Endangered Daughters Discrimination And Development In Asia:

Endangered Daughters Elizabeth Croll, 2002-01-04 This unique and groundbreaking book seeks to refocus gender debate onto the issue of daughter discrimination a phenomenon still hidden and unacknowledged across the world It asks the controversial question of why millions of girls do not appear to be surviving to adulthood in contemporary Asia In the first major study available of this emotive and sensitive issue Elisabeth Croll investigates the extent of discrimination against female children in Asia and shifts the focus of attention firmly from son preference to daughter discrimination This book brings together demographic data and anthropological field studies to reveal the multiple ways in which girls are disadvantaged from excessive child mortality to the withholding of health care and education on the basis of gender Focusing especially on China and India the book reveals the surprising coincidence of increasing daughter discrimination with rising economic development declining fertility and the generally improved status of women in East and South Asia Essential reading for all those interested in gender in contemporary society

Endangered Daughters Elisabeth Croll, 2000 This work asks the controversial question of why millions of girls do not appear to be surviving to adulthood in contemporary Asia It shifts the focus of attention firmly from son preference to daughter discrimination

Transforming Unequal Gender Relations in India and Beyond Saroj Pachauri, Ravi K. Verma, 2023-09-08 This book offers a unique intersectional perspective on gender equality SDG5 It presents an intersection of gender with caste class region ethnic and sexual identities and other structural drivers of inequalities in various development sectors It presents case studies and empirical findings from development practice and policymaking and highlights the challenges to implementing SDG5 in practice It discusses policies to promote gender equality and prevent violence against women and girls and women in decision making and leadership positions The chapters restate that gender equality is possible only if unequal gender norms are transformed to recognize women and girls as independent economic entities and not merely homemakers providing unpaid care It also analyzes to deconstruct the idea of monolithic masculinity to recognize gender diversity and men's role in providing care The book shows how much has been achieved yet how far is also left to go It is an essential reference point for researchers policymakers students and scholars across gender studies women's studies and sociology

An Anthropology of Biomedicine Margaret M. Lock, Vinh-Kim Nguyen, 2018-03-20 In this fully revised and updated second edition of An Anthropology of Biomedicine authors Lock and Nguyen introduce biomedicine from an anthropological perspective exploring the entanglement of material bodies with history environment culture and politics Drawing on historical and ethnographic work the book critiques the assumption made by the biological sciences of a universal human body that can be uniformly standardized It focuses on the ways in which the application of biomedical technologies brings about radical changes to societies at large based on socioeconomic inequalities and ethical disputes and develops and integrates the theory that the human body in health and illness is not an ontological given but a moveable malleable entity This second edition includes new chapters on microbiology and the microbiome global health and the self as a socio technical system In addition all chapters have been comprehensively revised to take account of developments from within this fast paced field in the intervening years between publications References and figures have also been updated throughout This highly regarded and award winning textbook Winner of the 2010 Prose Award for Archaeology and Anthropology retains the character and features of the previous edition Its coverage remains broad including discussion of biomedical technologies in practice anthropologies of medicine biology and human experiments infertility and assisted reproduction genomics epigenomics and uncertain futures and molecularizing racial difference ensuring it remains the essential text for students of anthropology medical anthropology as well as public and global health Handbook of Development Policy Studies Gedeon M. The Greenwood Encyclopedia of

Children's Issues Worldwide Irving Epstein, 2007-12-30 From the skyrocketing AIDS rate in Haiti to the oppressive pollution in industrial China from the violent street culture of Nigeria to the crippling poverty in Nicaragua from child trafficking in Thailand to child marriages in India this jam packed six volume set explores all these issues and more in an unprecedented look at the world's children at the dawn of the 21st century In recent years while many countries have enjoyed a higher standard of living and improved working conditions others have been torn apart by war and incapacitated by famine and are struggling to improve life for their children and their future Recent concern over the world's children has resulted in a global attempt to define what constitutes an acceptable childhood New attention has been paid not only to healthcare and secondary education but also to the right to play and increased access to technology The UN's codification of children's rights has done much to expand our understanding of what is needed for healthy growth and development of children and youth Organized by region The Greenwood Encyclopedia of Children's Issues Worldwide is the first globally focused set of this magnitude offering extensive up to date coverage of these critical issues Original chapters accessibly synthesize current data on key topics including education play and recreation child labor family health laws and legal status religious life abuse and neglect and growing up in the 21st century

