Firms of Endearment Rajendra Sisodia, David Wolfe, Jagdish N. Sheth, 2003-01-30 Today's best companies get it. From Costco to Commerce Bank, Wegmans to Whole Foods, they're becoming the ultimate value creators. They're generating every form of value that matters: emotional, experiential, social, and financial. And they're doing it for all their stakeholders. Not because it's politically correct, because it's the only path to long-term competitive advantage. These are the Firms of Endearment. Companies people love doing business with. Love partnering with. Love working for. Love investing in. Companies for whom loyalty isn't just real, it's palpable and driving unbeatable advantages in everything from marketing to recruitment. You need to become one of those companies. This book will show you how. You'll find specific practical guidance on transforming every relationship you have with customers, associates, partners, investors, and society. If you want to be great, truly great, this is your blueprint. We're entering an Age of Transcendence as people increasingly search for higher meaning in their lives, not just more possessions. This is transforming the marketplace, the workplace, the very soul of capitalism. Increasingly, today's most successful companies are bringing love, joy, authenticity, empathy, and soulfulness into their businesses; they are delivering emotional, experiential, and social value, not just profits. Firms of Endearment illuminates this, the most fundamental transformation in capitalism since Adam Smith. It's not about corporate social responsibility; it's about building companies that can sustain success in a radically new era. It's about great companies like IDEO and IKEA, Commerce Bank and Costco, Wegmans and Whole Foods, how they earn the powerful loyalty and affection that enables truly breathtaking performance. This book is about gaining share of heart, not just share of wallet. It's about aligning stakeholders' interests, not just juggling them. It's about building companies that leave the world a better place. Most of all, it's about why you must do all this or risk being left in the dust and how to get there from wherever you are now.

The Postemotional Bully Stjepan Mestrovic, 2014-12-15 The topics of bullying and hazing have sparked interest and discussion in recent years. Hazing is a crime in the United States, and Western nations have made efforts to stamp out bullying in schools, the workplace, and institutions. However, for the most part, bullying and hazing are ill-defined and lack theoretical perspective. Mestrovic brings classical as well as contemporary social theory to bear on this discussion. Thorstein Veblen defined the predatory barbarian as the social type enshrined by modernity who prefers to use force over peaceable means to achieve ends. On the other extreme, Marcel Mauss wrote about the spirit of the gift and its obligations to give, to receive, and to reciprocate as the fundamental basis of social life. Yet he argued that the spirit of modernity was disappearing with the progress of modernity. Mestrovic traces this fundamental opposition between barbaric force or bullying versus benign obligation, that is, the spirit of the gift, through a host of modernist and postmodernist thinkers and theories. He introduces the concept of the postemotional bully as an alternative to both of these major bodies of social theory. The postemotional bully as a social type is fungible, beset by screen images on media and social media that are isolating and is at the mercy of the peer group. Case studies focus on bullying and hazing specifically the cases of an American soldier who committed suicide in Afghanistan instances of torture at Abu Ghraib and the murder of a 23 year old African American inmate in a Southern state prison in the US

The Path of 8 Amber Christensen, 2015-07-07 In 2002 Amber Christensen was brutally bitten by a dog while traveling through Argentina. She was forced to change her travel plans which led her to Aconcagua, the highest mountain in the Southern Hemisphere where she met a handsome and charming Argentine mountain guide named Fede. After spending only three days together, the two had fallen deeply in love. They embarked upon a bicontinental life together lit by love and adventure fraught with challenges and darkened by senseless tragedy. After only three years of marriage, Fede was caught in a storm on the summit of the same mountain where their love story had begun. A torturous search and rescue effort ensued, ultimately ending in his death. A video later surfaced which revealed that the rescue attempt had been negligent. In the wake of Fede's untimely passing, Amber was forced to face the mountain that had both blessed and cursed her life and to find a way to create meaning and purpose from insurmountable loss. This is a story of love, death, and moving mountains. Christensen recounts her journey of bicultural love and grief which brings her back again and again to a twisting mountain trail that offers her transformation, transcendence, and an ultimate acceptance that in any language, culture, or moment, comprender la muerte es comprender la vida—to understand death is to understand life.

Berit Olam: The Song of Songs Dianne Bergant, 2023-06-10 Among all of the books of the First Testament, the Song of Songs is one of the most intriguing. On the one hand, its unabashed sensuality has captured the imagination and has endeared it to those who appreciate passionate human love. On the other hand, more demure readers have frequently been chagrined by their own fascination with its erotic character and have cloaked their interest under the guise of metaphorical reading. Both interpretations of the Song of Songs have been endorsed. Down through the ages, both Jewish and Christian interpreters have delighted in the exquisite imagery of the book's songs, but they have also frequently reverted to allegory in their interpretations. This commentary views the Song as a collection of love poems and carefully examines features of Hebrew poetry in order to uncover the delicacy of their expression. It is unique not only in the attention that it gives to the obvious feminine perspective of the poems but in their ecosensitive character. Although it is a tribute to mutual love, the principal frame of reference is the amorous disposition of the woman. Her words open and close the Song, and her voice is dominant throughout. The imagery that the lovers use is drawn from nature. Whether it is the woman in awe of the strength and splendor of her lover or the man glorifying her physical charms, the descriptions all call on elements from the natural world to characterize the feature being described. Whatever they experience or know or even desire is somehow rooted in the natural world. Chapters are: Superscription, Mutual Yearning 1:2-2:7, An Opportunity Lost Then Found 2:8-3:5, Ravished By Beauty 3:6-5:1, One of a Kind 5:2-6:3, The Admiration of all over 6:4-8:4, and Love Affirmed 8:5-8:14.
