Life And Legacy Of Fred Newton Scott:

The Life and Legacy of Fred Newton Scott Donald C. Stewart, Patricia L. Stewart, 2010-11-23 By the end of the nineteenth century rhetoric had not yet been established as a legitimate discipline Fred Newton Scott 1860 1931 spent his life broadening the scope of rhetoric studies through his imaginative interdisciplinary research Scott was both a pragmatic reformer and a visionary scholar who used empirical methods and cognitive psychology to expand this field In this study Donald Stewart and his wife Patricia examine Scott's essays speeches and books to write the first comprehensive biography of the man who became one of the most influential figures in language studies during the early twentieth century A Feminist Legacy Suzanne Bordelon, 2009-03-10 The first book length investigation of a pioneering English professor and theorist at Vassar College A Feminist Legacy The Rhetoric and Pedagogy of Gertrude Buck explores Buck's contribution to the fields of education and rhetoric during the Progressive Era By contextualizing Buck's academic and theoretical work within the rise of women's educational institutions like Vassar College the social and political movement toward suffrage and Buck's own egalitarian political and social ideals Suzanne Bordelon offers a scholarly and well informed treatment of Buck's achievements that elucidates the historical and contemporary impact of her work and life Bordelon argues that while Buck did not call herself a feminist she embodied feminist ideals by demanding the full participation of her female students and by challenging power imbalances at every academic social and political level A Feminist Legacy reveals that Vassar College is an undervalued but significant site in the history of women's argumentation and pedagogy Drawing on a rich variety of archival sources including previously unexamined primary material A Feminist Legacy traces the beginnings of feminist theories of argumentation and pedagogy and their lasting legacy within the fields of education and rhetoric Democracy and Rhetoric Nathan Crick, 2012-08-24 An innovative approach to Dewey's view of rhetoric as art revealing an ontology of becoming In Democracy and Rhetoric Nathan Crick articulates from John Dewey's body of work a philosophy of rhetoric that reveals the necessity for bringing forth a democratic life infused with the spirit of ethics a method of inquiry and a sense of beauty Crick relies on rhetorical theory as well interdisciplinary insights from philosophy history sociology aesthetics and political science as he demonstrates that significant engagement with issues of rhetoric and communication are central to Dewey's political philosophy In his rhetorical reading of Dewey Crick examines the sophisticated underpinnings of Dewey's philosophy and finds it much informed by notions of radical individuality aesthetic experience creative intelligence and persuasive advocacy as essential to the formation of communities of judgment Crick illustrates that for Dewey rhetoric is an art situated within a complex and challenging social and natural environment wielding influence and authority for those well versed in its methods and capable of experimenting with its practice From this standpoint the unique and necessary function of rhetoric in a democracy is to advance minority views in such a way that they might have the opportunity to transform overarching public opinion through persuasion in an egalitarian public arena The truest power of rhetoric in a democracy then is the liberty for one to influence the many through free full and fluid communication Ultimately Crick argues that Dewey's sophisticated rhetorical values and techniques form a naturalistic ontology of becoming in which discourse is valued for its capacity to guide a self a public and a world in flux toward some improved incarnation Appreciation of this ontology of becoming of democracy as a communication driven work in progress gives greater social breadth and historical scope to Dewey's philosophy while solidifying his lasting contributions to rhetoric in an active and democratic public sphere

