Housing in the Third World Leslie Kilmartin, Harjinder Singh, 1992

New Models In Geography Richard Peet, Nigel Thrift, 2013-10-11 First published in 1989 It seems such a long time ago another age yet it is a mere twenty odd years since the original Models in Geography was published It is an even shorter time since the first tentative steps were taken towards an alternative formulation of what might constitute a geographical perspective within the social sciences What came to be called the political economy perspective has progressed with remarkable speed and energy to generate its own framework of conceptualization and analysis its own questions and debates The papers in these two volumes are witness to the richness and range of the work which has developed over this relatively short period within the political economy approach Moreover from being a debate within an institutionally defined discipline of geography to introducing into that discipline ideas and discussions from the wider fields of philosophy and social science and the humanities more generally it has now flowered into a consistent part of enquiries that span the entire realm of social studies The Development Process in Small Island States Douglas G. Lockhart, Patrick J. Schembri, David W. Smith, 2002-09-26 First Published in 2004 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company The Postcolonial Question Iain Chambers, Lidia Curti, 2002-09-11 Brings together renowned and emerging critical voices to respond to the questions raised by the concept of the post colonial The contributors explore the diverse cultures which are shaping our global future The Contemporary Caribbean Robert B. Potter, David Barker, Thomas Klak, Denis Conway, 2015-07-17 This text focuses on the contemporary economic social geographical environmental and political realities of the Caribbean region Historical aspects of the Caribbean such as slavery the plantation system and plantocracy are explored in order to explain the contemporary nature of and challenges faced by the Caribbean The book is divided into three parts dealing respectively with the foundations of the Caribbean rural and urban bases of the contemporary Caribbean and global restructuring and the Caribbean industry tourism and politics The City in the Developing World Robert B. Potter, Sally Lloyd-Evans, 2014-09-25 The City in the Developing World is a comprehensive and up to date introduction to urbanisation in developing countries The goal of this text is to place an understanding of the developing world city in its wider global context First this is done by developing the concept of social surplus product as a key to understanding the character of the contemporary Third World city Second throughout this text the city in developing areas is centrally placed in the context of global social economic political and cultural change Thus the important themes of globalisation modernity and postmodernity are examined both in relation to the structure of sets of towns and cities which make up the national or regional urban system and in respect of ideas and concepts dealing with the morphology structure and social patterning of individual urban areas The City in the Developing World is a core text for second and third year undergraduates in the fields of geography development studies planning economics and the social sciences taking options which deal with development issues development theory gender and development and Third World development The Urban Caribbean in an Era of Global Change Robert B. Potter, 2017-03-02 Based on the author's first hand field research this book addresses the twin processes of urbanization and globalization as they affect the contemporary Caribbean region One of the key aims of the book is to focus attention on the fact that contrary to popular perceptions the Caribbean is highly urbanized Indeed statistics show that the region is more highly urbanized than the world taken as a whole In addition the fact that the Caribbean region has always been affected by processes of globalization in respect of its economy polity and society is central to the text The chapters cover pressing topics such as urban change and the evolution of mini metropolitan regions the importance of the mercantile and plantopolis frameworks tourism post modernity and the urban nexus economic change and the dual processes of global convergence and divergence and the nature of the relationships existing between the state the informal sector housing and environmental conditions In reality it is shown that the development of tourism and enclave manufacturing is leading to new forms of urban concentration and not spatial dispersal China's Urbanization Chaolin Gu, 2024-11-19 This book tries to root its exploration of China's urbanization in the very local realities of China from the perspective of urban geography and international urbanization theory. The research is of large scale, full process and boasts the feature of multidimensional and systematic thinking. In order to clearly illustrate the full dimensions of China's urbanization, each chapter presents series of well designed figures and tables to enhance the book's readability and clarity. This book can be used as a reference for scholars and decision makers who are engaged or interested in China's urbanization policy, urban and regional planning and socioeconomic transformation.

