Legal Aspects of Occupational Therapy Bridgit C. Dimond, 2008-04-15 Since publication of the first edition in 1996 this book has established itself as an essential text for occupational therapists. It offers an understanding of the law relating to their practice but is written to be accessible for those who have no prior legal knowledge. The text provides valuable information for occupational therapists employed in health and social services as well as the law relevant to private practitioners. The book includes chapters on all the main client groups and presents the relevant specialist law. Students and teachers of occupational therapy will find the chapters on professional registration, education, training and research of particular interest. The second edition also provides an introduction to the complex organisational and legal developments which impact the work of the occupational therapist including the Human Rights Act, the Health and Social Care Community Health and Standards Act 2003, the concept of clinical governance and the role of the new Health Professions Council. It is a generous resource for the occupational therapy student, practitioner and service manager.

Practical Strategies and Tools to Promote Treatment Engagement William O'Donohue, Larry James, Cassandra Snipes, 2017-03-08 This practice building resource examines the psychology behind non-adherence and the importance of building commitment to treatment as the foundation of successful therapy. Coverage starts by illustrating the complex phenomena of non-adherence at different stages of intervention including mechanisms and situations that may prevent even initial engagement. From there experts from diverse specialties offer interest-promoting strategies tailored to specific conditions: diabetes, anxiety, depression and populations of children, dually diagnosed patients informed by the current knowledge base on treatment effectiveness and recent technological advances. And the editors make patient-centered recommendations for the health and mental health professions to make therapy more accessible and open. Among the topics covered: Meeting patients where they are using a stage approach to facilitate engagement; Use of mindfulness in promoting treatment engagement; DBT and treatment engagement in the context of highly suicidal complex clients; Behavioral Problems in children; ADHD and ODD; Engagement of patients in the self-management of pain; Engaging trauma survivors in treatment; A breakthrough in the behavioral health delivery services literature. Practical Strategies and Tools to Promote Treatment Engagement offers real-world tools, guidelines and expertise to health psychologists, primary care physicians and nurses, clinical psychologists and clinical social workers. It is a vivid reminder that patients need not only what's good for them but also what works for them.

HC 401 - Managing the Care of People with Long-Term Conditions Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Health Committee,2014-07-03 15 million NHS patients in England with long term conditions such as diabetes arthritis and asthma account for 70% of the annual expenditure of the NHS in England One projection estimating that the bill for treatment of long term conditions will require the NHS to find 4 billion more each year by 2016 Increasingly patients do not have a single long term condition but live with two or more conditions complicating treatment and adding to its cost The Committee strongly supports the development of individual care planning for people with long term conditions based on the principles successfully demonstrated in the NHS House of Care programme Care planning approaches will involve GPs community health services and specialists sitting down with the patient to draw up a personalised plan for the care required which includes the support needed to help the patient manage his or her own condition The challenge though of introducing personalised care planning for 15 million people is substantial The Committee looked at the prevailing view that services to treat long term conditions should be moved out of hospitals and into primary and community care To provide effective care for these conditions services have to be maintained across all settings from support in the home through to acute specialist care and many conditions will continue to require specialist services delivered in hospital Effective management of long term conditions also requires collaboration with other government providers such as housing and transport services
