Endorsed by Jack Chapeau Ted Pelton, Theodore Pelton, 2006 Endorsed by Jack Chapeau 2 an Even Greater Extent adds seven new pieces to Pelton's original collection Endorsed by Jack Chapeau Ted Pelton, Theodore Pelton, 2000 Fiction A man slowly loses everything to his pushy guitar playing roommate Bobby Fischer hears Lenin coming out of the mouth of Buddy Ebsen But to focus on individual moments like these in Theodore Pelton's debut collection of stories is to deny the dreamlike quality with which images shift on and off our mental screens The effect generated by these pieces is nearly visceral powerful and not easily forgotten one of the most potent experiences I've had reading literature Cris Mazza This masterful kaleidoscopic hall of mirrors is a vivid tableau from our multiple life's other side No joke folks These are the echoes about two minutes after the initial blast And you thought it was beer Lucky you've got Ted Pelton minding the store Robert Creeley Behind the Lines Philip Metres, 2007-05 Whether Thersites in Homer's Iliad Wilfred Owen in Dulce et Decorum Est or Allen Ginsberg in Wichita Vortex Sutra poets have long given solitary voice against the brutality of war The hasty cancellation of the 2003 White House symposium Poetry and the American Voice in the face of protests by Sam Hamill and other invited guests against the coming shock and awe campaign in Iraq reminded us that poetry and poets still have the power to challenge the powerful Behind the Lines investigates American war resistance poetry from the Second World War through the Iraq wars Rather than simply chronicling the genre Philip Metres argues that this poetry gets to the heart of who is authorized to speak about war and how it can be represented As such he explores a largely neglected area of scholarship the poet's relationship to dissenting political movements and the nation In his elegant study Metres examines the ways in which war resistance is registered not only in terms of its content but also at the level of the lyric He proposes that protest poetry constitutes a subgenre that by virtue of its preoccupation with politics history and trauma probes the limits of American lyric poetry Thus war resistance poetry and the role of what Shelley calls unacknowledged legislators is a crucial though largely unexamined body of writing that stands at the center of dissident political movements Fiction International 39 Harold Jaffe, 2006 Woman with Dark Horses Aimee Parkison, 2004 Painted in reds blues and blacks here are twelve stories from a writer we are sure to be hearing from for a long time to come Aimee Parkison In her debut collection we see drifters and sad children bar floozies and a cowboy psychologist a tattooed woman and a pair of increasingly unidentical twins But this is no sideshow played for cheap thrills What comes through most clearly is the dignity of real characters pain and the innovativeness of a writer who never sells short the people she creates Raw loosely sewn and sinuous Women with Dark Horses is a formidable debut The Man in the Stretcher Kenneth Bernard, 2005 Fiction THE MAN IN THE STRETCHER brings together 40 previously uncollected stories by this avant garde playwright poet and fictionist one of the most relentlessly and funnily experimental writers of our time Kenneth Bernard is one of the most gloriously antic fiction writers we possess Think of Salvador Dali or Giorgio de Chirico having written stories instead of painting and you are half way there His pages have simultaneously awed and delighted me for years David Markson
