Hide and Seek Xan Fielding, 2013 Xan Fielding was a gifted many sided courageous and romantic figure at the same time civilized and Bohemian and his thoughtful cast of mind was leavened by humour spontaneous gaiety and a dash of recklessness Almost any stretch of his life might be described as a picaresque interlude

Patrick Leigh Fermor In January 1942 Xan Fielding landed on German occupied Crete with orders to disrupt the resupply of Rommel's Afrika Korps and establish an intelligence network in cooperation with the Cretan resistance movement Working with bands of Cretan partisans he succeeded magnificently In this memoir of his wartime exploits Fielding presents a portrait of the quintessential English operative amateur gifted daring and charming From the new foreword by Robert Messenger Hide and Seek is a classic of British war literature an understated account of a man's coming of age thanks to the sudden shouldering of great responsibility Fielding is deprecating about the dangers and his own achievements It is typical of the quiet and reticent man who preferred to live outside the limelight and wrote matter of factly about the war rather than with a gloss of adventure or heroism There's a scene late in 1943 when Fielding and a group of partisans study the German's list of wanted men He notes with regrettable but only human pride that the entry under my local pseudonym which outlined in detail my physical characteristics aliases and activities for a period of eighteen months took no less than three quarters of an octavo page in closely set small point type The Germans had surely measured his worth

Xan Fielding 1918 1991 was a British writer and traveler and a lifelong friend of Patrick Leigh Fermor who served with him in Crete during World War II The introduction to Fermor's A Time of Gifts is written as a Letter to Xan Fielding Fielding also translated many novels from French most notably The Bridge on the River Kwai and The Planet of the Apes Robert Messenger is the book's editor of the Wall Street Journal
