Foxhole In Cairo:

Foxhole in Cairo Leonard Mosley, 1960 Alamein Simon Ball, 2016-05-26 El Alamein was one of the pivotal battles of the Second World War fought by armies and air forces on the cutting edge of military technology Yet Alamein has always had a patchy reputation with many commentators willing to knock its importance This book explains just why El Alamein is such a controversial battle Based on an intensive reading of the contemporary sources in particular the extensive and recently declassified British bugging of Axis prisoners of war military historian Simon Ball turns Alamein on its head explaining it as a cultural defeat for Britain Alamein is a military history of the battle showing how different it looks stripped of later cultural excrescences But it also shows how Alamein culture saturated the post war world when archival sources mingled with film novels magazines popular histories and the rest of Alamein's footprint Whether you are interested in the battle itself or its cultural afterlife if you have an opinion about Alamein you'll question it after reading this book The Lost Oasis Saul Kelly, 2009-04-20 The Lost Oasis tells the true story behind The English Patient An extraordinary episode in World War II it describes the Zerkura Club a group of desert explorers and adventurers who indulged in desert travel by early model motor cars and airplanes and who searched for lost desert oases and ancient cities of vanished civilizations In reality they were mapping the desert for military reasons and espionage The club's members came from countries that soon would be enemies England and the Allied Forces v Italy and Germany When war erupted in 1939 Ralph Bagnold founded the British Long Range Desert Group to spy on and disrupt Rommel's advance on Cairo while a fellow club member Hungarian Count Almásy succeeded in placing German spies there Ultimately the British prevailed Saul Kelly's riveting history draws on interviews with survivors and previously unknown documentary material in England Italy Germany Hungary and Egypt His book reads like a thriller with one key difference it's all true British Cultural Memory and the Second World War Lucy Noakes, Juliette Pattinson, 2013-11-21 Few historical events have resonated as much in modern British culture as the Second World War It has left a rich legacy in a range of media that continue to attract a wide audience film TV and radio photography and the visual arts journalism and propaganda architecture museums music and literature The enduring presence of the war in the public world is echoed in its ongoing centrality in many personal and family memories with stories of the Second World War being recounted through the generations This collection brings together recent historical work on the cultural memory of the war examining its presence in family stories in popular and material culture and in acts of commemoration in Britain between 1945 and the present Foxhole in Cairo Leonard Oswald Mosley, 1960 Records & Briefs , The Rebecca Code Mark Simmons, 2011-11-30 John Eppler thought himself to be the perfect spy Born to German parents he grew up in Egypt adopted by a wealthy family and was educated in Europe Fluent in German English and Arabic he made the Haddj to Mecca but was more at home in high society or travelling the desert on camelback with his adopted Bedouin tribe After joining the German Secret Service in 1937 in 1942 he was sent across the desert to Cairo by

Field Marshal Rommel His guide was the explorer and Hungarian aristocrat Laszlo Almasy a man made famous by the book The English Patient Eppler's mission was to infiltrate British Army Headquarters and discover the Eighth Army's troop movements and battle plans In The Rebecca Code Mark Simmons reveals the story of Operation Condor and its comedy of errors and how it was foiled by Major A W Sammy Sansom of the British Field Security Service It is a tale of the desert of the hotbed of intrigue that was 1940s Cairo and the spy who was to send his reports using a code based on Daphne du Maurier's novel Rebecca

Arab Americans in Film Waleed F. Mahdi, 2020-10-21 Selected for Arab America's Best Arab American Books of 2020 list It comes as little surprise that Hollywood films have traditionally stereotyped Arab Americans but how are Arab Americans portrayed in Arab films and just as importantly how are they portrayed in the works of Arab American filmmakers themselves In this innovative volume Mahdi offers a comparative analysis of three cinemas yielding rich insights on the layers of representation and the ways in which those representations are challenged and disrupted Hollywood films have fostered reductive imagery of Arab Americans since the 1970s as either a national security threat or a foreign policy concern while Egyptian filmmakers have used polarizing images of Arab Americans since the 1990s to convey their nationalist critiques of the United States Both portrayals are rooted in anxieties around globalization migration and US Arab geopolitics In contrast Arab American cinema provides a more complex realistic and fluid representation of Arab American citizenship and the nuances of a transnational identity Exploring a wide variety of films from each cinematic site Mahdi traces the competing narratives of Arab American belonging how and why they vary and what's at stake in their circulation
