Globalization, Environmental Law, and Sustainable Development in the Global South Kirk W.

Junker,Paolo Davide Farah,2021-11-29 This volume examines the impact of globalization on international environmental law and the implementation of sustainable development in the Global South Comprising contributions from lawyers from the Global South or who have experience in the Global South this volume is organized into three parts with a thematic inquiry woven through every chapter to ask how law can enable economies that can be sustained given the limited carrying capacity of the earth Part I describes and characterizes the status quo of environmental and economic problems in the Global South during the process of globalization Some of those problems include redistribution of environmental burden on the public through over reliance on the state in emerging economies and the transition to public private partnerships as well as extreme uncontrolled economic expansion Building on Part I Part II takes an international perspective by presenting some tools that are in place during the process of globalization that lead to friction and interfaces between developed and developing economies in environmental law Recognizing the impossibility of a globalized Northern economy the authors in Part III present some alternatives through framework ideas of human and civil rights environmental rights and indigenous persons rights as well as concrete and specific legal tools to strengthen justice and rule of law institutions The book gives new perspectives to familiar approaches through concrete examples by professional practitioners and theoretical discourse by academic researchers and can thereby form the basis for changes in practices as well as further discussions and comparisons This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of environmental law sustainable development and globalization and international relations as well as legal professionals and practitioners The Realpolitik of Evaluation Markus

Palenberg,Arne Paulson,2020-10-07 The Realpolitik of Evaluation shines a light on the divergent demands for evaluation But what explains the gap between what those on the demand side expect in terms of evaluation results and the supply of information provided by evaluators Can anything be done to narrow this gap What works and what does not work Examining these questions from both the demand and the supply side experts describe ten different global examples of the gap between demand and supply of evaluation information in different contexts In an attempt to bridge that gap they effectively reveal the biases behind supposedly sources of evaluation information and highlight the pros and cons of attempts to bridge the gap through the use of third parties enhanced stakeholder involvement and the incorporation of social science models to strengthen Theories of Change ToC The Realpolitik of Evaluation is an important book that poses questions at multiple levels of thinking It will be of great interest to policymakers program implementers and project managers Health Promotion Evaluation Practices in the Americas Louise Potvin, David V. McQueen, 2008-10-26 More and more health promotion is a crucial component of public health to the extent that public health interventions are called on to prove their effectiveness and appraised for scientific validity a practice many in the field consider self defeating Health Promotion Evaluation Practices in the Americas cogently demonstrates that scientific rigor and the goals of health promotion are less in conflict than commonly thought synthesizing multiple traditions from countries throughout North Central and South America and across the developed to developing world continuum for a volume that is both diverse in scope and unified in purpose The book s examples representing robust theoretical and practical literatures as well as initiatives from Rio de Janeiro to American Indian communities explain why health promotion evaluation projects require different guidelines from mainstream evaluative work The editors identify core humanitarian principles associated with health promotion participation empowerment equity sustainability intersectoral action multistrategy and contextualism while chapters highlight challenges that must be mastered to keep these principles and scientific objectives in sync including 1 Building health promotion values into evaluation research projects 2 Expanding the use of evaluation in health promotion 3 Developing meaningful evaluation questions 4 Distinguishing between community based participation research and evaluation based participation 5 Evaluating specifically for equity 6 Designing initiatives to foster lasting social change The applied knowledge in Health Promotion Evaluation Practices in the Americas Values and Research can bring the goals of intervention into sharper focus for practitioners evaluators and decision makers and facilitate communication on all sides necessary steps to progress from study findings to real world action
