Cross-Border Marriages Apostolos Andrikopoulos, Joëlle Moret, Janine Dahinden, 2023-03-21 Marriages that involve the migration of at least one of the spouses challenge two intersecting facets of the politics of belonging the making of the good and legitimate citizens and the acceptable family In Europe cross border marriages have been the target of increasing state controls an issue of public concern and the object of scholarly research The study of cross border marriages and the ways these marriages are framed is inevitably affected by states concerns and priorities There is a need for a reflexive assessment of how the categories employed by state institutions and agents have impacted the study of cross border marriages This collection of essays analyses what is at stake in the regulation of cross border marriages and how European states use particular categories e g sham forced and mixed marriages to differentiate between acceptable and non acceptable marriages When researchers use these categories unreflexively they risk reproducing nation centred epistemologies and reinforcing state informed hierarchies and forms of exclusion The chapters in this book offer new insights into a timely topic and suggest ways to avoid these pitfalls differentiating between categories of analysis and categories of practice adopting methodologies that do not mirror nation states logic and engaging with general social theory outside migration studies This book will be of interest to researchers and academics of Sociology Politics International Relations Social and Cultural Anthropology Human Geography Social Work and Public Policy Barring one all the chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue in the Journal of Ethnic and Migration Studies

Strangers No More Richard Alba, Nancy Foner, 2015-04-27 An up to date and comparative look at immigration in Europe the United States and Canada Strangers No More is the first book to compare immigrant integration across key Western countries Focusing on low status newcomers and their children it examines how they are making their way in four critical European countries France Germany Great Britain and the Netherlands and across the Atlantic in the United States and Canada This systematic data rich comparison reveals their progress and the barriers they face in an array of institutions from labor markets and neighborhoods to educational and political systems and considers the controversial questions of religion race identity and intermarriage Richard Alba and Nancy Foner shed new light on questions at the heart of concerns about immigration They analyze why immigrant religion is a more significant divide in Western Europe than in the United States where race is a more severe obstacle They look at why despite fears in Europe about the rise of immigrant ghettoes residential segregation is much less of a problem for immigrant minorities there than in the United States They explore why everywhere growing economic inequality and the proliferation of precarious low wage jobs pose dilemmas for the second generation They also evaluate perspectives often proposed to explain the success of immigrant integration in certain countries including nationally specific models the political economy and the histories of Canada and the United States as settler societies Strangers No More delves into issues of pivotal importance for the present and future of Western societies where immigrants and their children form ever larger shares of the population The Family in Question R. D. Grillo, 2008 The family lives of immigrants and ethnic minority populations have become central to arguments about the right and wrong ways of living in multicultural societies While the characteristic cultural practices of such families have long been scrutinized by the media and policy makers these groups themselves are beginning to reflect on how to manage their family relationships Exploring case studies from Austria the Netherlands Norway Portugal Spain Switzerland the United Kingdom and Australia The Family in Question explores how those in public policy often dangerously reflect the popular imagination rather than recognizing the complex changes taking place within the global immigrant community In hoeverre allochtonen vrij zijn hun cultuur te uiten in de multiculturele samenleving staat bijna dagelijks ter discussie in de media en politiek Vaak wordt vergeten dat ook migrantenfamilies zelf worstelen om hun tradities en gebruiken vorm te geven in een pluriforme samenleving waarin relaties met familie zeer complex kunnen zijn In The Family Question worden migrantenfamilies in onder andere Nederland Oostenrijk en Noorwegen onderzocht Hieruit blijkt dat spelers op het vlak van beleidsvorming vaak toegeven aan populaire misverstanden over allochtonen en zo bijdragen aan de heersende xenofobie en stereotypering van immigranten
