Framing In Discourse:

Framing in Discourse Deborah Tannen, 1993 The concept of framing has been pivotal in research on social interaction among anthropologists sociologists psychologists and linguists This collection shows how the discourse analysis of frames can be applied to a range of social contexts Tannen provides a seminal theoretical framework for conceptualizing the relationship between frames and schemas as well as a methodology for the discourse analysis of framing in interaction Each chapter makes a unique theoretical contribution to frames theory while showing how discourse analysis can elucidate the linguistic means by which framing is accomplished in a particular interactional setting Applied to such a wide range of contexts as a medical examination psychotic discourse gender differences in sermon performance boys sportscasting their own play teasing among friends a comparison of Japanese and American discussion groups and sociolinguistic interviews the discourse analysis of framing emerges here as a fruitful new avenue for interaction analysis Framing and Perspectivising in Discourse Titus Ensink, Christoph Sauer, 2003-01-01 In discourse verbal messages are framed speakers offer cues on the basis of which hearers are able to anchor the verbal message to the context Furthermore speakers cannot contribute to the discourse without at the same time showing their view on the subject matter of the discourse the content of a discourse is necessarily displayed from a certain perspective Both the framing and perspectivising of verbal messages are not static but subject to possible changes during the development of the discourse Both concepts function at the intersection of a psychological cognitive and a social functional approach to discourse In this volume eight contributions are brought together which offer theoretical tools for describing and explaining framing and perspectivising devices in the production and comprehension of discourse and apply them to the analysis of several types of discourse such as political satire letters to the editor everyday narrations and newspaper reports Frames of Understanding in Text and Discourse Alexander Ziem, 2014-10-15 How do words mean What is the nature of meaning How can we grasp a word's meaning The frame semantic approach developed in this book offers some well founded answers to such long standing but still controversial issues Following Charles Fillmore's definition of frames as both organizers of experience and tools for understanding the monograph attempts to examine one of the most important concepts of Cognitive Linguistics in more detail The point of departure is Fillmore's conception of frames of understanding an approach to cognitive semantics that Fillmore developed from 1975 to 1985 The envisaged Understanding Semantics U Semantics is a semantic theory sui generis whose significance for linguistic research cannot be overestimated In addition to its crucial role in the development of the theoretical foundations of U semantics corpus based frame semantics can be applied fruitfully in the investigation of knowledge building processes in text and discourse Framing Borders in Literature and Other Media Werner Wolf, Walter Bernhart, 2006 This book is both a contribution to an interdisciplinary study of literature and other media and a pioneering application of cognitive and frame theoretical approaches to these fields In the temporal media a privileged place for the coding of cognitive frames are the beginnings while in spatial media physical borders take over many framing functions This volume investigates forms and functions of such framing spaces from a transmedial perspective by juxtaposing and comparing the framing potential of individual media and works After an introductory theoretical essay which aims to clarify basic concepts the volume presents eighteen contributions by scholars from various disciplines who deal with individual media The first section is dedicated to framing in or through the visual arts and includes discussions of the illustrations of medieval manuscripts the practice of framing pictures from the Middle Ages to Magritte and contemporary American art as well as framings in printmaking and architecture The second part deals with literary texts and ranges from studies centred on framings in frame stories to essays focussing on the use of paratextual textual and non verbal media in the framings of classical medieval and modern German and American narrative literature moreover it includes studies on defamiliarized framings e g by Julio Cortázar and Jasper Fforde as well as an essay on end framing practices Sections on framings in film including the trailers of Tolkien's The Lord of the Rings and in music operatic overtures and Schumann's piano pieces provide perspectives on further media The volume is of relevance to students and scholars from various fields intermedia studies cognitive approaches to the media literary and film studies history of art and musicology

Speaking of Crime

Patricia E. O'Connor, 2000-01-01 Speaking of Crime explores how inmates speak of their lives and in particular how they speak of crime What is the power of speech for prisoners What do their uses of pronouns and choices of verbs reveal about them their experiences of violence their relationships with other prisoners and their likelihood for change In this fascinating book Patricia E O Connor probes beneath the surface of prison speech by examining over one hundred taped accounts of narratives of violence made by African American inmates of a U S maximum security prison The inmates manner of speaking about their lives and acts of violence not just what they talk about but how they talk about it supplies important clues to their senses of identity and feelings of agency The use of second person pronouns when speaking about themselves and a reliance on distinctive verbal devices such as irony and constructed dialogue provide important insights into the way prisoners see their world and help condition how they interact with it

On Gendering Texts Athalya Brenner,Dijk-Hemmes,2023-01-16 On Gendering Texts is a wonderful book in a field that demonstrates its maturity by this publication It discusses the important and traditional issue of authorship Whereas the idea of a unique and divinely inspired biblical author has long been abandoned the issue of authorship itself has not The possibility that women might have contributed to the production of the Bible has not been taken seriously and yet the idea that everything is male unless otherwise proven is hardly acceptable What can one do The two authors of this book shrewdly displace the question Rather than worrying about unprovable historical authors they consider gender positions authority gendered textuality and attributions of gender within the text voice world view and ideological content Each of these issues is important and the gesture of raising them in connection with that of authorship alone makes this book worthwhile This book is both unique and in line with a growing tradition a climatic point in the developing area of feminist biblical study from the Foreword by Mieke Bal

