

Mercury is the planet closest to our Sun. It is a small, rocky planet much like our Moon. It is covered with craters and has changed very little from when it was first formed. You can see Mercury with binoculars or with your eyes.

Mercury

Venus is the second planet from the Sun. Because Venus is so similar to Earth, we sometimes call it Earth's "sister planet." Most of Venus' surface consists of gently rolling plains. It is the brightest "star" in the sky.

Venus

Earth is the third planet from the Sun. 71 % of the Earth's surface is covered with water. Earth is the only planet on which water can exist in liquid form on the surface. Besides being the most interesting and unique of all the planets, our Earth is also the most beautiful.

Earth

Mars is the fourth planet from the Sun. It is often referred to as the Red Planet. Meteor craters show that it used to have water. The southern part of Mars is mostly desert, cratered highlands. The northern part consists mostly of plains.

Mars

Jupiter is the fifth planet from the Sun and is the largest. Jupiter does not have a solid surface due to its gaseous composition. The white and bands we see are the tops of clouds high in its atmosphere. Jupiter has faint rings like Saturn's, but much smaller.

Jupiter

Saturn is the sixth planet from the Sun and the second largest. Saturn's nine beautiful rings are made of ice particles, some rocks and dust. Saturn is mainly composed of hydrogen and helium and does not have a solid surface. Sixty-two moons orbit the planet.

Saturn

Uranus is the seventh planet from the Sun. Uranus' blue colour is the result of a gas called "methane". It has no solid surface. Like the other gas planets, Uranus has rings. Uranus' rings are very dark like Jupiter's rings.

Uranus

Neptune is the eighth planet from the Sun. Its blue colour is the result of a gas called "methane". Neptune has rapid winds trapped in "bands" which are the fastest in the solar system, reaching 2000 km/hour! Neptune also has very dark and very faint rings.

The Jesus Ultimatum Gerard Brooker, 2010-03. The Jesus Ultimatum is the hope of humanity, the last chance for salvation. Five troubled families in a New York City apartment house have been asked by the Son of God to have greater faith in the Father, who has become disillusioned with the state of affairs on earth. He conveys his ultimatum via letters delivered by Francis, the mailman who is working through a divorce and an identity crisis. There is a problem: God, the Father, though he never stops loving, is losing his own faith in mankind. When each of the five families rejects the divine gift, God threatens to usher in the Apocalypse. Protesting their capacity to follow in the faithful footsteps of Abraham, Francis now carries the burden of trying to convince the Father to stay his hand. In the process of doing this, a remarkable thing happens to the families, and God forever changes the relationship between deity and humanity forever.
