Evaluating Writing:

Evaluating Children's Writing Suzanne Bratcher, Linda Ryan, 2003-09-12 Introduces statement from preface about application activities for a wide range of writing evaluation strategies elementary classroom teachers can use to determine a grade Txtbk for undergrad graduate elementary language arts writing methods courses Conceptualizing, Designing, Implementing, and Evaluating Writing Interventions, 2023-10-20 This book takes a fresh look at the challenge of setting up educational writing intervention studies in authentic class contexts In four sections the book offers innovative approaches on how to conceptualize design implement and evaluate writing interventions for research purposes Hot topics in the field such as professional development for scaling up writing interventions building research practice partnerships implementation variation and fidelity and response to intervention are addressed To illustrate the proposed approaches for writing promotion the book showcases a wide variety of writing interventions from around the world ranging from single participant designs to large scale intervention studies in writing Teaching and Evaluating Writing in the Age of Computers and High-Stakes Testing Carl Whithaus, 2005-04-27 Teaching and Evaluating Writing in the Age of Computers and High Stakes Testing offers a theoretical framework case studies and methods for evaluating student writing By examining issues in writing assessment the book discovers four situated techniques of authentic assessment that are already in use at a number of locales throughout the US Evaluating College Writing Programs Stephen Paul Witte, Lester Faigley, 1983 Noting that present evaluation systems are so limited that they are neither reliable nor valid this monograph critically reviews studies designed to evaluate composition programs at four major universities The book offers theoretical and practical guidance through discussion of generalities from the four studies and pertinent questions and guidance to evaluators of composition programs The first chapter looks at the state of the art of evaluating writing programs discussing the need for such evaluation and at two dominant approaches to writing program evaluation The second chapter discusses a quantitative model of writing program evaluation in terms of four university studies giving an overview of the dominant quantitative approach Chapter 3 discusses a framework for evaluating college writing programs including five components of writing program evaluation and the final chapter discusses accommodating context and change in writing program evaluation HTH Evaluating Service Learning Activities and Programs David A. Payne, 2000 Uses an extended case study to guide teachers through evaluation of service learning outcomes and their relevance to the curriculum Covers the evaluation process from question formulation to instrumentation data collection and application Current professional practices are emphasized throughout Includes a list of state organizations supporting service learning and some 40 pages of sample checklists and forms Payne is director of Test Scoring and Reporting Services and professor of educational psychology at the University of Georgia Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR A Program Development Handbook for the Holistic Assessment of Writing Norbert Elliot, Maximino Plata, Paul F. Zelhart, 1990 This book is a major breakthrough for developers of writing assessment programs who must certify the writing competency of undergraduate students Legislators and accreditation boards across the nation have called for and implemented large scale projects to measure educational outcomes This single source provides comprehensive information on the history underlying concepts and process of conducting a large scale writing assessment program at a specific institution of higher education The handbook opens with an analysis of the rationale for the assessment of writing during the junior year of the undergraduate curriculum The authors then turn to a case study of the success of their own institutional wide assessment program A history is provided of 20th century writing assessment practices as well attention is given to defining levels of literacy After describing an assessment process model discussion turns to the design of questions the administration of the assessment the rating of papers and the statistical analysis of data Attention is also given to the design of a course for those who are unsuccessful on the assessment The study closes with directions for further research and over 200 references in the bibliography Advancing Writing Skills Nancy Atlee, 2005 Educational title for gifted and advanced learners

