Frames Of Remembrance The Dynamics Of Collective Memory:

Frames of Remembrance Iwona Irwin Zarecka, Frames of Remembrance Iwona Irwin Zarecka, 1994 Frames of Remembrance Iwona Irwin-Zarecka, 2017-10-02 What is the symbolic impact of the Vietnam War Memorial How does television change our engagement with the past Can the efforts to wipe out Communist legacies succeed Should victims of the Holocaust be celebrated as heroes or as martyrs These questions have a great deal in common yet they are typically asked separately by people working in distinct research areas in different disciplines Frames of Remembrance shares ideas and concerns across such divides Irwin Zarecka writes in clear trenchant prose inviting interdisciplinary exchanges She journeys through a widely ranging empirical terrain allowing students of collective memory to explore the emergent links and bridges Working through a selection of analytically challenging questions she opens new passages of inquiry The results should prove a treasure trove for experienced researchers and newcomers alike The first part of the book sets the analytical parameters of the study The second section reflects on how the past becomes relevant to people in smaller as well as larger communities The final chapters focus on the practices and practitioners of memory work itself Included is a select critically annotated bibliography that with the range of works listed shows that the study of collective memory is rapidly gaining a place in the history of past and present By placing questions about the dynamics of collective remembrance and forgetting at the center of our efforts to understand human affairs this book is a bold undertaking indeed Yet at a time when the future of whole regions from Eastern Europe to South Africa from the Middle East to North America may well depend on how people deal with the past this call to serious analytical attention needs to be heard This book will be of keen interest to historians sociologists anthropologists psychologists and professionals in communications studies Diaspora, Memory and Identity Vijay Agnew, 2005-01-01 Memories establish a connection between a collective and individual past between origins heritage and history Those who have left their places of birth to make homes elsewhere are familiar with the question Where do you come from and respond in innumerable well rehearsed ways Diasporas construct racialized sexualized gendered and oppositional subjectivities and shape the cosmopolitan intellectual commitment of scholars The diasporic individual often has a double consciousness a privileged knowledge and perspective that is consonant with postmodernity and globalization The essays in this volume reflect on the movements of people and cultures in the present day when physical social and mental borders and boundaries are being challenged and sometimes successfully dismantled The contributors from a variety of disciplinary perspectives discuss the diasporic experiences of ethnic and racial groups living in Canada from their perspective including the experiences of South Asians Iranians West Indians Chinese and Eritreans Diaspora Memory and Identity is an exciting and innovative collection of essays that examines the nuanced development of theories of Diaspora subjectivity double consciousness gender and class experiences and the nature of home After the Gulag Tyler C. Kirk, 2023-12-05 From 1929 to 1958 hundreds of thousands of prisoners and exiles from across the Soviet Union were sent to the harsh yet resource rich Komi Republic in Russia's Far North When the Soviet Union collapsed former prisoners sent their autobiographies to Komi's local branches of the anti Stalinist Memorial Society and history museums Using these previously unavailable personal records alongside newspapers photographs interviews and other non state archival sources After the Gulag sheds new light not only on how former prisoners experienced life after release but also how they laid the foundations for the future commemoration of Komi's dark past Bound by a camp brotherhood they used informal social networks to provide mutual support amid state and societal oppression Decades later they sought rehabilitation with the help of the newly formed Memorial Society the civic organization largely responsible for the de Stalinization of the Soviet Union In sharing their life stories and family archives with Memorial they sustained an alternate history of the Soviet Union Offering an unprecedented look at the legacies of mass repression under Stalin After the Gulag explores how ordinary political prisoners from across the Soviet Union navigated life after release using memoirs letters and art to translate their experiences and shape the politics of memory in post Soviet Russia

Cultural Memory and Literature

Diane Molloy, 2015-10-20 Cultural memory involves a community's shared memories the selection of which is based on current political and social needs A past that is significant to a national group is re imagined by generating new meanings that replace earlier certainties and fixed symbols or myths This creates literary syncretisms with moments of undecidability The analysis in this book draws on Renate Lachmann's theory of intertextuality to show how novels that blur boundaries without standing in for history are prone to intervene in cultural memory A brief overview of Aboriginal politics between the 1920s and the 1990s in relation to several novels provides historical and political background to the links between and problems associated with cultural memory testimony trauma and Stolen Generations narratives which are discussed in relation to Sally Morgan's My Place and Doris Pilkington's Rabbit Proof Fence There follows an analysis of novels that respond to the history of contact between Aboriginal and settler Australians including Kate Grenville's historical novels The Secret River The Lieutenant and Sarah Thornhill as examples of a traditional approach David Malouf's Remembering Babylon charts how language and naming defined our early national narrative that excluded Aboriginal people Intertextuality is explored via the relation between Thea Astley's The Multiple Effects of Rainshadow Chloe Hooper's The Tall Man and the Royal Commission into Aboriginal Deaths in Custody Kim Scott's Benang from the heart and That Deadman Dance and Alexis Wright's Carpentaria reflect a number of Lachmann's concepts syncretism dialogism polyphony Menippean satire and the carnivalesque Suggested is a new way of reading novels that respond to Australia's violent past beyond trauma studies and postcolonial theory to re imagine a different syncretic past from multiple perspectives

Screening Queer Memory

Anamarija Horvat, 2021-04-22 In Screening Queer Memory Anamarija Horvat examines how LGBTQ history has been represented on screen and interrogates the specificity of queer memory She poses several questions How are the pasts of LGBTQ people and communities visualised and commemorated on screen How do these representations comment on the influence of film and television on the construction of queer memory How do they present the passage of memory from one generation of LGBTQ people to another Finally which narratives of the queer past particularly of the activist past are being commemorated and which obscured Horvat exemplifies how contemporary British and American cinema and television have commented on the specificity of queer memory how they have reflected aspects of its construction as well as participated in its creation In doing so she adds to an under examined area of queer film and television research which has privileged concepts of nostalgia history temporality and the archive over memory Films and television shows explored include Cheryl Dunye s The Watermelon Woman 1996 Todd Haynes Velvet Goldmine 1998 Joey Soloway s Transparent 2014 2019 Matthew Warchus Pride 2014 and Tom Rob Smith s London Spy 2015
