Using Literature to Support Skills and Critical Discussion for Struggling Readers Nancy S. Williams, 2004. Emphasizing the need to develop higher-level thinking skills and critical discussion with intermediate and middle school struggling readers, Williams uses quality children's literature as a springboard to help readers understand and use descriptive vocabulary and figurative language, make personal connections with text, create and solve text-related mathematical problems, promote an active engaged discussion and critical analysis of the story and the important issues raised in text, extend meaning through research and writing, art, and drama. To help teachers match student to text, literature selections are categorized according to interest (e.g., mystery, sports, humor, identity, solving problems), genre, and include reading level, interest level, and number of pages. Discussion questions and extension activities specific to over 100 children's literature selections provide opportunities for students to ask questions, discuss, and use descriptive language, make predictions and inferences, evaluate story elements, and critically reflect on character perspectives and social issues raised in the text. All questions are appropriate for individual work, special education classrooms, general education, and inclusion classrooms and help teachers facilitate literature discussion groups, book club discussion, and response writing, self-regulated reading, guided reading, and whole class discussions.

Content-Based Curriculum for Advanced Learners Joyce VanTassel-Baska, Catherine A. Little, 2023-01-23. The fourth edition of Content Based Curriculum for Advanced Learners provides readers with a complete and up-to-date introduction to core elements of curriculum development in gifted education with implications for school-based implementation. Written by key experts in the field, this text is essential to the development of high-powered, rich, and complex curricula that treat content, process, product, and concept development considerations as equal partners in the task of educating gifted learners. Along with revised chapters, this edition contains new chapters on culturally responsive curriculum, the performing arts, robotics, and engineering design, as well as social and emotional learning. Additional material concerning talent trajectories across the lifespan accompanies a discussion of honors curriculum in higher education, rounding out this comprehensive resource. This master text is a must-read for educators interested in executing effective curriculum and instructional interventions to support learning for gifted and advanced learners.
