Four Quarters Of The Night:

Four Quarters of the Night Tara Singh Bains, Hugh Johnston, 1995-03-01 Identifying himself as both an Indian and a Canadian but first and foremost a Sikh Tara Singh has shuttled back and forth between Canada and India for most of his life finding personal harmony while incorporating two very different countries and cultures into his life Tara Singh was raised within an amritdhari or baptised Sikh tradition in a small village in Punjab India his values and identity are firmly rooted in Punjabi Sikh culture As a child and adolescent he suffered mercilessly from his father's verbal and physical cruelty but the support that he drew from his village environment and his religion gave him strength He married according to traditional practices the woman that his family had arranged for him to wed Sponsored by his sister Tara Singh emigrated to Canada in the early 1950s and settled in British Columbia He came alone without his wife and children as most Punjabis did His greatest initial shock in Canada was his experience with racism and its impact on his relatives who tried to persuade him to shave his beard and abandon his turban two sacred symbols of the Sikh Refusing to betray his beliefs he resisted the relentless pressure of his family just as he later fought against the exploitation of immigrants in the saw mills where he worked Tara Singh became active in fighting for immigrant rights and protecting the Sikh faith in Canada The Four Quarters of the Night is more than one man's life story his single voice reveals much about the collective experience of immigrants Tara Singh's narrative presents an evocative picture of a newcomer's experiences in a land of foreign customs culture and religious beliefs Hugh Johnston to whom Tara Singh told his story has created a unique and invaluable document in immigration and ethnic history

Sing the Four Quarters Tanya Huff, 2015-08-04 The Bards of Shkoder hold the country together They and the elemental spirits they Sing earth air fire and water bring the news of the sea to the mountains news of the mountains to the plains They give their people from peasant to king a song in common Annice is a rare talent able to Sing all four quarters but her brother the newly enthroned King Theron sees her request to study at the Bardic Hall as a betrayal To his surprise Annice accepts his conditions renouncing her royal blood and swearing to remain childless so as not to jeopardize the line of succession She walks away from political responsibilities royal privilege and her family Ten years later Annice has become the Princess Bard and her real life is about to become the exact opposite of the overwrought ballad her fellow students at the Bardic Hall wrote about her Now she's on the run from the Royal Guards with the Duc of Ohrid the father of her unborn child both of them guilty of treason one of them unjustly accused To save the Duc's life they'll have to cross the country manage to keep from strangling each other and defeat an enemy too damaged for even a Bard's song to reach A favorite book means to me one you reread frequently and know you will enjoy even with flu Out of a shelf full of such the one my hand goes to most unerringly is Tanya Huff's Sing The Four Quarters I love this book for being both very funny and wholly serious about the