Composition Janice M. Lauer, 2004 Invention in Rhetoric and Composition examines issues that have surrounded historical and contemporary theories and pedagogies of rhetorical invention citing a wide array of positions on these issues in both primary rhetorical texts and secondary interpretations It presents theoretical disagreements over the nature purpose and epistemology of invention and pedagogical debates over such issues as the relative importance of art talent imitation and practice in teaching discourse After a discussion of treatments of invention from the Sophists to the nineteenth century Invention in Rhetoric and Composition introduces a range of early twentieth century multidisciplinary theories and calls for invention s awakening in the field of English studies It then showcases inventional theories and pedagogies that have emerged in the field of Rhetoric and Composition over the last four decades including the ensuing research critiques and implementations of this inventional work As a reference guide the text offers a glossary of terms an annotated bibliography of selected texts and an extensive bibliography Janice M Lauer is Professor of English Emerita at Purdue University where she was the Reece McGee Distinguished Professor of English In 1998 she received the College Composition and Communication Conference s Exemplar Award Her publications include Four Worlds of Writing Inquiry and Action in Context Composition Research Empirical Designs and New Perspectives on Rhetorical Invention as well as essays on rhetorical invention disciplinarity writing as inquiry composition pedagogy historical rhetoric and empirical research The Managerial Unconscious in the History of Composition Studies Donna Strickland, 2011-07-11 In this pointed appraisal of composition studies Donna Strickland contends the rise of writing program administration is crucial to understanding the history of the field Noting existing histories of composition studies that offer little to no exploration of administration Strickland argues the field suffers from a managerial unconscious that ignores or denies the dependence of the teaching of writing on administrative structures The Managerial Unconscious in the History of Composition Studies is the first book to address the history of composition studies as a profession rather than focusing on its pedagogical theories and systems Strickland questions why writing and the teaching of writing have been the major areas of scholarly inquiry in the field when specialists often work primarily as writing program administrators not teachers Strickland traces the emergence of writing programs in the early twentieth century the founding of two professional organizations by and for writing program administrators and the managerial overtones of the social turn of the field during the 1990s She illustrates how these managerial imperatives not only have provided much of the impetus for the growth of composition studies over the past three decades but also have contributed to the stratified workplaces and managed writing practices the field s pedagogical research often decries The Managerial Unconscious in the History of Composition Studies makes the case that administrative work should not be separated from intellectual work calling attention to the interplay between these two kinds of work in academia at large and to the pronounced hierarchies of contingent faculty and tenure track administrators endemic to college writing programs The result is a reasoned plea for an alternative understanding of the very mission of the field itself The Best of the

Independent Rhetoric and Composition Journals 2011 Steve Parks, Brenda Glascott, 2013-03-06 The Best of the Independent Rhetoric and Composition Journals 2011 represents the result of a nationwide conversation beginning with journal editors but expanding to teachers scholars and workers across the discipline of Rhetoric and Composition to select essays that showcase the innovative and transformative work now being published in the field's independent journals Updating Charles H. Cooley Natalia Ruiz-Junco, Baptiste Brossard, 2018-10-10 This book explores the contemporary relevance of Charles H Cooley's thought bringing together scholars from the US Europe and Australia to reflect on Cooley's theory and legacy Offering an up to date analysis of Cooley's reception in the history of the social sciences an examination of epistemological and methodological advances on his work critical assessments and novel articulations of his major ideas and a consideration of new directions in scholarship that draws on Cooley's thought Updating Charles H Cooley will appeal to sociologists with interests in social theory interactionism the history of sociology social psychology and the sociology of emotions The SAGE Handbook of Rhetorical Studies Andrea A. Lunsford, Kirt H. Wilson, Rosa A. Eberly, 2008-10-29 The SAGE Handbook of Rhetorical Studies surveys the latest advances in rhetorical scholarship synthesizing theories and practices across major areas of study in the field and pointing the way for future studies Edited by Andrea A Lunsford and Associate Editors Kirt H Wilson and Rosa A Eberly the Handbook aims to introduce a new generation of students to rhetorical study and provide a deeply informed and ready resource for scholars currently working in the field Key Features Brings together scholars from across the disciplines of Speech Communication English and Writing Studies While rhetoric is by definition interdisciplinary self identified scholars in the field are most often institutionally separated from one another This Handbook bridges this divide by providing a refreshing range of transdisciplinary views on the nature status definition and scope of rhetoric today Offers a thorough going overview of rhetorical studies today Organized in four sections Historical Studies in Rhetoric Rhetoric Across the Disciplines Rhetoric and Pedagogy and Rhetoric and Public Discourse the volume provides a single resource for engaging rhetorical studies Underscores the importance of rhetoric to education across a wide range of disciplines as well as to effective participation in public arenas Thus the volume connects rhetoric's long teaching tradition to an activist agenda for informed civic engagement Addresses methodological and theoretical difficulties and offers means of negotiating them Provides one of the first introductions to rhetorical studies across cultures and to the related debates concerning comparative and contrastive rhetorics The Evolution of College English Thomas P. Miller, 2014-03-18 Thomas P Miller defines college English studies as literacy studies and examines how it has evolved in tandem with broader developments in literacy and the literate He maps out four corners of English departments literature language studies teacher education and writing studies Miller identifies their development with broader changes in the technologies and economies of literacy that have redefined what students write and read which careers they enter and how literature represents their experiences and aspirations Miller locates the origins of college English studies in the colonial transition from a religious to an oratorical conception of literature A belletristic model of literature emerged in the nineteenth century in response to the spread of the penny press and state mandated schooling Since literary studies became a common school subject professors of literature have distanced themselves from teachers of literacy In the Progressive era that distinction came to structure scholarly organizations such as the MLA while NCTE was established to develop more broadly based teacher coalitions In the twentieth century New Criticism came to provide the operating assumptions for the rise of English departments until those assumptions became critically overloaded with the crash of majors and jobs that began in 1970s and continues today For models that will help the discipline respond to such challenges Miller looks to comprehensive departments of English that value studies of teaching writing and language as well as literature According to Miller departments in more broadly based institutions have the potential to redress the historical alienation of English departments from their institutional base in work with literacy Such departments have a potentially quite expansive articulation apparatus Many are engaged with writing at work in public life with schools and public agencies with access issues and with media ethnic and cultural studies With the privatization of higher education such pragmatic engagements become vital to sustaining a civic vision of English studies and the humanities generally

