Evaluating Community Efforts to Prevent Cardiovascular Diseases, 1995 Evaluating Community Efforts to Prevent Cardiovascular Disease S. B. Fawcett, T. D. Sterling, Adrienne Paine-Andrews, K. J. Harris, 1998-02 Provides guidance in evaluating community based programs to prevent discusses integrating the information to address key questions communicate information about a CVD prevention initiative Innovative Measurement and Evaluation of Community Development Practices Norman Walzer, Jane Leonard, Mary Emery, 2017-10-02 Finding innovative and useful measurement practices for community development projects is gaining in importance as policymakers increase the demands for accountability This book examines some of the latest efforts to document the effectiveness of local development efforts The types of documentation differ by types of project jurisdiction and country but they have a common focus of recognizing the importance of the Community Capitals framework Public agencies in the past have often measured development successes by the number of jobs created and or amount of private investment forthcoming However the impacts of community development reach much deeper than those indicators Strengthening local decision making capacity is a common component of development efforts as is engaging populations that in the past have not been active in decision making These and other considerations are explored in more detail by authors in this volume Local policymakers and practitioners will be continually pressured to provide more documentation of outcomes and readers will gain considerable insights into alternative approaches that can be included in projects but can also see the common elements needed to create a solid measurement system International insights are a special strength of the discussions in this book This book was published as a special issue of Community Development Evaluating Community Collaborations Thomas E. Backer, 2003-07-30 Collaborations which bring organizations together in a community to implement or improve an innovative program or change a policy or procedure have become a central strategy for promoting community change Funders require them nonprofits see them as useful solutions to their problems of declining resources and increasing complexity including multicultural issues and communities demand them as evidence that key stakeholders are coming together to address problems of mutual concern Moreover no matter how powerful the concept the implementation of community collaborations can usually be improved The evaluation of collaborations can provide evidence of outcome and impact and can help improve the process by which the collaboration operates This book was developed by the nonprofit Human Interaction Research Institute with funding support from the Federal Center for Mental Health Services in connection with a series of evaluations of mental health youth violence prevention and arts grant making programs supported by both the Federal government and foundations all of which involved collaborations as a central mechanism It is the first comprehensive treatment of theoretical research and practice issues concerning the evaluation of collaborations and includes an extensive set of forms that can be adapted for this purpose Chapter authors are leaders in both evaluation and community collaboration work Evaluation in Rural Communities

Allyson Kelley, 2018-12-12 Does a program work What is the value How do we know These are questions that keep evaluators up at night Continued rural community funding employment health and justice depend on our answers to these questions For evaluators working in rural communities the task is great but the return is even greater Now more than ever before evaluators have an opportunity to impact social change in rural America Beginning with an introduction of rural community evaluation Evaluation in Rural Communities highlights the differences in approaches to evaluation in rural areas supported by case studies that illustrate key themes and objectives It explores a number of issues including sustainability policy cost benefit analysis rural community evaluation as a platform to support social change In particular readers will also learn how to overcome rural community challenges such as limited resources the digital divide limited funding lower employment and educational attainment limited opportunities for social interactions and the distrust of outsiders Blending aspects of community based participatory research empowerment evaluation and program evaluation methods this book is an accessible yet nuanced guide that integrates critical thinking problem solving social and political contexts and outcomes related to evidence based evaluation Evaluating and Valuing in Social Research Thomas A. Schwandt, Emily F. Gates, 2021-09-17 Much applied research takes place as if complex social problems and evaluations of interventions to address them can be dealt with in a purely technical way In contrast this groundbreaking book offers an alternative approach that incorporates sustained systematic reflection about researchers values what values research promotes how decisions about what to value are made and by whom and how judging the value of social interventions takes place The authors offer practical and conceptual guidance to help researchers engage meaningfully with value conflicts and refine their capacity to engage in deliberative argumentation Pedagogical features include a detailed evaluation case Bridge to Practice exercises and annotated resources in most chapters and an end of book glossary Evaluating Public and Community Health Programs Muriel J. Harris, 2016-10-24 A practical introduction to participatory program evaluation Evaluating Public and Community Health Programs provides a comprehensive introduction to the theory and practice of evaluation with a participatory model that brings stakeholders together for the good of the program Linking community assessment program implementation and program evaluation this book emphasizes practical ongoing evaluation strategies that connect theory with application This updated second edition includes new discussion on planning policy change programs using logic models and theory of change plus expanded coverage of processes outcomes data collection and more Each chapter includes classroom activities and group discussion prompts and the companion website provides worksheets lecture slides and a test bank for instructors Mini cases help illustrate the real world applications of the methods described and expanded case studies allow students to dig deeper into practice and apply what they've learned Accurate and effective evaluation is the key to a successful program This book provides a thorough introduction to all aspects of this critical function with a wealth of opportunities to apply new concepts Learn evaluation strategies that involve all program stakeholders Link theory to practice with new mini cases and examples Understand the uses processes and approaches to evaluation Discover how ongoing evaluation increases program effectiveness Public and community health programs are a vital part of our social infrastructure and the more effective they are the more people they can serve Proper planning is important but continued evaluation is what keeps a program on track for the long term Evaluating Public and Community Health Programs provides clear instruction and insightful discussion on the many facets of evaluation with a central focus on real world service is growing interest in ways of monitoring programmes and assessing impact that are more grounded in the realities of practice than many of the results based methods currently utilised Second there are calls for the greater use of interpretive and ethnographic methods in programme design monitoring and evaluation Responding to these concerns this book illustrates the potential of interpretative methods to aid understanding and make a difference in real people s lives Through a focus on individual and community perspectives and locally grounded explanations the methods explored in this book offer a potentially richer way of assessing the relationships between intent action and change in health and social development in Africa Asia Europe and the Americas
