Vocational Education and the Occupations It Serves Stephen Billett,Barbara Elisabeth Stalder,Vibe Aarkrog,Sarojini Choy,Steven Hodge,Anh Hai Le,2022-04-21 This book addresses what is perhaps the single most important issue for vocational education its relatively low standing in an era of high aspiration The work explores the nature extent and consequences for an educational sector that whilst having an increasingly important role in contemporary societies is seen to be of low standing across both countries with developed and developing economies Some of the standing is associated with the occupation it serves and this is highlighted in an era of high aspiration by young people and their parents The consequences are far reaching This includes how governments and community view and support vocational education parents and familiars advise about participation in it and young people s decision making associated with their post school pathways More than describing this problem the focus of this collection is how this issue can be redressed through the actions of supra government agencies governments schools in tertiary education institutions industry and professional bodies and employers It sets out the quality and extent of societal sentiments in shaping how vocational education and the occupation it serves are projected across countries continents and cultures and offers a range of perspectives and contributions from scholars on how this issue might be redressed These contributions are drawn together and synthesised into sets of propositions practices and approaches directed towards governments schooling and tertiary education institutions educators researchers industry and professional bodies and employers In this way the book seeks to provide an authoritative seminal comprehensive and central text to understand and respond to this central issue for vocational education

Vocational Education Tarun Rashtriya, Precarity and Vocational Education and Training Maria-Carmen Pantea,2018-12-19 This book explores how the changing nature of work intersects with and influences young people s views on their future As an increasingly precarious service sector overtakes traditional industrial work vocational education and training VET is held up as a panacea for poverty alleviation youth unemployment and economic growth However the views of young people in VET themselves concerning their own work and aspirations have largely been ignored Based on interviews and focus groups conducted with over 250 young people in VET in Romania this book examines the types of subjectivities that are generated in the processes by which they try to make sense of future and the meanings of work In doing so the author identifies three ideological layers that frame their views arguing that while the young people interviewed hold conventional aspirations for stability and predictability they were visibly influenced by neoliberal beliefs in agency experimentation and short termism Ultimately a layer of low expectations crystallises unvoiced concerns over a troubling future In highlighting young people s voices this pioneering book calls for a recalibration of the emphasis on VET in Romania It will appeal to students and scholars of youth studies the sociology of work vocational education and training and European studies
