Animals and Plants in Chinese Religions and Science Huaiyu Chen, 2023-03-14 This book is a unique transdisciplinary study on animals and plants in medieval Chinese religions and science especially in such a critical era of environmental crisis today In recent years environment historians have written intensively on China yet the study of animals and plants in medieval China was less developed not much about the role of religions more precisely This book aims to bridge the gaps between religious studies and environmental studies between the history of science and religious studies and between animal studies and plant studies It also deals with folklores and other literary sources for examining the changing images of animals in the psychological and imaginative experience which are often overlooked in the conventional scholarship This book addresses big issues such as how religious agents responded to the challenges about animals and plants as material culture in the mundane world and how the religious writers developed their different discourse about animals and plants from the state ideology and how the spiritual world and natural world mutually enriched each other in the medieval world of China

Exuberant Apotheoses: Italian Frescoes in the Holy Roman Empire Daniel Fulco, 2016-04-01 From the late seventeenth through the mid eighteenth centuries large scale Italian frescoes soared in popularity as nobles in the German principalities of the Holy Roman Empire constructed new palaces at an unprecedented rate They competed with one another to produce lavish decorative schemes that expressed their claim to princely power and political authority Whereas previous art historians have primarily focused on iconographic and stylistic issues and generally treated these programs as individual commissions of regional courts this book places the works of art within their broad cultural and historical contexts during the Enlightenment This monograph explains how rulers gradually shifted from emphasizing military heroism to stressing their cultivation of the arts and sciences and addresses how expressing membership in a specifically European civilization emerged as an integral visual theme and a key ambition of the German nobility
