Preventive Conservation for Historic House Museums Jane Merritt, Julie A. Reilly, 2010-01-16 Preventive

Conservation for Historic House Museums is a primer on the preventive care practices that these unique sites need to slow the rate of deterioration and prevent damage and wear to the property and its collections. It proposes a collaborative approach to preservation planning that is based on interdisciplinary research, critical thinking and observation rather than rote maintenance schedules and everyday residential cleaning practices. The authors recommend that sites have documents and plans in place that direct the intellectual and physical control of the collections and site. The intellectual controls include administrative and management policies and procedures; the physical controls include security and safety precautions, routine maintenance and cleaning practices among others. Historic house administrators, staff, board members and volunteers will find this volume indispensable. Professionals who deal with historic sites from the museum administrator or curator to architect to engineer as well as students pursuing studies in the field of preservation and conservation will also find this a valuable reference. This volume promotes a pro active approach to preservation planning for historic sites and their collections.

ECMT Round Tables Vandalism, Terrorism and Security in Urban Public Passenger Transport European Conference of Ministers of Transport. Economic Research Centre, 2003-06-24. Beyond the immediate effect of reducing passengers, insecurity, safer public transport also means higher patronage during off peak hours, less money spent on repairing damage, lower staff absenteeism and less disruption to services. Governments therefore cannot afford to disregard the problem of vandalism in public transport. The reader will find in this publication the recommendations which the Round Table made on ways to combat vandalism, namely the creation of local partnerships between all actors involved in crime prevention, policing and law enforcement, exchanges of experience, the issuing of guidelines on crime prevention and infrastructure design and publication of case studies of successes and failures. Classifying individual measures is therefore one of the tasks that national and international authorities faced with this growing problem urgently need to address. Terrorism, because of its distinctive nature and change in nature since the attacks of 11 September 2001, needs to be tackled on a much larger scale and therefore requires a different type of approach. Here too there is clearly a need for international co operation and the

Round Table identified a number of possible avenues to explore which the reader can learn more about from this publication
