John Lanchester

Fragrant Harbor:

Fragrant Harbor John Lanchester, 2003-08-26 It is 1935 and Tom Stewart a young Englishman with a longing for adventure buys himself a cheap ticket aboard the SS Darjeeling en route to the complex and corrupt world of Hong Kong A shipboard wager leads to an unlikely friendship that spans seven decades as Hong Kong endures the savagery of the Japanese occupation emerging as a crossroads of international finance and the nexus of a world of warlords drug runners and Chinese triads

Fragrant Harbour John Lanchester, 2013-01-03 It's Hong Kong she said Heung gong Fragrant harbour Fragrant Harbour is the story of four people whose intertwined lives span Asia's last seventy years Tom Stewart leaves England to seek his fortune and finds it in running Hong Kong's best hotel Sister Maria is a beautiful and uncompromising Chinese nun whom Stewart meets on the boat Dawn Stone is an English journalist who becomes the public face of money and power and big business Matthew Ho is a young Chinese entrepreneur whose life has been shaped by painful choices made long before his birth The complacency of colonial life in the 1930s the horrors of the Japanese occupation during the Second World War the post war boom and the handover of the city to the Chinese all these are present in Fragrant Harbour an epic novel of one of the world's great cities

The Fragrant Harbor Vida Chu, 2014-10-23 We begin with a pipa melody wafting in from the distance and a scholar lowering his wine cup and we step inside a world that is both exotic and familiar Magao Caves hewn by ancient monks sleeve dancers mountains painted Ming imperial red What makes this world familiar is the quiet intelligent often whimsical always brave voice of the poet attentive like her scholar to the fly on the brim of a hat or cicadas with their mating calls like marbles rattling in wooden boxes The Fragrant Harbor travels to a distant troubled Shanxi past and a pile white bones at Lake Kokonor to the shouting of Red Guards heard when holding a silver box shattered during the Cultural Revolution to a time of lost innocence when a gallon of gas cost less than a donut Vida Chu's book faces dislocation and loss and reminds us there are no easy solutions for anything yet she unflinchingly propels us into the future of grandma duty Hers is an art of resistance in the best sense It is a gentle art it is a tough art Like her Water that takes Tai Chi steps and pounds the rocks with fists like Kung Fu masters Vida Chu's The Fragrant Harbor helps us to meditate on the infinite This is poetry at its most fragrant its most potent its finest Christopher Bursk author of The Improbable Swervings of Atoms In The Fragrant Harbor Vida Chu takes us into vivid imagery of Chinese tales art works and her own childhood memories to illuminate the present world as colored by the past Chu bears witness to an American reality as seen through her Hong Kong roots ancient tomb sculpture a childhood beach in Hong Kong 1970s Beijing cyclists in drab blue Mao suits a 30 year old tight dress into which she can no longer fit no matter how much I wriggle like a snake I cannot get back into the molted skin With well chosen details and intense language she makes the reader share thoughts and feelings expressed in these poems Her work spans the ages a tapestry of foreign memoir and cunning observation woven together for us by Chu's gracious telling of her travel between two worlds Jean Hollander author of Crushed into Honey Fragrant Harbor Jaxie

