Heroic Saga and Classical Epic in Medieval Ireland Brent Miles, 2011 An examination of the ways in which works of Classical literature influenced and were received by the native Irish tradition Original innovative work which elucidates a number of individual narratives but more significantly by placing these texts in their proper intellectual context the author demonstrates how the world of learning in eleventh and twelfth century Ireland really worked He illuminates a world of medieval education and scholarship he tells us as no one has done previously what medieval Irish classicism was all about Dr Maire ni Mhaonaigh St John's College University of Cambridge The puzzle of Ireland's role in the preservation of classical learning into the middle ages has always excited scholars but the evidence from the island's vernacular literature as opposed to that in Latin for the study of pagan epic has largely escaped notice In this book the author breaks new ground by examining the Irish texts alongside the Latin evidence for the study of classical epic in medieval Ireland surveying the corpus of Irish texts based on histories and poetry from antiquity in particular Togail Troi the Irish history of the Fall of Troy He argues that Irish scholars study of Virgil and Statius in particular left a profound imprint on the native heroic literature especially the Irish prose epic T in B C ailnge The Cattle Raid of Cooley BRENT MILES is a Fellow in Early and Medieval Irish University College Cork
