High Stakes Of Identity:

Identity, Motivation and Autonomy in Language Learning Garold Murray, Xuesong Gao, Terry Lamb, 2011 Through the use of qualitative research methods the authors explore the complex contingent and dynamic nature of motivation identity and autonomy both for language learners and teachers in many different parts of the world Importantly they also look for relationships among the three constructs This is precisely the integrative approach that should be encouraged as we seek to understand the lived experience of individuals Diane Larsen Freeman University of Michigan USA Generational Identity, Educational Change, and School Leadership Corrie Stone-Johnson, 2016-03-22 Generational identity plays a large role in how teachers view educational change and school reform Teachers of the Boomer generation an era characterized by optimism and innovation tend to be more resistant to change than those of Generation X for whom standardization represents the norm not a shift This volume reviews five decades of research on educational change and teachers varying responses to it from a generational perspective providing school leaders with insight on how best to relate to these groups to achieve a common goal Through ongoing professional development oriented by multigenerational grouping teachers and school leaders can define success and create a multigenerational understanding of what good teaching and leadership look like Teacher Identity and the Struggle for Recognition Patrick M. Jenlink, 2014-04-09 Teacher identity is shaped by recognition or its absence often by misrecognition of others Recognition as a teacher or the strong and complex identification with one's professional culture and community is necessary for a positive sense of self Increasingly teachers are entering educational settings where difference connotes not equal better worse or having more less power over resources Differences between discourses of identity are braided at many points with a discourse of racism both interpersonal and structural Teacher Identity and the Struggle for Recognition examines the nature of identity and recognition as social cultural and political constructs In particular the contributing authors to the book present discussions of the professional work necessary in teacher preparation programs concerned with preparing teachers for the complexities of teaching in schools that mirror an increasingly diverse society Importantly the authors illuminate many of the often problematic structures of schooling and the cultural politics that work to define one's identity drawing into specific relief the nature of the struggle for recognition that all face who choose to enter teaching as a profession Identity, Trauma, Sensitive and Controversial Issues in the Teaching of History Hilary Cooper, Jon Nichol, 2015-10-13 History Education is a politically contested subject It can be used to both promote xenophobia and to develop critical thinking multiple perspectives and tolerance Accordingly this book critically examines complex issues and constructivist approaches that make history relevant to students understanding of the modern world As such it has global appeal especially in North and South America Canada Europe and Asia The book's authors address the major challenges that History Education faces in an era of globalisation digital revolution and international terrorism nationalism and sectarian and religious conflict and warfare Central to this volume are controversial issues trauma and questions of personal and national identity from a wide range of international settings and perspectives The research in this book was undertaken by leading history educators from every continent Their interdisciplinary research represents an important contribution to the teaching of social sciences social psychology civic education programmes history and history education in schools colleges and universities The book offers new approaches to history educators at all levels In addition the chapters offer potential as required reading for students to both develop an international perspective and to compare and contrast their own situations with those that the book covers Section I considers issues related to identity how can history education promote social coherence in multicultural societies in societies divided by sectarianism or countries adapting to regime changes whether Communist or Fascist including for example South Africa previously Communist countries of Eastern Europe and previous dictatorships in South America and Western Europe It discusses such questions as How important is it that students learn the content of history through the processes of historical enquiry What should that content be and who should decide it educators or politicians What is the role of textbooks and who should write and select them Should history be taught as a discrete discipline or as part of a citizenship or social sciences curriculum Sections II and III explore ways in which memory of sensitive issues related to the past to war or to massacres may be addressed Are there new methodologies or approaches which make this possible How can students understand situations involving intolerance and injustice

The International Criminal Court in Search of its Purpose and Identity Triestino Mariniello, 2014-11-27 The International Criminal Court ICC is the first permanent international criminal tribunal which has jurisdiction over the most serious crimes of concern to the international community as a whole genocide crimes against humanity war crimes and crime of aggression This book critically analyses the law and practice of the ICC and its contribution to the development of international criminal law and policy The book focuses on the key procedural and substantive challenges faced by the ICC since its establishment The critical analysis of the normative framework aims to elaborate ways in which the Court may resolve difficulties which prevent it from reaching its declared objectives in particularly complex situations Contributors to the book include leading experts in international criminal justice and cover a range of topics including inter alia terrorism modes of liability ne bis in idem victims reparations the evidentiary threshold for the confirmation of charges and sentencing The book also considers the relationship between the ICC and States and explores the impact that the new regime of international criminal justice has had on countries where the most serious crimes have been committed In drawing together these discussions the book provides a significant contribution in assessing how the ICC's practice could be refined or improved in future cases The book will be of great use and interest to international criminal law and public international law

Performing Identity/performing Culture Greg Dimitriadis, 2009 Performing Identity Performing Culture Hip Hop as Text Pedagogy and Lived Practice is the first book length ethnography of young people and their uses of hip hop culture Originally published in 2001 this second edition is newly revised expanded and updated to reflect contemporary currents in hip hop culture and critical scholarship as well as the epochal social cultural and economic shifts of the last decade Drawing together historical work on hip hop and rap music as well as four years of research at a local community center Greg Dimitriadis argues here that contemporary youth are fashioning notions of self and community outside of school in ways educators have largely ignored His studies are broad ranging how two teenagers constructed notions of a Southern tradition through their use of Southern rap artists like Eightball how young people constructed notions of history through viewing the film Panther a film they connected to hip hop culture more broadly and how young people dealt with the life and death of hip hop icon Tupac Shakur constructing resurrection myths that still resonate and circulate today Identity, Oppression, and Diversity in Archaeology Laura E. Heath-Stout, 2024-10-31 Identity Oppression and Diversity in Archaeology documents how racism classism sexism heterosexism and ableism affect the demographics of archaeology and discusses how knowledge that archaeologists produce is shaped by the discipline s demographic homogeneity Previous research has shown that like many academic fields archaeology is numerically dominated by straight white cisgender people and those in positions of authority are predominantly men This book examines how and why those demographic trends persist It also elucidates how individual archaeologists social identities shape the research they conduct and therefore how our demographics affect and limit our knowledge production on a disciplinary scale It explains how through unflinching reflection proactive policymaking and sincere community building we can build a diverse and inclusive discipline This book will appeal to archaeologists who have an interest in diversity and inclusion within the discipline as well as scholars in other disciplines who are engaged in research on diversity in academia Identity and Nation in African Football C.
