Four Private Presses:

Four private presses, Small Presses in the Rocky Mountain West Richard L Hardesty, 2025-01-15 The small private press movement in the United States has been the subject of many books and articles but coverage has historically been concentrated to those presses located on either coast or the mid continent The Rocky Mountain states have generally been neglected in the past This work seeks to begin to correct that oversight In it four presses located in Montana and Wyoming are covered Each press biography reviews the background of its proprietors and how the press came to be The life experiences and philosophies of the proprietors are part of what make each press unique but all have one thing in common a desire to produce excellent letterpress editions of texts of value be they fiction essays or verse Checklists of the publications issued under its own imprint are included along with a few examples of commissioned works Full color images of title pages and covers of selected titles are also featured It is hoped that this contribution to the literature on the small private press movement in the U S will aid collectors scholars and other interested individuals in the pursuit of their various aims RISING WOLF PRESS Hungry Horse Montana The Spectator, 1924 Fourth Estate, 1923 Two Private Presses Joan Digby, 1988 Unquiet World Stephanie De Montalk, 2001 Poet polemicist pagan and pretender to the throne of Poland Count Geoffrey Potocki de Montalk was one of the glittering generation of New Zealand poets of the 1930s His career took a strange turn after he was imprisoned for obscene libel Following a celebrated trial in London he became increasingly eccentric dressing in mock medieval garb claiming the throne of Poland and issuing a stream of poetry and pamphlets before returning to New Zealand in the 1980s and 1990s This is the first time his full story has been told and it will be relevant to those interested in the literature of obscenity the history of censorship and private press publishing in the 20th century

Special Agents Series, 1918 A Chronology and Calendar of Documents Relating to the London Book Trade 1641-1700 Donald Francis McKenzie, Maureen Bell, 2005-12-15 The Chronology and Calendar of Documents relating to the London Book Trade 1641 1700 presents abstracts of documents relating to the book trade and book production between 1641 and 1700 It brings together in one sequence edited abstracts of entries referring to named books printers and booksellers selected from the manuscripts of the Stationers Company Court Books all references to printing publishing bookselling and the book trade occurring in major historical printed sources Calendar of State Papers Domestic the Journals of the Houses of Lords and Commons Reports of the Royal Commission on Historical Manuscripts and entries for contemporary pamphlets The labour records of the printing and bookselling trades probably represent the fullest account of any work force in early modern England and the printed products of the trade survive in such great numbers that they enable us to examine them for evidence not only of who made and sold them but also of how they were made These volumes constitute a reference work of importance not only for literature specialists bibliographers and historians of book production but also for economic social and political historians Not only do they bring together records from a variety of separate printed sources thereby making explicit their interconnections but also they make accessible some less well known manuscript sources notably from the Stationers Company archives Most importantly the Chronology and Calendar extends the earlier work of Arber Greg and Jackson on the earlier seventeenth century As a chronological sequence the volumes meet the need for a preliminary narrative history of the trade in the later seventeenth century and the provision of title name and topic indexes renders this an indispensable reference tool for research into the social political and economic contexts of the book trade its personnel and its printed output