Short,1970 Luxuriantly Literate Jean Long,2003-10 A girl in China in the 1920 s Margaret is not worth educating and certainly not worth the price of a steamship ticket to America Begging her father not to abandon her Margaret hopes to immigrate from China to the USA with the rest of her family Descended from families that broke away from tradition in extreme ways Margaret faces a life none of her ancestors could possibly have imagined Her mother with unbound feet constantly defies tradition Margaret s journey takes her from riding in jinrickshas to being a foreign student at the University of California She contends with a series of Asian American issues in rapidly changing times and increasingly lives in two worlds She is confronted with issues that her very Chinese parents face as well as her own identity as a Chinese national in an American setting rife with anti Asian sentiment City Between Worlds Leo Ou-fan Lee,2010-05-01 Hong Kong is perched on the fault line between China and the West a Special Administrative Region of the PRC Leo Ou fan Lee offers an insider s view of Hong Kong capturing the history and culture that make his densely packed home city so different from its generic neighbors The search for an indigenous Hong Kong takes Lee to the wet markets and corner bookshops of congested Mong Kok remote fishing villages and mountainside temples teahouses and noodle stalls Cantonese opera and Cantopop But he also finds the real Hong Kong in a maze of interconnected shopping malls a jungle of high rise residential towers and the neon glow of Chinese owned skyscrapers in the Central Business District where land development global trade capital accumulation consumerism and free market competition trump every value except family Lee illuminates the relationship between Hong Kong s geography and its colonial experience revisiting colonial life on the secluded Peak in the opium filled godowns along the harborfront and in crowded plague infested tenements He examines with a critic s eye the Hong Kong story in film and fiction romance in the bars and brothels of Wan Chai crime in the walled city of Kowloon ennui on the eve of the 1997 handover Whether viewed from Tsing Yi Bridge or the deck of the Star Ferry from Victoria Peak or Lion Rock Hong Kong sparkles here in all its multifaceted complexity a city forever between worlds "Borrowed Plumage" Eugene Chen Eoyang,2003 This eclectic collection of essays focuses on a number of intriguing issues in translation some of these polemic essays challenge certain widespread beliefs and practices for example the belief that humor is untranslatable the assumption that translations are always inferior to the originals the spread of translations that are more impenetrable to the target audience than the originals ever were to the source language audience above all the notion that translation is a marginal rather than a major area of study indeed as one essay suggests translation may represent a model of thought and translating a mode of thinking These essays also consider the international trade in translations the ratio of translations out of the language and of translations into the language as a possible index to historical development analyze the humor that can be translated as well as the humor that cannot be translated uncover the implicit indicators of time and place in traditional Chinese poetry offering thereby a study in comparative deictics examine the hermeneutics of Old Testament exegeses which unlike the modern world privileged the oral over the written word discuss the subtle but definable differences between translations that appropriate previous versions by way of allusion and quotation and translations that merely plagiarize In the final section entitled Divertissements Eugene Eoyang provides an exposition of his translation of a poem first published in the People's Daily and since banned that contained a hidden and decidedly hostile acrostic in which the challenge was not only to convey the original meaning but also to preserve the disguise of the original meaning in the Chinese text The translation appeared in The New York Times He also offers a wry typology of translators comparing them metaphorically and paronomastically to different species of birds in a concluding coda he excavates the place names in bicultural and multilingual Hong Kong uncovering not only translations and transliterations but also heteronyms different names for the same place as well as remarkably phononyms names where the pronunciation of a word in one language happens to coincide with a word in another language with the same meaning The result is a provocative potpourri of fascinating insights into the cultural and semiotic complexities of translation that will surely interest students of translation literature linguistics and history as well as the informed general reader

Operation Black Dragon Klaus Mewes, 2022-04-06 COVID 19 For months the coronavirus has been holding the world in a death grip By now it's dawning on people that nothing will ever be the same It's the liberal societies of the West that are feeling the merciless impact the most Besides the immense spiraling costs they must also cope with the reality that their freedom orientated societal models are beginning to unravel because of this disaster Because of the COVID 19 pandemic the West is faltering The West as a colossus with feet of clay that's what's impelling the men around Chinese intelligence agent Yue Fei Author Klaus Mewes has written a gripping thriller a sophisticated mixture weaving together geostrategy the history of the virus pandemic and the research behind it Klaus also expertly uses China's breathtaking development and eventful history over the past thirty years to infuse his story with realism The author sheds light on the fictitious to be sure events leading up to the outbreak of the pandemic Meanwhile a young woman physician Shenmi lives through the 1989 events that occurred on Tiananmen Square Traumatized she withdraws emotionally That is until the death of a boy during the 1997 H5N1 flu epidemic changes her life yet again and she resolves to dedicate herself to researching viruses specifically coronaviruses Yue Fei however the cunning intelligence agent is playing his own game Failing in his hunt for dissidents and professionally exiled as a consequence he contemplates revenge and the opportunity to rehabilitate himself in the eyes of his superiors One day by random chance he stumbles across an old acquaintance whereupon he hatches a plan that will change the world Now begins a breathless race against time

