Eric Lowdermilk, 2016-12-22 John 21 portrays seven disciples fishing all night yet catching nothing In the morning a shoreline stranger instructs them to recast their net Surprisingly the disciples fail to recognize him After a miraculous catch and subsequent breakfast however there is no doubt as to who this stranger is Jesus then questions Peter about his love and commissions him to feed Jesus' sheep Using narrative criticism Lowdermilk examines this recognition scene asking How would a reader well acquainted with recognition and deception as portrayed in Genesis understand John 21 He discards trickster terminology and argues that biblical recognition occurs within a context of manipulation After proposing a detailed taxonomy of manipulation he ventures further and argues for patterns in Genesis where manipulators are counter-manipulated in a reciprocal manner ironically similar to their own behavior providing a transforming effect on the manipulator These findings plus a careful examination of Greek diminutives inform Lowdermilk's new reading of John 21 1-19 Peter withholds his identity as a disciple in John 18 and later Jesus actively withholds his identity in ironic counter-manipulation mirroring Peter's denials Jesus' threefold questioning of Peter continues the haunting echoes of Peter's earlier denials Will it result in a disciple transformed Two Can Play Kate Kessler, 2024-09-24 When a copy cat killer arrives in the small New England town of Edgeport criminal psychologist Audrey Harte must use all her skill to solve the case Audrey has been hired by the prosecution to help prepare for the trial of 19 year old serial killer Ian Boy Scout Monroe His one surviving victim Tori Scott is the star witness but when someone begins killing with Monroe's M.O. the authorities and Audrey begin to wonder if Monroe had a partner Keeping Tori safe is the main concern but Audrey has also attracted the copy cat's attention Audrey is drawn into a dangerous game of cat and mouse and when someone close to her is abducted by the killer she has no choice but to play Ten Games You Can Play at the Drop of a Hat.... THINK Together: How YOU can play a role in improving education in America Randy Barth, Jennifer Delson, 2015-02-10 We are having the wrong conversations about improving public education in America Some say teachers unions are the main problem and if we just get rid of them and create more choice and competition the market will take care of itself Another view is that corporate reformers are trying to privatize education and profiteer from America's second largest industry If we would just feed the system with more taxpayer money and add universal preschool the system would perform just fine Neither approach is likely to meet with broad sustained success If America is going to fulfill its economic potential and rebuild its middle class a high performing public education system is foundational If you look past the superficial debate there is more common ground and reason for hope than you might think And in places you might have overlooked Randy Barth offers a unique perspective A former stockbroker and corporate CEO he founded a nonprofit organization called THINK Together In little more than a decade it has grown into the top half of one percent of all nonprofit organizations in America A fusion of business people and educators THINK Together works in partnership with more than 450 traditional public schools serving low income kids The outsider insider perspective Randy's gained along the way supported by data that shows what's working needs to be heard if we are serious about looking for systemic solutions This is a book for everybody It describes Randy and his colleagues personal and spiritual journey to the frontiers of hope If you are a citizen taxpayer parent or grandparent community volunteer mentor philanthropist school board member teacher

exclusions is as palpable to each of us today as it is common to human experience We remember the uncertainty of separating from our home and entering school as strangers and more than the relief of making friends we recall the cruel moments of our own isolation as well as those children we knew were destined to remain strangers In this book Vivian Paley employs a unique strategy to probe the moral dimensions of the classroom She departs from her previous work by extending her analysis to children through the fifth grade all the while weaving remarkable fairy tale into her narrative description Paley introduces a new rule You can t say you can t play to her kindergarten classroom and solicits the opinions of older children regarding the fairness of such a rule We hear from those who are rejected as well as those who do the rejecting One child objecting to the rule says It will be fairer but how are we going to have any fun Another child defends the principle of classroom bosses as a more benign way of excluding the unwanted In a brilliant twist Paley mixes fantasy and reality and introduces a new voice into the debate Magpie a magical bird who brings lonely people to a place where a full share of the sun is rightfully theirs Myth and morality begin to proclaim the same message and the schoolhouse will be the crucible in which the new order is tried A struggle ensues and even the Magpie stories cannot avoid the scrutiny of this merciless pack of social philosophers who will not be easily caught in a morality tale You Can t Say You Can t Play speaks to some of our most deeply held beliefs Is exclusivity part of human nature Can we legislate fairness and still nurture creativity and individuality Can children be freed from the habit of rejection These are some of the questions The answers are to be found in the words of Paley s schoolchildren and in the wisdom of their teacher who respectfully listens to them