Unsettling Archival Research Gesa E Kirsch, Romeo García, Caitlin Burns Allen, Walker P. Smith, 2023-03-22 HONORABLE MENTION 2024 Conference on College Composition and Communication Outstanding Book Award in Edited Collection A collection of accessible interdisciplinary essays that explore archival practices to unsettle traditional archival theories and methodologies What would it mean to unsettle the archives How can we better see the wounded and wounding places and histories that produce absence and silence in the name of progress and knowledge Unsettling Archival Research sets out to answer these urgent questions and more with essays that chart a more just path for archival work Unsettling Archival Research is one of the first publications in rhetoric and writing studies dedicated to scholarship that unsettles disciplinary knowledge of archival research by drawing on decolonial Indigenous antiracist queer and community perspectives Written by established and emerging scholars essays critique not only the practices ideologies and conventions of archiving but also offer new tactics for engaging critical communal and digital archiving within and against systems of power Contributors reflect on efforts to unsettle and counteract racist colonial histories confront the potentials and pitfalls of common archival methodologies and chart a path for the future of archival research otherwise Unsettling Archival Research intervenes in a critical issue whether the discipline s assumptions about the archives serve or fail the communities they aim to represent and what can be done to center missing voices and perspectives The aim is to explore the ethos and praxis of bearing witness in unsettling ways carried out as a project of queering and or decolonizing the archives Unsettling Archival Research takes seriously the rhetorical force of place and wrestles honestly with histories that still haunt our nation including the legacies of slavery colonial violence and systemic racism and rhetorical theory have been gaining in prominence throughout the 20th century As leaders in all fields give careful attention to issues in communication rhetoric becomes increasingly central to a range of disciplines Many of these leaders have shaped rhetorical theory through their work in other fields and rhetoric becomes more and more difficult to define and delimit This reference is a guide to major trends and developments in rhetoric and rhetorical theory during the last 100 years Included are alphabetically arranged entries for major and minor rhetoricians such as Mikhail Bakhtin Roland Barthes Wayne Booth Paul de Man Jacques Derrida Peter Elbow and Linda Flower Each entry is written by an expert contributor and includes a brief biography an analysis of the figure s rhetorical theory and a current bibliography of primary and secondary sources The figures included represent a range of rhetorical schools An extensive introduction discusses these schools and the volume concludes with extensive bibliographical material

Journal of Teaching Writing ,1996     Contemporary Composition Studies Edith Babin, Kimberly Harrison, 1999-12-30 Composition studies is a rapidly growing and constantly changing field At present however graduate students new to the field and writing teachers who want to make new connections between theory and practice have little choice of current reference works that define key terms in composition studies and provide information about the scholars and researchers who have shaped and are shaping the discipline This book supplies this information in an easily accessible format and places both scholars and terms in the context of the field s development Included are alphabetically arranged entries for 108 individuals who have developed the field and 128 terms central to the discipline The first part of the book provides entries for leaders in composition studies Each entry identifies the areas in which the scholar has contributed most influentially to the field and provides both a chronological overview of the person s contributions and a bibliography of representative works The second part includes entries for terms that are problematic both for newcomers and for those already familiar with the discipline The entries for the terms show how the disciplinary context has shaped the ways in which they have been used The entries also indicate how established thinkers in composition studies and other disciplines have explained or defined the terms provide examples of the terms in context and list scholars often associated with them An appendix includes entries for scholars from other disciplines who have contributed to the field
