Bureau of Missing Persons Roger J. Porter,2011-05-06 A devoted reader of autobiographies and memoirs Roger J Porter has observed in recent years a surprising number of memoirs by adult children whose fathers have led secret lives Some of the fathers had second families some had secret religious lives others have been criminals liars or con men Struck by the intensely human drama of secrecy and deception played out for all to see Porter explores the phenomenon in great depth In Bureau of Missing Persons he examines a large number of these works eighteen in all placing them in a wide literary and cultural context and considering the ethical quandaries writers face when they reveal secrets so long and closely held Among the books Porter treats are Paul Auster s The Invention of Solitude Alison Bechdel s graphic memoir Fun Home Essie Mae Washington Williams s Dear Senator on her father Strom Thurmond Bliss Broyard s One Drop Mary Gordon s The Shadow Man and

Geoffrey Wolff's The Duke of Deception He also discusses Nathaniel Kahn's documentary film My Architect These narratives inevitably look inward to the writer as well as outward to the parent The autobiographical children are compelled if not consumed by a desire to know They become detectives piecing together clues to fill memory voids assembling material and archival evidence public and private documents letters photographs and iconic physical objects to track down the parent

Naming the Father Eva Paulino Bueno, Terry Caesar, William Hummel, 2000-01-01 Naming the Father is a collection of essays on the subject of fatherhood its enduring power its secret ruses its unsettling provocations Despite the considerable critical attention devoted to motherhood in literature and despite the late twentieth century focus on patriarchy there is surprisingly no comparable collection on fatherhood This volume was born of the conclusion that critics of modern and contemporary literature may comprehend the father too little for presuming to have comprehended patriarchy so much Naming the Father begins with a series of nonfiction essays that attempts to locate the missing father in the individual experiences of three scholars at various stages of their careers The following thematically grouped sections recover and discuss fatherhood in fields ranging from Caribbean fiction to African American drama and in the work of authors as diverse as Rebecca West Anzia Yeziarska William Burroughs and Stephen Wright as well as Henry James and James Joyce A variety of critical approaches from biographical to deconstructive activate and engage with the cultural national and global implications of fatherhood for the family and for the future of literary studies Scholars and students of contemporary literature cultural studies and gender studies will find this book a fascinating and invaluable collection This is Our

Writing T. F. Rigelhof, 2000 Punctuate his title as you like but T F Rigelhof considers This is Our Writing a declaration an enquiry and an exclamation As a writer of half a dozen a reviewer of dozens upon dozens and as a reader of a multitude more books Terry Rigelhof knows much about writing in Canada In these eleven essays he asks what is best in what has been written by Canadians in the twentieth century He examines selected works of some writers whose accomplishments need serious reevaluation What are the real achievements of Robertson Davies Carole Corbeil Mavis Gallant Mordecai Richler Hugh Hood Leonard Cohen and George Grant Rigelhof comes up with a list that will surprise some and dismay others This is a book for readers who have always known in their heart of hearts that Robertson Davies was an egregious windbag and that underneath the inspired silliness of their carefully contrived and managed public images Mordecai Richler and Leonard Cohen have produced three of the most intelligent novels we have In a sequence of interlocking personal essays Rigelhof explores living a writerly life in Canada at the end of the twentieth century The text is fortified by a dozen photographs all but one previously unpublished by Gabor Szilasi one of Canada's greatest active documentary photographers The Promise of Progressivism James M. Wallace, 2006 Textbook Canadian Literature in English W. J. Keith, 2006 W J Keith has chosen to ignore utterly both the popular at the one extreme Robert Service Lucy Maud Montgomery as well as the avant garde at the other bpnichol Anne Carson in favour of those authors whose style lends itself to the simple pleasure of reading and to that end Keith dedicates his history to all those including those of the general reading public whose endangered status is much lamented who recognize and celebrate the dance of words Time Lord Clark

Blaise, 2011-07-27 It is difficult today to imagine life before standard time was established in 1884 In the middle of the nineteenth century for example there were 144 official time zones in North America alone The confusion that ensued especially among the burgeoning railroad companies was an hourly comedy of errors that ultimately threatened to impede progress The creation of standard time with its two dozen global time zones is one of the great inventions of the Victorian Era yet it has been largely taken for granted In Time Lord Clark Blaise re creates the life of Sanford Fleming who struggled to convince the world to accept standard time It s a fascinating story of science politics nationalism and the determined vision of one man who changed the world Set in a time marked by substantial technological and cultural transformation Time Lord is also an erudite exploration of art literature consciousness and our changing relationship to time Writing Elena L.

Rudolph,Susanne Hoeber Rudolph,2010-07-15 Gandhi with his loincloth and walking stick seems an unlikely advocate of postmodernism But in Postmodern Gandhi Lloyd and Susanne Rudolph portray him as just that in eight thought provoking essays that aim to correct the common association of Gandhi with traditionalism Combining core sections of their influential book Gandhi The Traditional Roots of Charisma with substantial new material the Rudolphs reveal here that Gandhi was able to revitalize tradition while simultaneously breaking with some of its entrenched values and practices Exploring his influence both in India and abroad they tell the story of how in London the young activist was shaped by the antimodern other West of Ruskin Tolstoy and Thoreau and how a generation later a mature Gandhi's thought and action challenged modernity's hegemony. Moreover, the Rudolphs argue that Gandhi's critique of modern civilization in his 1909 book Hind Swaraj was an opening salvo of the postmodern era and that his theory and practice of nonviolent collective action satyagraha articulate and exemplify a postmodern understanding of situational truth. This radical interpretation of Gandhi's life will appeal to anyone who wants to understand Gandhi's relevance in this century as well as students and scholars of politics, history, charismatic leadership, and postcolonialism.

Blessed Assurance: A Postmodern Midwestern Life Marcelline Hutton, 2019-10. In this book, a historian of women's lives turns the lens on her own experience. Her story is Midwestern for its work ethic, modesty, faith, and resilience; postmodern for its sudden changes, strange juxtapositions, and retrospective deconstruction of the ideologies that shaped its progress. It describes a life in and out of academia and a search for acceptance, recognition, equality, and freedom. The author of three books on women's experiences in Russia and Europe, Dr. Marcelline Hutton traces her personal journey from traditional working class La Porte, Indiana, through college, graduate school, marriage, motherhood, divorce, and independence in Iowa City, Southampton, Kansas City, El Paso, and ultimately Lithuania. She arrives at a place of blessed assurance, recognizing who she was, what she has done, and what she most valued. The book is a testimony of life found and treasured and shared. We are privileged to see her world through this honest, perceptive, and insightful recollection.
