The Disneyfication of Animals Rebecca Rose Stanton, 2020-09-17

This book critically examines how Walt Disney Animation Studios has depicted and sometimes failed to depict different forms of harming and objectifying non-human animals in their films. Each chapter addresses a different form of animal harm and objectification through the theories of speciesism, romanticism, and the collapse of compassion, effect from farming, hunting, and fishing to clothing, work, and entertainment. Stanton lucidly presents the dichotomy between depictions of higher-order anthropomorphised and neotonised animal characters and that of lower order species showing furthermore how these depictions are closely linked to changing social attitudes about acceptable forms of animal harm An engaging and novel contribution to the field of Critical Animal Studies this book explores the use of animals not only in Disney's best known animated films such as 101 Dalmatians but also lesser known features including Home on the Range and Fun and Fancy Free A quantitative appendix supplying data on how often each animal species appears and the amount of times animal harm or objectification is depicted in over fifty films provides an invaluable resource and addition to scholars working in both Disney and animal studies

An investigation of identity formation in children's literature this book brings together children's literature and recent critical concerns with posthuman identity to argue that children's fiction offers sophisticated interventions into debates about what it means to be human and in particular about humanity's relationship to animals and the natural world In complicating questions of human identity ecology gender and technology Jaques engages with a multifaceted posthumanism to understand how philosophy can emerge from children's fantasy disclosing how such fantasy can build upon earlier traditions to represent complex issues of humanness to younger audiences Interrogating the place of the human through the non human whether animal or mechanical leads this book to have interpretations that radically depart from the critical tradition which in its concerns with the socialization and representation of the child has ignored larger epistemologies of humanness The book considers canonical texts of children's literature alongside recent bestsellers and films locating texts such as Gulliver's Travels 1726 Pinocchio 1883 and the Alice books 1865 1871 as important works in the evolution of posthuman ideas This study provides radical new readings of children's literature and demonstrates that the genre offers sophisticated interventions into the nature boundaries and dominion of humanity
