Libraries In The 90s:

Libraries in the '90s Donald E. Riggs, Gordon A. Sabine, 1988-07-18 Libraries in the 90s What the Leaders Expect presents a variety of always thoughtful and sometimes varied and even contradictory projections about the future of librarianship in America It is sure to stimulate additional useful dialog among library leaders and library users Library Preservation and Conservation in the '90s Jean I. Whiffin, John Havermans, 2013-02-07 The International Federation of Library Associations and Institutions IFLA is the leading international body representing the interests of library and information services and their users It is the global voice of the information profession The series IFLA Publications deals with many of the means through which libraries information centres and information professionals worldwide can formulate their goals exert their influence as a group protect their interests and find solutions to global problems Library in the 90's Chengjian Sun, Bingxin Jiang, 1993 School Library Reference Services in the 90s Carol Truett, 1994 Here is a succinct update on school library reference services for the busy practitioner or student Exploring the state and state of the art of school library reference services in the 1990s this book provides an overview of current information skills teaching models the impact of new technologies on the teaching of reference and the student search process and assessment and evaluation models for gauging the success of school reference services School Library Reference Services in the 90s is an informative guide for school media coordinators and specialists library science graduate students and professors and researchers in the field to help them understand what students must learn and what teachers must teach to keep everyone up to date in the fast changing world of reference School Library Reference Services in the 90s is divided into three sections that cover reference research teaching models technology and evaluation Topics in the first section include an examination of the current state of affairs in reference teaching a look at various models for integrating library research and reference skills into the curricula and discussions of the effects of these new models on the school librarian's role Section two addresses the profound effect new technologies such as CD ROM multimedia CD I and CD TV are having on both the teaching of reference and information skills and on the entire research process from initiation to production of the final student report The last section presents three models for assessing the effectiveness of school reference services and skills instruction School library reference services and particularly library instruction are changing dramatically in the 1990s as a result of the information age School Library Reference Services in the 90s helps professionals in the field stay abreast of current developments and be more effective in their jobs The Academic Library of the 90s Rashelle S. Karp, 1994-12-12 The end of the 1980s and the beginning of the 1990s have been a time of great change for academic libraries and librarians Rapid developments in technology have revolutionized the libraries means and mission while declining budgets have adversely impacted the ability of librarians to carry out their roles The literature of academic librarianship today reflects these changes and points to the direction in which academic libraries are headed This book is a comprehensive guide to book chapters and articles written on academic librarianship between 1990 and 1993 Entries for nearly 1 700 works are grouped in six topical chapters for ease of use Each entry includes an informative annotation that summarizes the key points made by the authors the major findings of research projects and the names and locations of libraries with innovative programs Extensive author article book journal title and subject indexes conclude the work The volume is a useful tool for locating specific information on various topics and it is a forecast of the future of academic libraries

Resource Strategies in the 90s Annette Melville,1994 In 1992 the Association of Research Libraries ARL surveyed administrators in member libraries regarding resource strategies of the previous three years This paper summarizes revenue activities adaptive tactics and budgetary practices reported by 87 Canadian U S private and U S public university libraries and establishes a baseline for comparing these factors The period from 1990 to 1992 has been a difficult one for ARL members with the largest reductions in public support experienced by public university libraries All respondents sought outside revenues to supplement their campus allocations Virtually every responding library had experienced some form of internal restructuring and three of every five had eliminated positions over the three year survey period Administrators valued flexibility in fund reallocation very highly but few had much control over carrying unspent funds to the next year While 88% of respondents expected the demand for services to grow only 32% anticipated budget increases Greater selectivity in activities and greater library sharing are likely to result from the economic realities Three appendixes contain the survey summary results the cover letter and the questionnaire Contains 33 references SLD
