Light in August William Faulkner William Faulkner, 1932 The novel is set in the American South in the 1930s during the time of Prohibition and Jim Crow laws that legalized racial segregation in the South It begins with the journey of Lena Grove a young pregnant white woman from Doane's Mill Alabama who is trying to find Lucas Burch the father of her unborn child He has been fired from his job in Doane's Mill and moved to Mississippi promising to send word to her when he has a new job Not hearing from Burch and harassed by her older brother for her illegitimate pregnancy Lena walks and hitchhikes to Jefferson Mississippi a town in Faulkner's fictional Yoknapatawpha County There she expects to find Lucas working at another planing mill ready to marry her Those who help her along her four week trek are skeptical that Lucas Burch will be found or that he will keep his promise when she catches up with him When she arrives in Jefferson Lucas is there but he has changed his name to Joe Brown Looking for Lucas sweet trusting Lena meets shy mild mannered Byron Bunch who falls in love with Lena but feels honor bound to help her find Joe Brown Thoughtful and quietly religious Byron is superior to Brown in every way but his shyness prevents him from revealing his feelings to Lena The novel then switches to the second plot strand the story of Lucas Burch Joe Brown's partner Joe Christmas The surly psychopathic Christmas has been on the run for years ever since at least injuring perhaps even killing his strict Presbyterian adopted father Although he has light skin Christmas suspects that he is of African American ancestry Consumed with rage he is a bitter outcast who wanders between black and white society constantly provoking fights with blacks and whites alike Christmas comes to Jefferson three years prior to the central events of the novel and gets a job at the mill where Byron and later Joe Brown work The job at the mill is a cover for Christmas's bootlegging operation which is illegal under Prohibition He has a sexual relationship with Joanna Burden an older woman who descended from a formerly powerful abolitionist family whom the town despises as carpetbaggers Though their relationship is passionate at first Joanna begins menopause and turns to religion which frustrates and angers Christmas At the end of her relationship with Christmas Joanna tries to force him at gunpoint to kneel and pray Joanna is murdered soon after her throat is slit and she is nearly decapitated

German Literature of the Twentieth Century Ingo Roland Stoehr,2001 Traces literary developments in the German speaking countries from 1900 to the present This study of German literature in the past hundred years sets its subject clearly in the artistic and political context of developments in Western Europe during the century It begins with the turn of the century aestheticism and visions of decay led by Schnitzler Hofmannsthal and other Austrian writers and the quite different explosion of new artistic energy in the Expressionist and Dada movements These movements are succeeded by the rise of Modernism culminating in the inter war years the poetry of Rilke Brecht s epic theatre and novels by Thomas Mann Kafka Hesse Musil Doblin and Broch the influence of Nazism on literary production is considered The study of developments after 1945 reflects the struggle to establish a post Holocaust literature and to deal with the questions posed by the political division of Germany Finally the convergence of East and West German literature after unification is addressed Ingo R Stoehr teaches literature at Kilgore College Texas and is editor of the bilingual journal of German literature in English translation Dimension2
