West meets East Geoffrey Williams, Mathilde Le Meur, Andrés Echavarría Peláez, 2025-05-27 Lexicography in its many forms is a very old practical discipline solving practical problems concerning word usage The term word seems more appropriate than language in this context as lexicography addresses more questions relating to what we now call lexicology As with all areas of human endeavour what developed gradually through trial and error has eventually been subjected to a theoretical framework The role of historical lexicography is to look back on the development of these highly varied word lists to understand how we arrived at the tremendous variety that characterises practice throughout the world This volume is both a selection of expanded papers from one conference on historical lexicography and lexicology held under the aegis of the International Society for Historical Lexicography and Lexicology ISHLL in Lorient France in May 2022 and also the first in a new book series dedicated to the field The new series represents a collaboration between two sister associations ISHLL and the Helsinki Society for Historical Lexicography HSHL The volume contains texts in both English and French that provide insights into dictionaries their compilers and users using evidence from numerous languages across the globe It is also diachronic moving from topics on medieval usage to contemporary issues concerning open access and digital publishing in historical lexicography The title reflects the global scope of its authors and content encompassing Japan to the United States Eastern Europe to the United Kingdom and Portugal

The Character of a Trimmer and Other Writings George Savile Halifax (Marquess of), 2025 A new edition of the works of the Marquis of Halifax 1633 1695 one of the greatest statesmen of late seventeenth century England His writing on political activity on Charles II on the role of women in society and his thoughts on morality and human nature are presented in this volume in a new modernized text

Inventing Maternity Susan C. Greenfield, Carol Barash, 2021-10-21 Not until the eighteenth century was the image of the tender full time mother invented This image retains its power today Inventing Maternity demonstrates that despite its association with an increasingly standardized set of values motherhood remained contested terrain Drawing on feminist cultural and postcolonial theory Inventing Maternity surveys a wide range of sources medical texts political tracts religious doctrine poems novels slave narratives conduct books and cookbooks The first half of the volume covering the mid seventeenth to the late eighteenth centuries considers central debates about fetal development pregnancy breastfeeding and childbearing The second half covering the late eighteenth to the mid nineteenth centuries charts a historical shift to the regulation of reproduction as maternity is increasingly associated with infanticide population control poverty and colonial national and racial instability In her introduction Greenfield provides a historical overview of early modern interpretations of maternity She concludes with a consideration of their impact on current debates about reproductive rights and technologies child custody and the cycles of poverty Women and Politeness in Eighteenth-Century England Soile Ylivuori, 2018-10-29 This first in depth study of women s politeness examines the complex relationship individuals had with the discursive ideals of polite femininity Contextualising women s autobiographical writings journals and letters with a wide range of eighteenth century printed didactic material it analyses the tensions between politeness discourse which aimed to regulate acceptable feminine identities and women s possibilities to resist this disciplinary regime Ylivuori focuses on the central role the female body played as both the means through which individuals actively fashioned themselves as polite and feminine and the supposedly truthful expression of their inner status of polite femininity Narrating Marriage in Eighteenth-Century England and France Chris Roulston, 2016-04-22 In the eighteenth century when the definition of marriage was shifting from one based on an hierarchical model to one based on notions of love and mutuality marital life came under a more intense cultural scrutiny This led to paradoxical forms of representation of marriage as simultaneously ideal and unlivable Chris Roulston analyzes how as representations of married life increased they challenged the traditional courtship model offering narratives based on repetition rather than progression Beginning with English and French marital advice literature which appropriated novelistic conventions at the same time that it cautioned readers about the dangers of novel reading she looks at representations of ideal marriages in Pamela II and The New Heloise Moving on from these ideal domestic spaces bourgeois marriage is then problematized by the discourse of empire in Sir George Ellison and Letters of Mistress Henley by troublesome wives in works by Richardson and Samuel de Constant and by abusive husbands in works by Haywood Edgeworth Genlis and Restif de la Bretonne Finally the alternative marriage narrative in which the adultery motif is incorporated into the marriage itself redefines the function of heteronormativity In exploring the theoretical issues that arise during this transitional period for married life and the marriage plot Roulston expands the debates around the evolution of the modern couple The Annotated Northanger Abbey Jane Austen, David M.
