The Allure of Blackness Among Mixed-Race Americans, 1862-1916 Ingrid Dineen-Wimberly, 2019-01-01 In The Allure of Blackness among Mixed Race Americans 1862 1916 Ingrid Dineen Wimberly examines generations of mixed race African Americans after the Civil War and into the Progressive Era skillfully tracking the rise of a leadership class in Black America made up largely of individuals who had complex racial ancestries many of whom therefore enjoyed racial options to identity as either Black or White Although these people might have chosen to pass as White to avoid the racial violence and exclusion associated with the dominant racial ideology of the time they instead chose to identify as Black Americans a decision that provided upward mobility in social political and economic terms Dineen Wimberly highlights African American economic and political leaders and educators such as P B S Pinchback Theophile T Allain Booker T Washington and Frederick Douglass as well as women such as Josephine B Willson Bruce and E Azalia Hackley who were prominent clubwomen lecturers educators and settlement house founders In their quest for leadership within the African American community these leaders drew on the concept of Blackness as a source of opportunities and power to transform their communities in the long struggle for Black equality The Allure of Blackness among Mixed Race Americans 1862 1916 confounds much of the conventional wisdom about racially complicated people and details the manner in which they chose their racial identity and ultimately overturns the passing trope that has dominated so much Americanist scholarship and social thought about the relationship between race and social and political transformation in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries

Taboo, 2002 Uncompromising Activist Katherine Reynolds Chaddock, 2017-09-27 Almost forgotten until his papers were discovered in a Chicago attic Richard Greener was a pioneer who broke educational and professional barriers for black citizens He was also a man caught between worlds Richard Theodore Greener 1844 1922 was a renowned black activist and scholar In 1870 he was the first black graduate of Harvard College During Reconstruction he was the first black faculty member at a southern white college the

University of South Carolina He was even the first black US diplomat to a white country serving in Vladivostok Russia A notable speaker and writer for racial equality he also served as a dean of the Howard University School of Law and as the administrative head of the Ulysses S Grant Monument Association Yet he died in obscurity his name barely remembered His black friends and colleagues often looked askance at the light skinned Greener s ease among whites and sometimes wrongfully accused him of trying to pass While he was overseas on a diplomatic mission Greener s wife and five children stayed in New York City changed their names and vanished into white society Greener never saw them again At a time when Americans viewed themselves simply as either white or not Greener lost not only his family but also his sense of clarity about race Richard Greener s story demonstrates the human realities of racial politics throughout the fight for abolition the struggle for equal rights and the backslide into legal segregation Katherine Reynolds Chaddock has written a long overdue narrative biography about a man fascinating in his own right who also exemplified America s discomfiting perspectives on race and skin color Uncompromising Activist is a lively tale that will interest anyone curious about the human elements of the equal rights struggle Metaphysical Magazine ,1895 The Manuscripts Club Christopher de Hamel,2023-11-14 A New York Times Book Review Editors Choice The acclaimed author of Meetings with Remarkable Manuscripts introduces us to the extraordinary keepers and companions of medieval manuscripts over a thousand years of history The illuminated manuscripts of the Middle Ages are among the greatest works of European art and literature We are dazzled by them and recognize their crucial role in the transmission of knowledge However we generally think much less about the countless men and women who made collected and preserved them through the centuries and to whom they owe their existence This entrancing book describes some of the extraordinary people who have spent their lives among illuminated manuscripts over the last thousand years a monk in Normandy a prince of France a Florentine bookseller an English antiquary a rabbi from central Europe a French priest a Keeper at the British Museum a Greek forger a German polymath a British connoisseur and the woman who created the most spectacular library in America all of them members of what Christopher de Hamel calls the Manuscripts Club This exhilarating fraternity and the fellow enthusiasts who come with it throw new light on how manuscripts have survived and been used by very different kinds of people in many different circumstances Christopher de Hamel s unexpected connections and discoveries reveal a passion that crosses the boundaries of time We understand the manuscripts themselves better by knowing who their keepers and companions have been In 1850 or thereabouts John Ruskin bought his first manuscript at a bookseller s in a back alley This was his reaction The new worlds which every leaf of this book opened to me and the joy I had in counting their letters and unravelling their arabesques as if they had all been of beaten gold as many of them were cannot be told The members of de Hamel s club share many such wonders which he brings to us with scholarship style and a lifetime s experience Handbook of Geriatric Care Management Cathy Cress,2011-03-30 A comprehensive guide for Geriatric Care Managers GCMs to help define duties and procedures while

Art of Suicide Ron Brown, 2004-01-02 The Art of Suicide is a history of the visual representation of suicide from the ancient world to its decriminalization in the 20th century After looking at instances of voluntary death in ancient Greece Ron Brown discusses the contrast between the extraordinary absence of such events in early Christianity and the proliferation of images of biblical suicides in the late medieval era He emphasizes how differing attitudes to suicide in the early modern world slowly merged and pays particular attention to the one time chasm between so called heroic suicide and self destruction as a crying crime Brown tracks the changes surrounding the perception of suicide into the pivotal Romantic era with its notions of the man of feeling ready to hurl himself into the abyss over a woman or an unfinishable poem After the First World War the meaning of death and attitudes towards suicide changed radically and in time this led to its decriminalization The 20th century in fact witnessed a growing ambivalence towards suicidal acts which today are widely regarded either as expressions of a death wish or as cries for help Brown concludes with Warhol s picture of Marilyn Monroe and the videos taken by the notorious Dr Kevorkian