Geographers Elizabeth Baigent, André Reyes Novaes, 2022-06-16. The 40th volume of Geographers Biobibliographical Studies focuses exclusively on geographers from the Global South. For the first time in the series' history, the entire volume is devoted to geographers who were born or who lived in South America and is combined with an editorial which roots their lives and careers in the context of the Global South more generally. These geographers' biobibliographies, which consider their personal and professional trajectories and encounters, deepen our understanding of geography as a whole and raise important wider questions of the scope and place of Southern scholarship. This volume includes meticulously detailed volumes on five of the most prominent and ground breaking geographers in the Global South, including the Argentinian geographer Elina González Acha de Correa Morales, who was the first woman to apply for membership of the Argentinean Geographical Institute in 1888 and who played an important role in developing geographical science in Argentina; the Brazilian geographer Bernardino de Souza, active in Brazil in the late nineteenth century as a secretary of the Geographical and Historical Institute of Bahia; the Portuguese scholar Jaime Zuzarte Cortes, Director of the National Library of Portugal who was exiled in Brazil between 1940 and 1957 and greatly influenced research into the exploration and mapping of South America; the Brazilian geographer Josué Apolônio de Castro, who was a member of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organisation's international advisory group on nutrition during the 1940s and the 1950s; and the late twentieth century Brazilian geographer Antônio Carlos Robert Moraes, who was a key figure in the circulation of critical approaches in Brazilian geography. Together, these biobibliographies allow the reader to focus on the Global South as a place of geographical knowledge production, translation and reception, enlarging our discipline's histories. The volume also links the series firmly to wider debates on decolonisation and post colonialism and is the latest manifestation of the editorial drive to broaden the series' reach and impact and to consolidate its place as an important vehicle in narrating geography's international story.

Developing Frontier Cities Harvey Lithwick, Yehuda Gradus, 2013-04-17. The Unique Nature of Frontier Cities and their Development Challenge. Harvey Lithwick and Yehuda Gradus. The advent of government downsizing and globalization has led to enormous competitive pressures as well as the opening of new opportunities. How cities in remote frontier areas might cope with what for them might appear to be a devastating challenge is the subject of this book. Our concern is with frontier cities in particular. In our earlier study Frontiers in Regional Development Rowman and Littlefield 1996 we examined the distinction between frontiers and peripheries. The terms are often used interchangeably but we believe that in fact both in scholarly works and in popular usage very different connotations are conveyed by these concepts Frontiers evoke a strong positive image of sparsely settled territories offering challenges adventure unspoiled natural land scapes and a different and for many an attractive life style Frontiers are lands of opportunity Peripheries conjure up negative images of inaccessibility inadequate services and political and economic marginality They are places to escape from rather than frontiers which is where people escape to Peripheries are places of and for losers

Tourism in the Caribbean David Timothy Duval, 2004-07-31 The Caribbean is one of the premier tourist destinations in the world Changes in travel patterns markets and traveller motivations have brought about considerable growth and dramatic change to the region's tourism sector This book brings together a high calibre team of international researchers to provide an up to date assessment of the scope of tourism and the nature of tourism development in the Caribbean Divided into three parts the book gives an overview of existing tourism trends in the region addresses tourism development issues including sustainability ecotourism heritage tourism community participation management implications and linkages with agriculture considers future trends including an assessment of recent world events and their impacts on tourism in the region and future trends in terms of airlift economic sustainability and markets A valuable resource for students of tourism and Caribbean studies as well as governments and national and regional tourism offices this topical volume brings together excellent contributions to assess and analyze the state of the Caribbean tourism past present and future

Tropical Pathology W. Doerr, G. Seifert, 2012-12-06 Since the first edition more than 10 years ago many new information material about tropical diseases have been collected New technologies were established e g hybridization techniques flow cytometry image analysis telepathology serologic analysis etc The continuous and rapid improvement of tourism in all countries of the world and the increasing emigration of peoples of the developing countries to the old continents have changed the classical image of tropical diseases which are seen with greater frequency in temperate and highly developed countries For these reasons new concepts were necessary for the second edition of the pathology of tropical diseases The 27 chapters are written by well reputed experts in these fields
