Environmental Sustainability James K. Lein,2016-12-08 This book explores the challenges of presenting sustainability as a more actionable or practical concept and identifying approaches that might offer useful assistance in addressing the temporal and spatial representation of sustainability The underlying premise of this book is that sustainability is a state realized in the future In that future there is a geographic arrangement of society and economy that agrees with its environmental setting This future perspective introduces a little examined subject area that can lend significant content to the sustainability challenge Futures Research Planning Regional Futures John Harrison, Daniel Galland, Mark

Tewdwr-Jones, 2021-09-30 Planning Regional Futures is an intellectual call to engage planners to critically explore what planning is and should be in how cities and regions are planned This is in a context where planning is seen to face powerful challenges professionally intellectually and practically in ways arguably not seen before planning is no longer solely the domain of professional planners but opened up to a diverse group of actors the link between the study of cities and regions which traditionally had a disciplinary home in planning schools and the like steadily eroded as research increasingly takes place in interdisciplinary research institutes the advent of real time modelling posing fundamental challenges for the type of long term perspective that planning has traditionally afforded regional planning and its mixed record of achievement and the link between region and planning becoming decoupled as alternative regional and other spatial approaches to planning have emerged This book takes up the intellectual and practical challenge of planning regional futures moving beyond the narrow confines of existing debate and providing a forum for debating what planning is and should be for in how we plan cities and regions The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Regional Studies Connecting

Mathematics and Science to Workplace Contexts Edward Britton, 1999-06-23 Engage students through real world curriculum It s no accident that employers complain that newly minted graduates are out of touch with the realities of work demands Too often there is a disconnect between what is taught in the classroom and what is demanded in the workplace and students suffer the consequences Mathematics and science curricula can play a critical role in solving this dilemma In this comprehensive review of 23 exemplary curricula programs the authors offer an easy to use guide for tying curriculum to workplace experiences from a hematology laboratory to an agricultural setting to a soda bottling company these programs illustrate concrete real life situations to which students can relate and derive motivation Learn how to Meet the goals of science mathematics and technology education Meet national curriculum standards Chart key characteristics of successful curricula Connect curriculum to workplace contexts Create your own curriculum materials This book is a must for mathematics and science educators curriculum developers and supervisors and educators in school to work programs and vocational courses Charting Environmental Law Futures in the Anthropocene Michelle Lim, 2019-08-31 This book

Anticipation, Sustainability, Futures and Human Extinction Bruce E. Tonn, 2021-05-16 This book considers the philosophical underpinnings policy foundations institutional innovations and deep cultural changes needed to ensure that humanity has the best chance of surviving and flourishing into the very distant future Anticipation of threats to the sustainability of human civilization needs to encompass time periods that span not just decades but millennia All existential risks need to be jointly assessed as opposed to addressing risks such as climate change and pandemics separately Exploring the potential events that are likely to cause the biggest risks as well as asking why we should even desire to thrive into the distant future this work looks at the biggest picture possible in order to argue that futures oriented decision making ought to be a permanent aspect of human society and futures oriented policy making must take precedent over the day to day policy making of current generations in times of great peril The book concludes with a discourse on the truly fundamental bottom up changes needed in our personal psychologies and culture to support these top down recommendations This book is of great interest to philosophers policy analysts political scientists economists psychologists planners and theologians
