richard M. Grinnell Jr, Peter A. Gabor, Yvonne A. Unrau, 2015-10-19 Now in its seventh edition this comprehensive text once again provides beginning social work students and practitioners with a proven time tested approach to help them understand and appreciate how to use basic evaluation techniques within their individual cases case level and the programs where they work program level As with the previous six editions this text is eminently approachable accessible straightforward and most importantly practical

Evaluating Social Programs and Problems Stewart Ian Donaldson, Michael Scriven, 2003 Today's evaluators are being challenged to help design and evaluate social programs intended to prevent and ameliorate complex social problems in a variety of settings including schools communities and not for profit and for profit organizations Drawing upon the knowledge and experience of world renowned evaluators the goal of this new book is to provide the most up to date theorizing about how to practice evaluation in the new millennium It features specific examples of evaluations of social programs and problems including the strengths and weaknesses of the most popular and promising evaluation approaches to help readers determine when particular methods are likely to be most effective As such it is the most comprehensive volume available on modern theories of evaluation practice Evaluating Social Programs and Problems presents diverse cutting edge perspectives articulated by prominent evaluators and evaluation theorists on topics including but not limited to Michael Scriven on evaluation as a trans discipline Joseph S Wholey on results oriented management David Fetterman on empowerment evaluation Yvonna S Lincoln on fourth generation evaluation Donna M Mertens on inclusive evaluation Stewart I Donaldson on theory driven evaluation and Melvin M Mark on an integrated view of diverse visions for evaluation Evaluating Social Programs and Problems is a valuable resource and should be considered required reading for practicing evaluators evaluators in training scholars and teachers of evaluation and research methods and other professionals interested in improving social problem solving efforts in the new millennium

The Evaluation of Social Programs Abt Associates, 1976 Evaluation has rapidly developed into an exciting inter disciplinary academic and applied research field Indications are that this specialty will continue to expand and become more rigorous and demanding Vast numbers of fields and different methodologies are using evaluation research techniques now Yet relatively little attention has been paid to the consequences of systematic evaluation practice particularly as it affects the development and in some cases continued existence of numerous social programs The Evaluation of Social Programs addresses these questions It is a unique book offering up to date views of experts drawn from government universities charitable foundations and independent research organizations who are leading practitioners or consumers of social programs research Dust jacket Evaluation and Experiment Carl A. Bennett, Arthur A. Lumsdaine, 2013-09-24 Evaluation and Experiment Some Critical Issues in Assessing Social Programs is a collection of papers presented at the 1973 symposium held at The Battelle Seattle Research Center This book contains eight chapters that consider some selected aspects of the problems in evaluating the outcomes of socially important programs such as those dealing with education health and economic policy The first chapter provides an overview of the issues around the Social Program Evaluation The next chapters deal with the successes and failures brought by social innovations the quasi experimental evaluation in compensatory education to estimate the true effects of such education programs and the usefulness and validity of econometric and related nonexperimental approaches for assessing the effects of social programs These topics are followed by surveys of a number of additional program evaluation studies particularly in the field of family planning or fertility control mostly carried out as experiments or quasi experiments in Asian and Latin American countries Other chapters describe the decision processes that involve explicit assessment of the worth or merit of outcomes and employ multivalued utility analysis and outline the ways in which evaluative data are useful in providing feedback to program or institutional operations and decisions The final chapter discusses resolutions for some of the disagreements expressed by others concerning the role of field experiments constraints in their utilization and other factors that enter into a comprehensive conception of program evaluation Evaluating Educational and Social Programs Blaine R. Worthen, Karl R. White, 2012-12-06 During the past two decades evaluation has come to play an increasingly important role in the operation of educational and social programs by national state and local agencies Mandates by federal funding agencies that programs they sponsored be evaluated gave impetus to use of evaluation Realization that evaluation plays a pivotal role in assuring program quality and effectiveness has maintained the use of evaluation even where mandates have been relaxed With increased use indeed institutionalization of evaluation in many community state and national agencies evaluation has matured as a profession and new evaluation approaches have been developed to aid in program planning implementation monitoring and improvement Much has been written about various philosophical and theoretical orientations to evaluation its relationship to program management appropriate roles evaluation might play new and sometimes esoteric evaluation methods and particular evaluation techniques Useful as these writings are relatively little has been written about simple but enormously important activities which comprise much of the day to day work of the program evaluator This book is focused on some of these more practical aspects that largely determine the extent to which evaluation will prove helpful Evaluating Federal Social Programs Sar A. Levitan, Gregory K. Wurzburg, 1979 Monograph on the evaluation of social policy programmes in the USA discusses the application of evaluation techniques and the use of evaluation within the institutional framework legislative and executive branches with particular reference to the new department and the labour administration

