Fatal Fictions Alison L. LaCroix,Richard H. McAdams,Martha Craven Nussbaum,2017 Writers of fiction have always confronted topics of crime and punishment This age old fascination with crime on the part of both authors and readers is not surprising given that criminal justice touches on so many political and psychological themes essential to literature and comes equipped with a trial process that contains its own dramatic structure This volume explores this profound and enduring literary engagement with crime investigation and criminal justice The collected essays explore three themes that connect the world of law with that of fiction First defining and punishing crime is one of the fundamental purposes of government along with the protection of victims by the prevention of crime And yet criminal punishment remains one of the most abused and terrifying forms of political power Second crime is intensely psychological and therefore an important subject by which a writer can develop and explore character A third connection between criminal justice and fiction involves the inherently dramatic nature of the legal system itself particularly the trial Moreover the ongoing public conversation about crime and punishment suggests that the time is ripe for collaboration between law and literature in this troubled domain The essays in this collection span a wide array of genres including tragic drama science fiction lyric poetry autobiography and mystery novels The works discussed include works as old as fifth century BCE Greek tragedy and as recent as contemporary novels memoirs and mystery novels The cumulative result is arresting there are killer wives and crimes against trees a government bureaucrat who sends political adversaries to their death for treason before falling to the same fate himself a convicted murderer who doesn't die when hanged a psychopathological collector whose quite sane kidnapping victim nevertheless also collects Justice Thomas reading and misreading of Bigger Thomas a man who forgives his son's murderer and one who cannot forgive his wife's non-existent adultery fictional detectives who draw on historical analysis to solve murders These essays begin a conversation and they illustrate the great depth and power of crime in literature Army Skill

Development Programs United States. Department of the Army,1979 Pandemic Communication and Resilience David M. Berube,2021-08-07 This book examines how we design and deliver health communication messages relating to outbreaks epidemics and pandemics We have experienced major changes to how the public receives and searches for information about health crises over the last twelve decades with the ongoing shift from text broadcast based to digital messaging and social media Both health theories and practices are examined as it applies to testing tracking hoarding therapeutics and vaccines with case studies Challenges to communicate about health to diverse audiences including the science illiterate and across both Western and developing economies have been complicated by politics norms and mores personal heuristics and biases such as mortality salience news avoidance and quarantine fatigue Issues of economic development and land use trade and transportation and even climate change have increased the exposure of human populations to infectious diseases making risk and resilience more pressing The book has been designed to support health communicators and public health management professionals students and interested stakeholders and university libraries

Ross, 2021-08-12 By oscillating between Dietrich Bonhoeffer's explicit hermeneutical reflections and his actual practice of interpreting biblical texts Jameson E Ross shows that Bonhoeffer's interpretive acts consist of a theologically self reflective hermeneutic in which Scripture is for interpretation underscoring how essential the interpreter's Spirit given freedom actions theology context and needs are for reading Scripture Offering a fresh vision for methodological discussions in theology this book is a valuable resource for graduate and postgraduate students and researchers on modern theology political theology and ethics and biblical exegesis Organizational Behavior and Human Decision Processes, 1983 The EU Charter of Fundamental Rights Steve Peers, Tamara Hervey, Jeff Kenner, Angela Ward, 2021-11-18 this most thorough commentary must be regarded as the Bible on the Charter Peter Oliver Common Market Law Review This second edition of the first commentary of the EU Charter of Fundamental Rights in English written by experts from several EU Member States provides an authoritative but succinct statement of how the Charter impacts upon EU domestic and international law Following the conventional article by article approach each commentator offers an expert view of how each article is either already being interpreted in the courts or is likely to be interpreted Each commentary is referenced to the case law and is augmented with extensive references to further reading This is a much welcomed new edition of the authoritative guide to the Charter     The Routledge Companion to Trust Rosalind H. Searle, Ann-Marie I. Nienaber, Sim B. Sitkin, 2018-03-13 In recent years trust has enjoyed increasing interest from a wide range of parties including organizations policymakers and the media Perennially linked to turbulence and scandals the damaging and rebuilding of trust is a contemporary concern affecting all areas of society Comprising six thematic sections The Routledge Companion to Trust provides a comprehensive survey of trust research With contributions from international experts this volume examines the major topics and emerging areas within the field including essays on the foundations levels and theories of trust It also examines trust repair and explores trust in settings such as healthcare finance food supply chains and the internet The Routledge Companion to Trust is an extensive reference work which will be a vital resource to researchers and practitioners across the fields of management and organizational studies behavioural economics psychology cultural anthropology political science and sociology     Researching Newsreels Ciara Chambers, Mats Jönsson, Roel Vande Winkel, 2018-09-14 This volume addresses the underscrutinised topic of cinema newsreels These short multi themed newsfilms usually accompanied by explanatory intertitles or voiceovers were a central part of the filmgoing experience around the world from 1910 through the late 1960s and in many cases even later As the only source of moving image news available before the widespread advent of television newsreels are important social documents recording what the general public was told and shown about the events and personalities of the day Often disregarded as quirky or trivial they were heavily utilised as propaganda vehicles offering insights into the socio political norms reflected in cinema during the first half of the twentieth century The book presents a range of current research being undertaken in newsreel studies internationally and makes a case for a reconsideration of the importance of newsreels in the wider landscape of film history     Rowing in Eden Martha Nell Smith, 2010-07-05 Emily

Dickinson wrote a letter to the world and left it lying in her drawer more than a century ago This widely admired epistle was her poems which were never conventionally published in book form during her lifetime Since the posthumous discovery of her work general readers and literary scholars alike have puzzled over this paradox of wanting to communicate widely and yet apparently refusing to publish In this pathbreaking study Martha Nell Smith unravels the paradox by boldly recasting two of the oldest and still most frequently asked questions about Emily Dickinson Why didn't she publish more poems while she was alive and Who was her most important contemporary audience Regarding the question of publication Smith urges a reconception of the act of publication itself She argues that Dickinson did publish her work in letters and in forty manuscript books that circulated among a cultured network of correspondents most important of whom was her sister in law Susan Huntington Gilbert Dickinson Rather than considering this material unpublished because unprinted Smith views its alternative publication as a conscious strategy on the poet's part a daring poetic experiment that also included Dickinson's unusual punctuation line breaks stanza divisions calligraphic orthography and bookmaking all the characteristics that later editors tried to standardize or eliminate in preparing the poems for printing Dickinson's relationship with her most important reader Sue Dickinson has also been lost or distorted by multiple levels of censorship Smith finds Emphasizing the poet sustaining aspects of the passionate bonds between the two women Smith shows that their relationship was both textual and sexual Based on study of the actual holograph poems Smith reveals the extent of Sue Dickinson's collaboration in the production of poems most notably Safe in Their Alabaster Chambers This finding will surely challenge the popular conception of the isolated withdrawn Emily Dickinson Well versed in poststructuralist feminist and new textual criticism Rowing in Eden uncovers the process by which the conventional portrait of Emily Dickinson was drawn and offers readers a chance to go back to original letters and poems and look at the poet and her work through new eyes It will be of great interest to a wide audience in literary and feminist studies
