Introduction to Urban Science Luis M. A.

Bettencourt,2021-08-17 A novel integrative approach to cities as complex adaptive systems applicable to issues ranging from innovation to economic prosperity to settlement patterns Human beings around the world increasingly live in urban environments In Introduction to Urban Science Luis Bettencourt takes a novel integrative approach to understanding cities as complex adaptive systems claiming that they require us to frame the field of urban science in a way that goes beyond existing theory in such traditional disciplines as sociology geography and economics He explores the processes facilitated by and in many cases unleashed for the first time by urban life through the lenses of social heterogeneity complex networks scaling circular causality and information Though the idea that cities are complex adaptive systems has become mainstream until now those who study cities have lacked a comprehensive theoretical framework for understanding cities and urbanization for generating useful and falsifiable predictions and for constructing a solid body of empirical evidence so that the discipline of urban science can continue to develop Bettencourt applies his framework to such issues as innovation and development across scales human reasoning and strategic decision making patterns of settlement and mobility and their influence on socioeconomic life and resource use inequality and inequity biodiversity and the challenges of sustainable development in both high and low income nations It is crucial says Bettencourt to realize that cities are not zero sum games and that knowledge human cooperation and collective action can build a better future The Archaeology of Urbanism in Ancient Egypt

Isbell, Helaine Silverman, 2012-12-06 Study of the origin and development of civilization is of unequalled importance for understanding the cultural processes that create human societies Is cultural evolution directional and regular across human societies and history or is it opportunistic and capricious Do apparent regularities come from the way investigators construct and manage knowledge or are they the result of real constraints on and variations in the actual processes Can such questions even be answered We believe so but not easily By comparing evolutionary sequences from different world civilizations scholars can judge degrees of similarity and difference and then attempt explanation Of course we must be careful to assess the influence that societies of the ancient world had on one another the issue of pristine versus non pristine cultural development see discussion in Fried 1967 Price 1978 The Central Andes were the locus of the only societies to achieve pristine civilization in the southern hemisphere and only in the Central Andes did non literate non written language civilization develop It seems clear that Central Andean civilization was independent on any graph of archaic culture change Scholars have often expressed appreciation of the research opportunities offered by the Central Andes as a testing ground for the study of cultural evolution see e g Carneiro 1970 Ford and Willey 1949 5 Kosok 1965 1 14 Lanning 1967 2 5 The Archaeology of Ancient Cities Glenn R.