Program Evaluation for Social Workers Richard M. Grinnell, Peter A. Gabor, Yvonne A. Unrau, 2018-12-27 Over the course of 20 years and eight editions the goals of the book have remained the same to prepare students to participate in evaluative activities within their organizations become beginning critical producers and consumers of the professional evaluative literature and reap the benefits of more advanced evaluation courses and texts The authors aim to meet these objectives by presenting a unique approach that is realistic practical applied and user friendly Unlike other textbooks on the market Program Evaluation for Social Workers presents both program level evaluation and case level evaluation methods assuming that neither of these two distinct approaches alone adequately reflects the realities of the field the book demonstrates how they can instead complement each other This integration of approaches provides an accessible adaptable and realistic framework for students and beginning practitioners to more easily grasp and implement in the real world

Program Evaluation for Social Workers Richard M. Grinnell, Peter Gabor (Sociologist), Yvonne A. Unrau, 2016 First published in 1994 this text is designed to be used by graduate level social work students in courses on evaluation and program design Over the course of 20 years and 6 editions the goals of the book have remained the same to prepare students to participate in evaluative activities within their organizations to prepare students to become critical producers and consumers of professional evaluative literature and to prepare students for more advanced evaluation courses and texts Grinnell Gabor and Unrau aim to meet these objectives by presenting a unique approach that is realistic practical applied and user friendly While a majority of textbooks focus on program level evaluation some recent books present case level evaluation methods but rely on inferentially powerful but difficult to implement experimental baseline designs This text assumes that neither of these approaches adequately reflects the realities of the field or the needs of students and beginning practitioners Instead Program Evaluation for Social Workers offers a blend of the two that demonstrates how they can complement one another The integration of case level and program level approaches provides an accessible adaptable and realistic framework for students to more easily grasp and implement in the real world

The Evaluation of Social Programs C. C. Abt, 1977-01-01 The varying opinions and viewpoints presented in The Evaluation of Social Programs offer a lively debate over the uses of evaluation research and its practical applications in a multitude of settings a debate which has serious and far reaching implications for social scientists government policy makers and all other producers and consumers of applied social research It adds up to a unique insight into the views of the elite of American evaluators and their relation with those who use their services Although 500 pages long it is never boring rarely obvious and always realistic It is worth its high cost to both customers and contractors Journal of Social Policy Vol 7 No 2 April 1978

Handbook of Program Evaluation for Social Work and Health Professionals Michael J. Smith, 2010-01-21 Evaluation is crucial for determining the effectiveness of social programs and interventions In this nuts and bolts handbook social work and health care professionals are shown how evaluations should be done taking the intimidation and guesswork out of this essential task Current perspectives in social work and health practice such as the strengths perspective consumer empowerment empowerment evaluation and evidence based practice are linked to evaluation concepts throughout the book to emphasize their importance This book makes evaluation come alive with comprehensive examples of each different type of evaluation such as a strengths based needs assessment in a local community a needs assessment for Child Health Plus programs comprehensive program descriptions of HIV services and community services for the aged a model for goals and objectives in programs for people with mental illness a monitoring study of private practice social work and process evaluations of a Medicare advocacy program and a health advocacy program to explain advance directives Equal emphasis is given to both quantitative and qualitative data analysis with real examples that make statistics and concepts in qualitative analysis un intimidating By integrating both evaluation and research methods and assuming no previous knowledge of research this book makes an excellent reference for professionals working in social work and health settings who are now being called upon to conduct or supervise program evaluation and may need a refresher on research methods With a pragmatic approach that includes survey design data collection methods sampling analysis and report writing it is also an excellent text or classroom resource for students new to the field of program evaluation

Impact Evaluation of Social Programs John Blomquist, 2012 Governments and donor organizations increasingly recognize that rigorous evaluations of public interventions should be part of the social policy decision making process Yet there is frequently a gap between the desire for information on the effectiveness of programs and an understanding of the potential and the limitations of evaluation tools This note reviews the basic elements of good impact evaluations identifies some of the political economy aspects that influence whether they are conducted and explores ways to encourage use of evaluation
