Sears, 2012-03-01 Set between January 1862 and January 1863 this second installment in the ambitious Civil War series paints an unforgettable portrait of the year that turned a secessionist rebellion into a war of emancipation Including eleven never before published pieces here are more than 140 messages proclamations newspaper stories letters diary entries memoir excerpts and poems by more than eighty participants and observers among them Abraham Lincoln

Jefferson Davis Ulysses S Grant George B McClellan Robert E Lee Frederick Douglass Emily Dickinson Walt Whitman Nathaniel Hawthorne Clara Barton Harriet Jacobs and George Templeton Strong as well as soldiers Charles B Haydon and Henry Livermore Abbott diarists Kate Stone and Judith McGuire and war correspondents George E Stephens and George Smalley The selections include vivid and haunting narratives of battles Fort Donelson Pea Ridge the gunboat war on the Western rivers Shiloh the Seven Days Second Bull Run Antietam Iuka Corinth Perryville Fredericksburg Stones River as well as firsthand accounts of life and death in the military hospitals in Richmond and Georgetown of the impact of war on Massachusetts towns and Louisiana plantations of the struggles of runaway slaves and the mounting fears of slaveholders and of the deliberations of the cabinet in Washington as Lincoln moved toward what he would call the central act of my administration and the great event of the nineteenth century the revolutionary proclamation of emancipation LIBRARY OF AMERICA is an independent nonprofit cultural organization founded in 1979 to preserve our nation s literary heritage by publishing and keeping permanently in print America's best and most significant writing The Library of America series includes more than 300 volumes to date authoritative editions that average 1 000 pages in length feature cloth covers sewn bindings and ribbon markers and are printed on premium acid free paper that will last for centuries Drawing the Line Philip M. Rosoff, 2016-11-03 Unlike the rest of the advanced industrialized world the United States does not have a national healthcare system that guarantees that all residents have access to medical services Over the past century a number of unsuccessful attempts have been made to create and implement a unified coordinated healthcare system Piecemeal progress has been made such as with the passage of Medicare Medicaid and the Affordable Care Act However the US still has the dubious distinction of possessing the most expensive healthcare in the world as well as health related outcomes that are shameful for a wealthy country mostly due to the number of people who lack decent care The continuing escalation in medical costs is also threatening the financial stability of the nation In his first book Rationing is Not a Four Letter Word Philip M Rosoff argued that the only way to control costs is to impose rationing and the only way to do so fairly is to have it apply to all The key to rationing is how it is accomplished He outlined a general approach to making rationing decisions that involved a comprehensive explication of procedural fairness and illustrated this with the real life accepted system of solid organ allocation for transplantation In this book he discusses how to decide what should and should not be covered in a generous benefits plan for all He considers a variety of ways this might be done and concludes that the most just approach is to utilize a transparent process in which experts and lay people develop a consensus on what should be covered by focusing on both clinical evidence of need and the effective and appropriate means to address those needs He also considers the various objections and impediments to this proposal and concludes that they are obstacles that can be successfully met