Reproductive Justice Joan C. Chrisler, 2012-02-13 Every woman in the world has the right to control her own body plan her family receive good quality medical care and give birth to a healthy baby This book takes a comprehensive look at the status of women's reproductive rights from a transnational human rights perspective Reproductive justice is a relatively new term that underscores the fact that the existence of reproductive rights does not mean that women are able to exercise those rights For women unable to exercise their rights for any number of reasons a lack of available services where they live lack of money or health insurance to pay for services being forbidden by family members to seek services the reality is they have no choices to make and possess little if any control over their own bodies regardless of what the government states their rights are Reproductive Justice A Global Concern provides a comprehensive and integrated examination of the status of reproductive rights for the world's women covering a wide range of reproductive rights issues Topics include women's rights to determine their own sexuality and choose their own partners rape sex trafficking fertility treatments and other assisted reproductive technologies contraception and abortion maternal and infant mortality postpartum support and breastfeeding

Our Posthuman Future Francis Fukuyama, 2003-05-01 In 1989 Francis Fukuyama made his now famous pronouncement that because the major alternatives to liberal democracy had exhausted themselves history as we knew it had reached its end Ten years later he revised his argument we hadn't reached the end of history he wrote because we hadn't yet reached the end of science Arguing that our greatest advances still to come will be in the life sciences Fukuyama now asks how the ability to modify human behavior will affect liberal democracy To re-orient contemporary debate Fukuyama underlines man's changing understanding of human nature through history from Plato and Aristotle's belief that man had natural ends to the ideals of utopians and dictators of the modern age who sought to remake mankind for ideological ends Fukuyama persuasively argues that the ultimate prize of the biotechnology revolution intervention in the germ line the ability to manipulate the DNA of all of one person s descendents will have profound and potentially terrible consequences for our political order even if undertaken by ordinary parents seeking to improve their children In Our Posthuman Future our greatest social philosopher begins to describe the potential effects of exploration on the foundation of liberal democracy the belief that human beings are equal by nature

Drowning Girls in China D. E. Mungello, 2008-06-27 This groundbreaking book offers the first full analysis of the long neglected and controversial subject of female infanticide in China Although infanticide and child abandonment were worldwide phenomena from antiquity down to the nineteenth century when massive numbers of children were still being abandoned in Europe China was unique in targeting girls almost exclusively Yet despite its persistence for two thousand years little has been published on a practice that is deeply sensitive within China and little understood by outsiders Drawing on little known Chinese documents and illustrations noted historian D E Mungello describes the causes and continuation of female infanticide since 1650 despite efforts by Confucian moralists Buddhist teachings government officials and even imperial edicts to stop the practice The arrival of Christian missionaries led to foreign involvement as well with Catholic priests baptizing abandoned and dying infants in Nanjing and Beijing beginning in the early 1600s Mission efforts peaked in the nineteenth century when the European based Society of the Holy Childhood urged Catholic children to contribute their pennies to help neglected children in China However most of the infant victims were drowned at birth in the privacy of their homes thereby escaping the scrutiny of the law and the public Mungello brings this secretive practice to light with a nuanced and balanced analysis of the cultural economic and social causes of early infanticide and its contemporary manifestation in sex selected abortion as a result of the government s one child policy Presenting female infanticide as a human rather than a distinctly Chinese problem he estimates the tragic loss of girls in the millions

Planning Families in Nepal Jan Brunson, 2016-03-29 Based on almost a decade of research in the Kathmandu Valley Planning Families in Nepal offers a compelling account of Hindu Nepali women as they face conflicting global and local ideals regarding family planning Promoting a two child norm global family planning programs have disseminated the slogan A small family is a happy family throughout the global South Jan Brunson examines how two generations of Hindu Nepali women negotiate this global message of a two child family and a more local need to produce a son Brunson explains that while women did not prefer sons to daughters they recognized that in the dominant patrilocal family system their daughters would eventually marry and be lost to other households As a result despite recent increases in educational and career opportunities for daughters mothers still hoped for a son who would bring a daughter in law into the family and care for his aging parents Mothers worried about whether their modern rebellious sons would fulfill their filial duties but ultimately those sons demonstrated an enduring commitment to living with their aging parents In the context of rapid social change related to national politics as well as globalization a constant influx of new music clothes gadgets and even governments the sons viewed the multigenerational family as a refuge Throughout Planning Families in Nepal Brunson raises important questions about the notion of planning when applied to family formation arguing that reproduction is better understood as a set of local and global ideals that involve actors with desires and actions with constraints wrought with delays stalling and improvisation
