

A man and a woman are walking across a wide, paved city plaza. The man, on the left, is wearing a dark coat and holding a book. The woman, on the right, is wearing a light-colored coat. In the background, there is a modern building with large glass windows and a dark metal frame. The scene is captured in a cinematic style with soft lighting.

Engaging Geopolitics:

Engaging Geopolitics Kathleen Braden, F.M. Shelley, 2014-09-11 Engaging Geopolitics provides a comprehensive introduction to the influence of geography, demography and economics on politics and international relations in the world in which we live today. The authors' expressed aim is to make geopolitics more accessible to undergraduate students with the hope that the book will be an ideal starting point for those who will be moving vertically into more advanced courses in political geography or laterally into other concerns of international affairs. Revista Geopolitica, Popular Culture,

Geopolitics, and Identity Jason Dittmer, Daniel Bos, 2019-03-19 Now in a thoroughly revised edition, this innovative and engaging text surveys the field of popular geopolitics, exploring the relationship between popular culture and international relations from a geographical perspective. Jason Dittmer and Daniel Bos connect global issues with the questions of identity and subjectivity that we feel as individuals, arguing that who we think we are influences how we understand the world. Building on the strengths of the first edition, each chapter focuses on a specific theme such as representation, audience and affect, by explaining the concept and then outlining some of the emerging debates that have revolved around it. New and updated case studies, including heritage and social media, help illustrate the significance of the concepts and capture the ways popular culture shapes our understandings of geopolitics within everyday life. Students will enjoy the text's accessibility and colorful examples, and instructors will appreciate the way the book brings together a diverse multidisciplinary literature and makes it understandable and relevant. Contested Worlds Martin Phillips, 2017-09-29

Contested Worlds provides an introduction both to a multitude of geographical worlds which are currently being actively constructed and contested and to a range of different perspectives on these worlds being adopted and contested by geographers. It is unique in its focus on the role of contestation in both the construction of geographical studies and in the geographies these studies seek to address. These issues are explored through a combination of general theoretical discussion and detailed international case studies. The areas discussed range in scale from the global through the regional and national to the local worlds of the inner city, the neighbourhood and the village, with connections drawn between these scales. The book concludes that geography is being made in quite different ways. It asserts that geography is intrinsically a contested enterprise and that this should be embraced as part of geographers becoming more critically involved in the making and studying of new contemporary human geographies. The Horn Engaging the Gulf Aleksí Ylönen, 2023-12-28

This book discusses theoretical perspectives of analyzing the relations between the states and non-state actors in the Horn of Africa and their counterparts in the Persian Gulf and the Middle East. Crucially, these relations are examined primarily from the perspective of the diplomatic, economic and strategic agency of the African states and societal actors.
