The Australian Quarterly, 1984 A Plague of Rats and Rubbervines Yvonne Baskin, 2013-04-15 The human love of novelty and desire to make one place look like another coupled with massive increases in global trade and transport are creating a growing economic and ecological threat The same forces that are rapidly McDonaldizing the world s diverse cultures are also driving us toward an era of monotonous weedy and uniformly impoverished landscapes Unique plant and animal communities are slowly succumbing to the world s rats and rubbervines animals like zebra mussels and feral pigs and plants like kudzu and water hyacinth that once moved into new territory can disrupt human enterprise and well being as well as native habitats and biodiversity From songbird eating snakes in Guam to cheatgrass in the Great Plains invasives are wreaking havoc around the world In A Plague of Rats and Rubbervines widely published science writer Yvonne Baskin draws on extensive research to provide an engaging and authoritative overview of the problem of harmful invasive alien species She takes the reader on a worldwide tour of grasslands gardens waterways and forests describing the troubles caused by exotic organisms that run amok in new settings and examining how commerce and travel on an increasingly connected planet are exacerbating this oldest of human created problems She offers examples of potential solutions and profiles dedicated individuals worldwide who are working tirelessly to protect the places and creatures they love While our attention is quick to focus on purposeful attempts to disrupt our lives and economies by releasing harmful biological agents we often ignore equally serious but much more insidious threats those that we inadvertently cause by our own seemingly harmless actions A Plague of Rats and Rubbervines takes a compelling look at this underappreciated problem and sets forth positive suggestions for what we as consumers gardeners travelers nurserymen fishermen pet owners business people indeed all of us who by our very local choices drive global commerce can do to help

East,1999-06-01 George East is by far one of the funniest story tellers and raconteurs on the planet today and the third book in the best selling MILL OF THE FLEA series continuing the often farcical and always entertaining adventures of the author and his wife as they attempt to make a new life in rural France Totally unlike any other book in the genre FRENCH LETTERS takes the reader on another visit to a remote area of Normandy where time is of little value and reluctant tractors and their drivers are kick started on frosty mornings with a tot of moonshine apple brandy During another eventful year at the Mill of the Flea the author and his wife once again encounter a host of improbable characters and situations like the vegetarian couple who set up home next to a veal farm and an elderly post mistress who grows highly illegal pot plants while enticing a colony of hornets to set up home in her attic ReviewsGeorge s tremendous love of life shows in all the couple s exploits as does Donella s affection for George and her animals shared fifty fifty one surmises There s a lot of wisdom in this book or a lot of sound sense if you prefer it I just wish he could write them a bit quicker R Roller JCBJust read French Letters what fun George East s first book Home and Dry in France was my first encounter with this hilarious author His second book Rene and Me confirmed his genius and I didn t think he could pull off a hat trick but he has French Letters is so funny from a bingo game in Nehou to the Tour de France all the familiar characters are there you must meet the Miserables what a scream I laughed all the way through Encore s il vous plait J Bean NY Whistler