Knowledge and Identity Gabrielle Ivinson,Brian Davies,John Fitz,2010-11-23 What in the digital era is knowledge Who has knowledge and whose knowledge has value Postmodernism has introduced a relativist flavour into educational research such that big questions about the purposes of education have tended to be eclipsed by minutiae Changes in economic and financial markets induce a sense that we are also experiencing an intellectual credit crunch Societies can no longer afford to think about the role of education merely in relation to national markets and national citizenry There is growing recognition that once again we need big thinking using big theoretical ideas in working on local problems of employability sustainability and citizenship Drawing on aspects of Bernstein s work that have attracted an international following for many years the international contributors to this book raise questions about knowledge production and subjectivity in times dominated by market forces privatisation and new forms of state regulation The book is divided into three sections Part one extends Bernstein s sociology of knowledge by revitalizing fundamental questions such as what is knowledge how is it produced and what are its functions within education and society in late modernity It demonstrates that big theory like big science provides immense resources for thinking ourselves out of crisis because in contradistinction to micro theory we are able to contemplate global transformations in ways which otherwise would remain unthinkable Part two considers the new hybrid forms of knowledge that are emerging in the gap opened up between economic markets and academic institutions across a range of countries Bernstein said in the 1970s that schools cannot compensate for society but we might now ask can universities compensate for the economy Part three adds new conceptual tools to the understanding of subjectivity within Bernstein s sociology of knowledge and elaborates conceptual developments about pedagogic regulation consciousness and embodiment This book will appeal to sociologists educationists and higher educators internationally and to students on sociology of education curriculum and policy studies courses

ExtrACTION offers a robustly argued case for change It will make engaging reading for academics and students in the fields of critical anthropology public policy and politics as well as activists and other interested citizens Communicating and Organizing in Context Beth Bonniwell Haslett,2013-06-17 Communicating and Organizing in Context integrates Giddens structuration theory with Goffman s interaction order and develops a new theoretical base the theory of structurational interaction for the analysis of communicating and organizing This book will be a valuable resource for students and scholars as an orientation to the field of organizational communication Mind Reading Vladimir Tumanov,2023-12-14 In this book literary interior monologue is considered in relation to extraliterary phenomena as well as narrative theory The central question posed by this study is what makes a particular interior monologue believable given the unobservable nature of human thought The discussion revolves around the unobservable counterpart of literary interior monologue i e what is known in psychology as inner speech Taking various experimental findings and theories from Soviet and American research on inner speech the author compares them with literary interior monologue and tries to account for similarities and differences Examples of literary interior monologue are analyzed in comparison with data from the linguistic study of real oral spontaneous discourse also known as face to face communication In the context of this interdisciplinary framework four examples of literary interior monologue are considered V M Garshin s Four Days 1877 E Dujardin s Les Lauriers sont coup s 1887 A Schnitzler s Leutnant Gustl 1900 and V Larbaud s Amants heureux amants 1921 The inclusion of data from psychology and research on face to face communication makes a unique contribution not only to narrative theory but also to the understanding of the relationship between literary and extraliterary communication The Discourses of Capitalism Christian W. Chun,2017-03-27 Since the global economic crisis of 2007 2008 capitalism has been the topic of widespread general discussion in both mainstream and social media In this book Christian W Chun examines the discourses of capitalism taken up by people in their responses to a street art installation created by Steve Lambert entitled Capitalism Works for Me In doing so he considers several key questions including How do everyday people view and make sense of capitalism and its role in their work and personal lives What are the discourses they use in their common sense understandings of the economy to defend or reject capitalism as a system Chun looks at how dominant discourses in social circulation operate to co construct and support capitalism and the accompanying counter discourses that critique it This is key reading for advanced students of discourse analysis language and globalization politics media communication studies and related areas A video lecture by the author can be accessed via the Routledge website www.routledge.com/9781138807105 and the Routledge Language and Communication Portal www.routledge.com/textbooks/languageandcommunication Borderland Chrisanthi Giotis,2022 Every two seconds a person is displaced caught in one of the more than 40 active conflicts around the world that show no sign of ending Since 1994 there has been ongoing war in the Democratic Republic of Congo which has uprooted millions of people and resulted in the deaths of millions more In the West we have entered a political era where our border policies are underpinned by unending wars At this critical juncture how can journalists especially those engaged in foreign correspondence tell these stories How can they make connections across time and space and across politics economics environments and crucially people Given its colonial history are these connections possible for the profession of foreign correspondence In Borderland Chrisanthi Giotis argues that decolonization is possible and necessary for the development of a truly global public sphere New global narratives need to meaningfully include the voices and knowledge of those with the least power who are caught in resource fuelled wars Drawing on insights from postcolonial studies international relations development studies and philosophy which are brought to life through auto ethnographic descriptions and analysis of behind the scenes events Giotis introduces new reporting techniques for foreign correspondents Borderland argues that decolonized reporting techniques will help journalists and their audiences move beyond the sociohistorical and political myopia that prevents us from communicating and understanding the reality of a complex world

The Reframing of Realism Hazel Gold, 1993 In the writing of Benito P rez Gald s Spain s most prolific and innovative nineteenth century novelist Hazel Gold finds the act of framing insistently at work By exploring Gald s s methods of structuring and evaluating literary and historical experience Gold illuminates the novelist s art and uncovers the far reaching narratological social and epistemological implications of his framing strategies A close look at Gald s s novels reveals the artist at pains to contain and interpret what he perceived to be the distinctive and often disheartening experience of bourgeois liberalism of his day Looking beyond text to context Gold examines the ways in which Gald s s work itself has been framed by readers and critics in accordance with changing allegiances to contemporary literary theory and the canon The highly ambiguous status of the frame in Gald s s fiction confirms the author s own signal position as a writer poised at the limits between realism and modernity
