I Remember Mama Joyce Smith Williams, 2000

Critiquing the Sitcom Joanne Morreale, 2002-12-01 This is the first anthology that examines the TV sitcom in terms of its treatment of gender, family, class, race, and ethnic issues. The selections range from early shows such as I Remember Mama, George Lipsitz's Why Remember Mama: The Changing Face of a Woman's Narrative to the more recent Roseanne, Kathleen Rowe Karlyn's Roseanne: Unruly Woman as a Domestic Goddess. The volume also looks unflinchingly at major controversies, for example the NAACP boycott of the stereotypical yet wildly popular Amos 'n' Andy and the queer reading of Laverne and Shirley. These diverse essays constitute a veritable history of postwar American mores. Some are classic, some forgotten, but all indicate the importance of considering text and subtext, social, historic, industrial, in the critical study of television. A final chapter by Joanne Morreale bids sitcoms adieu with the cultural spectacle of Seinfeld's last episode.

The Richard Rodgers Reader Geoffrey Block, 2006 Richard Rodgers was one of America's most prolific and best loved composers. A world without My Funny Valentine, The Lady is a Tramp, Blue Moon, and Bewitched to name just a few of the songs he wrote with Lorenz Hart is scarcely imaginable, and the musicals he wrote with his second collaborator Oscar Hammerstein, Oklahoma!, Carousel, South Pacific, The King and I, and The Sound of Music, continue to enchant and entertain audiences. Arranged in four sections: Rodgers and Hart, 1929-1943; Rodgers and Hammerstein, 1943-1960; Rodgers After Hammerstein, 1960-1979; and The Composer Speaks, 1939-1971, The Richard Rodgers Reader offers a cornucopia of informative, perceptive, and stylish biographical and critical overviews. It also contains a selection of Rodgers's letters to his wife Dorothy in the 1920s, the 1938 Time magazine cover story, and New Yorker profiles in 1938 and 1961, and essays and reviews by such noted critics as Brooks Atkinson, Eric Bentley, Leonard Bernstein, Lehman Engel, Walter Kerr, Ken Mandelbaum, Ethan Mordden, George Jean Nathan, and Alec Wilder. The volume features personal accounts by Richard Adler, Agnes de Mille, Joshua Logan, Mary Martin, and Diahann Carroll. The collection concludes with complete selections from more than thirty years of Rodgers's own writings on topics ranging from the creative process, the state of the Broadway theater, even Rodgers's bout with cancer, and a generous sample from the candid and previously unpublished Columbia University interviews. For anyone wishing to explore more fully the life and work of a composer whose songs and musicals have assumed a permanent and prominent place in American popular culture The Richard Rodgers Reader will offer endless delights The Thread of Life Douglas W. Hollan, Jane C. Wellenkamp, 1996-09-01 This is an enjoyably readable and generally illuminating look at the more intimate side of Toraja life and relationships It is an innovative approach to ethnography valuable in its attempt to deal with aspects of life that are often passed over in more conventional ethnographic writing Journal of Asian Studies Blackeyed Mary E. Weems, 2015-02-03 Blackeyed is a collection of plays and monologues The topics covered in the book include housing and foreclosure suicide assault mental health the Black male experience and more The book intersects with critical race theory because the majority of this work positions race at the center of the experiences of the fictional or fictionalized characters Embedded in these chapters are the interweaving of personal and ancestral stories news reports informal conversations observations interviews and online research expressed in language unapologetically Black critical reflexive and proud Blackeyed can be used as a class text in theatre education creative writing communication women s studies sociology and African American studies undergraduate and graduate courses It can also be used by theatre practitioners including actors and directors working in community regional and national theatre settings Individuals including qualitative researchers interested in exploring more affective possibilities or arts based researchers can also read this collection as an example of methodological exemplar Finally anyone interested in the Black experience as well as the specific topics covered in this book can read this collection of plays as one might read a collection of short stories Women's Film and Female Experience, 1940-1950 Andrea Walsh, 1986-09-10 Women s Film and Female Experience takes a fresh look at a wide range of popular women s films in order to discover what American female consciousness in the 1940s was really about The author traces the evolution and development of the Hollywood women s film and describes the social history of American women in the 1940s She then analyzes dominant narrative patterns within popular women s films of the decade the maternal drama the career woman comedy and the films of suspicion and distrust Visions of Belonging Judith E. Smith, 2004-09-01 Visions of Belonging explores how beloved and still remembered family stories A Tree Grows in Brooklyn I Remember Mama Gentleman s Agreement Death of a Salesman Marty and A Raisin in the Sun entered the popular imagination and shaped collective dreams in the postwar years and into the 1950s These stories helped define widely shared conceptions of who counted as representative Americans and who could be recognized as belonging The book listens in as white and black authors and directors readers and viewers reveal divergent emotionally textured and politically charged social visions Their diverse perspectives provide a point of entry into an extraordinary time when the possibilities for social transformation seemed boundless But changes were also fiercely contested especially as the war s culture of unity receded in the resurgence of cold war anticommunism and demands for racial equality were met with intensifying white resistance Judith E Smith traces the cultural trajectory of these family stories as they circulated widely in bestselling paperbacks hit movies and popular drama on stage radio and television Visions of Belonging provides unusually close access to a vibrant conversation among white and black Americans about the boundaries between public life and family matters and the meanings of race and ethnicity Would the new appearance of white working class ethnic characters expand Americans understanding of democracy Would these stories challenge the color line How could these stories simultaneously show that black families belonged to the larger family of the nation while also representing the forms of danger and discriminations that excluded them from full citizenship In the 1940s war driven challenges to racial and ethnic borderlines encouraged hesitant trespass against older notions of normal But by the end of the 1950s the cold war cultural atmosphere discouraged probing of racial and social inequality and ultimately turned family stories into a comforting retreat from politics The book crosses disciplinary boundaries suggesting a novel method for cultural history by probing the social history of literary dramatic and cinematic texts Smith s innovative use of archival research sets authorial intent next to audience reception to show how both contribute to shaping the contested meanings of American belonging

Black Womanist Leadership Toni C. King,S. Alease Ferguson,2011-06-01 Featuring the stories of fourteen Black women scholars Black Womanist Leadership Tracing the Motherline offers a culturally based model of Black women s leadership practices and examines the mother daughter transmission of these skills The personal narratives fit into a storytelling tradition that reveals the ways Black mothers and women of the community the Motherline teach girls the ways women lead The essays present a range of different practical and theoretical issues of leadership and development including mother nurture emulation of and divergence from core values internalized oppression self determination representation of the physical self guardianship governance of the body cooperative economics activism contentiousness with or differentiation from the mother and negotiation of leadership across public and private spheres Together they make a compelling argument for the necessity of continuing to teach the cultural and gender specific resistance to oppression that has been passed along the Motherline and to adapt this Motherline tradition to the lives and needs of women and girls in the 21st century

Developing Narrative Structure Allyssa McCabe,Carole Peterson,1991 Effective narration the telling of stories or recounting of personal experiences is an art requiring skills that appear crucial for children's language development and literacy acquisition. This volume serves an important purpose because it pulls together the widely scattered literature in the field exploring the ways in which oral narrative structure develops in children and how it may be facilitated. It presents new empirical studies on genres of narrative, the role narrative structure plays in emergent literacy, the relationship between narrative language and autobiographical memory, and ways in which teachers and parents facilitate or hinder children's narrative development. The empirical research presented here draws from diverse groups including Hispanic, African American, and Anglo American children from rural and urban America and Canada.