Assessing Writing to Support Learning Sandra Murphy, Peggy O'Neill, 2022-11-08 In this book authors Murphy and O'Neill propose a new way forward moving away from high stakes test based writing assessment and the curriculum it generates and toward an approach to assessment that centers on student learning and success Reviewing the landscape of writing assessment and existing research based theories on writing the authors demonstrate how a test based approach to accountability and current practices have undermined effective teaching and learning of writing This book bridges the gap between real world writing that takes place in schools college and careers and the writing that students are asked to do in standardized writing assessments to offer a new ecological approach to writing assessment Murphy and O'Neill's new way forward turns accountability inside out to help teachers understand the role of formative assessments and assessment as inquiry It also brings the outside in by bridging the gap between authentic writing and writing assessment Through these two strands readers learn how assessment systems can be restructured to become better aligned with contemporary understandings of writing and with best practices in teaching With examples of assessments from elementary school through college chapters include guidance on designing assessments to address multiple kinds of writing integrate reading with writing and incorporate digital technology and multimodality Emphasizing the central role that teachers play in systemic reform the authors offer sample assessments developed with intensive teacher involvement that support learning and provide information for the evaluation of programs and schools This book is an essential resource for graduate students instructors scholars and policymakers in writing assessment composition and English education

Assessing the Teaching of Writing Amy E. Dayton, 2015-03-04 Although fraught with politics and other perils teacher evaluation can contribute in important positive ways to faculty development at both the individual and the departmental levels Yet the logistics of creating a valid assessment are complicated Inconsistent methods rater bias and overreliance on student evaluation forms have proven problematic The essays in Assessing the Teaching of Writing demonstrate constructive ways of evaluating teacher performance taking into consideration the immense number of variables involved Contributors to the volume examine a range of fundamental issues including the political context of declining state funds in education growing public critique of the professoriate and demands for accountability resulting from federal policy initiatives like No Child Left Behind the increasing sophistication of assessment methods and technologies and the continuing interest in the scholarship of teaching The first section addresses concerns and advances in assessment methodologies and the second takes a closer look at unique individual sites and models of assessment Chapters collectively argue for viewing teacher assessment as a rhetorical practice Fostering new ways of thinking about teacher evaluation Assessing the Teaching of Writing will be of great interest not only to writing program administrators but also to those concerned with faculty development and teacher assessment outside the writing program Assessing Writing Sara Cushing Weigle, 2002-05-27 Writing is one of the central skills a student must master Why should they be tested How should they be tested What tasks should be used The answers to these questions are provided by this book which examines the theory behind the practice of assessing a student's writing abilities Assessing Writing, Assessing Learning Dudley W. Reynolds, 2010-06-07 The goals of this resource are broader than many standard books on writing assessment which focus on evaluating an individual's ability to create an effective piece of writing for a particular purpose Assessing Writing Assessing Learning seeks to support teachers administrators program directors and funding entities who want to make the best use of the resources at their disposal to understand what students are learning and why and then take actions based on what they have learned It also seeks to provide a common basis for communication among all the interested parties the writing professionals the people who identified the need for the program and the students The book has sections on planning tools different ways of collecting data and links to instruments and reporting examples provided Each section includes a discussion of issues and advice for working through the issue along with numerous examples plus a list of resources to consult to learn more The final chapter provides worksheets that may be reproduced and used to help those in charge of setting up and delivering a writing program to think through the issues presented A glossary of terms is also included Evaluating Writing Charles Raymond Cooper, 1977 Teaching and Assessing Writing in the Primary School Eithne Kennedy, Gerry Shiel, 2025-02-10 The capacity to write well is fundamental to success in school and beyond Yet many children struggle to become proficient writers Teaching and Assessing Writing in the Primary School provides a comprehensive guide to the theory practice and pedagogical research behind teaching children to write Supported by case studies and real world examples of teaching and learning writing in the classroom this practical book proposes a whole school research informed writing framework that engages children while building their writing skills Readers will benefit from building their knowledge of the theory and research behind learning how to write successfully while discovering how they may apply this effectively to their classroom practice Firmly grounded in the theory of writing and with clear links to practical application chapters explore Effective pedagogies for teaching children aged 4-12 how to write The planned and received curriculum for writing including a whole school approach Formative and summative assessment of writing in the classroom Designing and organising a Writing Workshop for pupils Practical implementation of mini lessons to support writing Supporting the needs of diverse writers within our schools Filled with strategies for teaching this practical and engaging book will be an essential resource for anyone working within primary schools including classroom teachers both new and more experienced teaching assistants subject leaders literacy coordinators and senior leadership
