Evangeline Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, 2019-07-08 This is the forest primeval but where are the hearts that beneath it Leaped like the roe when he hears in the woodland the voice of the huntsman Where is the thatch roofed village the home of Acadian farmers Men whose lives glided on like rivers that water the woodlands Darkened by shadows of earth but reflecting an image of heaven Waste are those pleasant farms and the farmers forever departed Scattered like dust and leaves when the mighty blasts of October Seize them and whirl them aloft and sprinkle them far o er the ocean Naught but tradition remains of the beautiful village of Grand Pr

Acadian Reminiscences Felix Voorhies, 2013-10-23 The Acadian Reminiscences is a word painting of the life of the Acadians in the Teche Country in the long ago The plain simple frugal life of these people their devotion to principle their unbound faith in the goodness of God their love for each other during all their misfortunes and perilous wanderings appeal to the heart The simple pathos of the grandmother s story comes to us with such consummate art that the eye unwittingly grows moist as the reader follows the journeyings of this little band self exiled and noble in their poverty from desolated homes on the bleak Acadian coast to their final destination in the hospitable valley of the Teche With them the Acadians we hear in their peaceful Acadian homes the first war cry that startles the country and shudder at the near approach of the cruel and merciless foe We hope against hope that God or man will interfere in their behalf till the dreaded day dawns on which they must decide whether or not they will be true to their God their King their country lose all and become wanderers on the face of the earth or sacrificing these supinely yield to Britain and continue to live at ease and in plenty in the homes of their youth and till the soil hallowed by the graves of their forefathers When these issues were presented to them much as they loved their homes and the land that gave them birth they cried out with one accord No no a thousand times Sacrifice our religion our King our country No let ruin desolation despair let death overtake us we cannot we will not give up those And so the die was cast In the utmost haste valuables were gathered together or thrown into wells objects of spoil were destroyed and they themselves applied the torch that soon reduced their beloved village to ashes In the darkness of the night lighted only by the lurid glare of their burning homes they left their devoted St Gabriel forever Andrew Thorpe from the Introduction

Evangeline Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, 2020-04-15 Evangeline A Tale of Acadie Henry Wadsworth

Longfellow Evangeline A Tale of Acadie is an epic poem by the American poet Henry Wadsworth Longfellow written in English and published in 1847. The poem follows an Acadian girl named Evangeline and her search for her lost love Gabriel set during the time of the Expulsion of the Acadians. Evangeline describes the betrothal of a fictional Acadian girl named Evangeline Bellefontaine to her beloved Gabriel Lajeunesse and their separation as the British deport the Acadians from Acadie in the Great Upheaval. The poem then follows Evangeline across the landscapes of America as she spends years in a search for him at some times being near to Gabriel without realizing he was near. Finally she settles in Philadelphia and as an old woman works as a Sister of Mercy among the poor.

The Acadians James Laxer, 2010-05-14. An evocative and beautifully written history of some of Canada's earliest settlers and their search for a definitive home. In 1604 a small group of migrants fled political turmoil and famine in France to start a new colony on Canada's east coast. Their roughly demarcated territory included what are now Canada's Maritime provinces, land that was fought over by the British and French empires until the Acadians were finally expelled in 1755. Their diaspora persists to this day. The Acadians is the definitive history of a little known part of the North American past and the quintessential story of a people in search of their identity. In the absence of a state what defines an Acadian is elusive and while today's Acadian community centred in New Brunswick is more confident than ever it is entering a contentious debate about its future. James Laxer's compelling book brilliantly explores one of Canada's oldest and most distinct cultural groups and shows how their complex often tragic history reflects the larger problems facing Canada and the world today.

Evangeline for Children Alice Couvillon, Elizabeth Moore, 2002. Retells in prose Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's epic poem about a young woman's search for her lover Gabriel after the Acadian exile from Canada.

Seeking an Acadian Nation Warren Perrin, Mary Perrin, 2019-11-11. Over the last two and a half centuries the Acadian Deportation and the epic poem Evangeline have defined the French speaking people known as Acadians. After their tragic deportation by the British from their homeland Acadia now known as Nova Scotia those who resettled in Louisiana are today called Cajuns, American yet clearly distinct. Seeking an Acadian Nation The 1930 Diary of an Evangeline Girl is a book based on the travel journal and scrapbook of Corinne Broussard, a young woman from Breaux Bridge, Louisiana, who along with 24 other Evangeline Girls represented Louisiana in Canada for the 175th anniversary of the Deportation. Here in Corinne's own words is the story of her adventure, a 17 day 3 000 mile train trip called a pilgrimage by Sen Dudley J LeBlanc who spearheaded the trip and who was preparing to run for governor of Louisiana. This was the first time a group of Cajuns returned to their ancestral homeland since the exile began in 1755. It could be considered the birth of the French Renaissance in Louisiana. Beginning in the 1880s Acadian leaders in Canada began a movement to reunite all of the Acadians in the world based upon a common language, religion, genealogy and history. This book has three parts: first the efforts at reunification to create an Acadian Nation 1880-1930; second the pilgrimage to Grand Pr as reported in Corinne's diary with annotations 1930; and third the Louisiana French Renaissance 1930-present. This narrative aligns Corinne's personal experiences with the Great Depression emerging women's rights religion prohibition and other forces reshaping the modern world in between the two world wars Her journal reveals how history can be gleaned from resources such as scrapbooks newspapers correspondence and diaries Although the diary and annotations are in English half of the 46 newspaper articles and other items in the scrapbook materials are in French

Evangeline, a tale of Acadie. Sixth edition Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, 1848 The Acadian Exiles Sir Arthur George Doughty, 1916 The Acadian Exiles is a classic Nova Scotia history text by Arthur G Doughty The name Acadia which we now associate with a great tragedy of history and song was first used by the French to distinguish the eastern or maritime part of New France from the western part which began with the St Lawrence valley and was called Canada

The Acadian Diaspora Christopher Hodson, 2012-05-01 Late in 1755 an army of British regulars and Massachusetts volunteers completed one of the cruelest most successful military campaigns in North American history capturing and deporting seven thousand French speaking Catholic Acadians from the province of Nova Scotia and chasing an equal number into the wilderness of eastern Canada Thousands of Acadians endured three decades of forced migrations and failed settlements that shuttled them to the coasts of South America the plantations of the Caribbean the frigid islands of the South Atlantic the swamps of Louisiana and the countryside of central France The Acadian Diaspora tells their extraordinary story in full for the first time illuminating a long forgotten world of imperial desperation experimental colonies and naked brutality Using documents culled from archives in France Great Britain Canada and the United States Christopher Hodson reconstructs the lives of Acadian exiles as they traversed oceans and continents pushed along by empires eager to populate new frontiers with inexpensive pliable white farmers Hodson's compelling narrative situates the Acadian diaspora within the dramatic geopolitical changes triggered by the Seven Years War Faced with redrawn boundaries and staggering national debts imperial architects across Europe used the Acadians to realize radical plans tropical settlements without slaves expeditions to the unknown southern continent and perhaps strangest of all agricultural colonies within old regime France itself In response Acadians embraced their status as human commodities using intimidation and even violence to tailor their communities to the superheated Atlantic market for cheap mobile labor Through vivid intimate stories of Acadian exiles and the diverse transnational cast of characters that surrounded them The Acadian Diaspora presents the eighteenth century Atlantic world from a new angle challenging old assumptions about uprooted peoples and the very nature of early modern empire