America's Lost Chinese Hugo Wong, 2023-07-27 From the 1850s as the United States pushed west Chinese migrants met ordinary Americans for the first time Alienation and xenophobia lost the US this chance for cultural and economic enrichment but America gave the Chinese new perspectives and connections They developed a dream of their own As teenagers Hugo Wong's great grandfathers fled poverty in China for California A decade later they were excluded from the States They helped establish a Chinese settlement across the border in Mexico led by a world famous dissident in exile with visions of a New China overseas They would be among the Americas first Chinese magnates meeting with presidents generals and missionaries living through astonishing victories and humiliating defeats The bitterest of all would be the colony's tragic demise amid a violent Mexican revolution leading to the largest massacre and deportation of Chinese in American history This epic 100 year drama follows the lives of the author's ancestors via untouched personal papers Though no Chinese group had ever gained such influence over a Western population and territory their home in Mexico would long be forgotten Today this family story is reborn one of nationhood state racism and a turbulent century of exile grit and new ways of belonging

Elite and True James L. Barnhart, 2022-08-09 Begin your journey to increased personal and professional productivity and strengthened workforce morale as you apply elite leadership lessons Inspiring educational and entertaining Elite and True translates James Barnhart's real life experiences in the US Navy's Officer Candidate School Nuclear Power School and submarine service into deeper leadership insights than most people will ever experience in their entire careers Barnhart deftly transforms his own military experiences into a broad format that readers can apply to general leadership situations in their own lives Many people seem to confuse leadership and management or to incorrectly use the two terms interchangeably As one officer succinctly stated to distinguish leadership from management You lead people while you manage things Never confuse management of assets budgets projects or any inanimate object with leadership of cognizant sentient emotional human beings To lead is to inspire people to perform To manage is to measure and prioritize actions The skills necessary for management differ markedly from those of leadership Whenever you're unsure of an answer there is no better response than I do not know but I will find out This is the universal right answer To hazard an unqualified guess can mislead the inquirer and the basic I don't know is insufficient The key is to honestly admit to not knowing then to make real efforts to seek out and return the answer at the soonest opportunity Beneficiaries of hard won and valuable lessons from the author's own life in the US Navy and as a manager in the corporate world readers will learn how to develop leadership capabilities in four clear phases unsure follower determined follower positional leader and true leader The true leader is the authentic leader true to oneself and to others When readers finish Elite and True they will feel motivated and energized and know that they can accomplish more personally and with their teams than they could previously This unique book is for those who aspire to lead are presently leading or who hold a management position in government or the private sector

Resistant City: Histories, Maps And The Architecture Of Development Eunice Mei Feng Seng, 2020-02-24 This vivid book is an inquiry into the stagnation between the development of architectural practice and the progress in urban modernization It is about islands as territories of resistance It is about dense places where multitudes dwell in perennial contestations with the city on every front It is about the histories tactics and spaces of everyday survival within the hegemonic sway of global capital and unstoppable development It is preoccupied with making visible the culture of resistance and architecture's entanglement with it It is about urban resilience It is about Hong Kong where uncertainty is status quo This interdisciplinary volume explores real and invented places and identities that are created in tandem with Hong Kong's urban development Mapping contested spaces in the territory it visualizes the energies and tenacity of the people as manifest in their daily life social and professional networks and the urban spaces in which they inhabit Embodying the multifaceted nature of the Asian metropolis the book utilizes a combination of archival materials public data sources field observations and documentation analytical drawings models and maps Related Link s

Faith, Film and Philosophy R. Douglas Geivett, James S. Spiegel, 2009-09-20 Those who tell stories rule society Plato So who today are our principal storytellers Not philosophers but filmmakers For those who know both the enormous entertainment potential and the culture shaping power of film this book will stir mind and imagination For great stories freight world sized ideas ideas worthy of contemplation and conversation Great cinema inspires wonder But another philosopher Aristotle reminds us that wonder is the true source of philosophy So perhaps Plato or Aristotle might have a shot at ruling society even today if they took an interest in film These fourteen essays consider classic and current films together with several major philosophical themes all within the context of Christian faith 1 the human condition 2 the human mind and the nature of knowing 3 the moral life and 4 faith and religion Citizen Kane Big Fish and Pretty Woman contribute to an in depth consideration of the human condition The Truman Show The Matrix Being John Malkovich and It s a Wonderful Life among others illuminate reflection on the human mind and the nature of knowing Looking at the moral life contributors interact with such notable films as Pleasantville Bowling for Columbine Mystic River and The Silence of the Lambs The final section pursues the theme of faith and religion traced through a number of Hong Kong martial arts films Contact 2001 A Space Odyssey and U2 s music documentary Rattle and Hum A veritable film festival for all those who want to nurture the wonder of philosophical inquiry and the love of Christian theology through an engagement with the big ideas on the big screen
