Feminist Perspectives on Contemporary International Law Sari Kouvo, Zoe Pearson, 2014-10-01 The essays in this volume analyse feminism s positioning vis vis international law and the current paradigms of international law The authors argue that willingly or unwillingly feminist perspectives on international law have come to be situated between resistance and compliance That is feminist scholarship aims at deconstructing international law to show why and how women have been marginalised at the same time feminists have been largely unwilling to challenge the core of international law and its institutions remaining hopeful of international law's potential for women The analysis is clustered around three themes the first part theory and method looks at how feminist perspectives on international law have developed and seeks to introduce new theoretical and methodological tools especially through a focus on psychoanalysis and geography The second part national and international security focuses on how feminists have situated themselves in relation to the current discourses of crisis the post 9 11 NGO industry and the changing discourses of violence against women The third part global and local justice addresses some of the emerging trends in international law focusing especially on transitional justice state building trafficking and economic globalisation

Geography and Social Justice in the Classroom Todd W. Kenreich, 2013-05-02 The rise of critical discourses in the discipline of geography has opened up new avenues for social justice Geography and Social Justice in the Classroom brings together contemporary research in geography and fresh thinking about geography's place in the social studies curriculum The book's main purposes are to introduce teachers and teacher educators to new research in geography and to provide theoretical and practical examples of geography in the curriculum The book begins with the premise that power and inequality often have spatial landscapes With the tools and concepts of geography students can develop a critical geographic literacy to explore the spatial expressions of power in their lives communities and the wider world The first half of the book introduces new research in the field of geography on diverse topics including the social construction of maps as instruments of power and authority The second half of the book turns the readers attention to geography in the P 12 classroom and it highlights how geography can enable teachers and students to explore issues of power and social justice in the classroom Through critical geographic literacy educators can boldly position themselves and their students as advocates for a more just world

Mills, 2003 First Published in 2003 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Eco-Homes Jenny Pickerill, 2016-01-15 It is widely understood that good affordable eco housing needs to be at the heart of any attempt to mitigate or adapt to climate change This is the first book to comprehensively explore eco housing from a geographical social and political perspective It starts from the premise that we already know how to build good eco houses and we already have the technology to retrofit existing housing Despite this relatively few eco houses are being built Featuring over thirty case studies of eco housing in Britain Spain Thailand Argentina and the United States Eco Homes examines the ways in which radical changes to our houses such as making them more temporary using natural materials or relying on manual heating and ventilation systems require changes in how we live As such it argues it is not lack of technology or political will that is holding us back from responding to climate change but deep rooted cultural and social understandings of our way of life and what we expect our houses to do for us     Introducing Human Geographies Paul Cloke, Philip Crang, Mark

Carmen Martín Gaité Ester Bautista Botello, 2019-01-09 This book reconstructs the poetics of Carmen Martín Gaité by viewing the concept of journey as a fundamental principle upon which she bases and elaborates her narrative writing of the 1990s Five novels published in this period receive critical attention all of which coincide with the last trips taken by the writer to New York Caperucita en Manhattan 1990 Nubosidad variable 1992 La reina de las nieves 1994 Lo raro es vivir 1996 and Irse de casa 1998 To the extent that the journey is the essence of the narrative under consideration the concept is analysed as an aesthetic practice and an attempt to identify a series of actions which allow us to link the writer's novels with two areas that have previously received only scant critical scrutiny geography and the visual dimension This book presents a comparative and interdisciplinary analysis of space in Martín Gaité's narrative as well as in her collages drawings and paintings

Politics, Identity, and Mobility in Travel Writing Miguel A. Cabañas, Jeanne Dubino, Veronica Salles-Reese, Gary Totten, 2015-06-26 This collection examines the intersections between the personal and the political in travel writing and the dialectic between mobility and stasis through an analysis of specific cases across geographical and historical boundaries The authors explore the various ways in which travel texts represent actual political conditions and thus engage in discussions about national transnational and global citizenship how they propose real world political interventions in the places where the traveler goes what tone they take toward political or socio political violence and how they intersect with political debates Travel writing can be viewed as political in a purely instrumental sense but as this volume also demonstrates travel writing's reception and ideological interventions also transform personal and cultural realities This book thus examines the ways in which politics material effects inform and intersect with personal experience in travel texts and engage with travel's dialectic of mobility and stasis In spite of globalization and efforts to eradicate the colonial vision in travel writing and in travel writing criticism this vision persists in various and complex ways While the travelogue can be a space of discursive and direct oppression these essays suggest that the travelogue is also a narrative space in which the traveler employs the genre to assert authority over his or her experiences of mobility This book will be an important contribution for interdisciplinary scholars with interests in travel writing studies global and transnational studies women's studies multicultural studies the social sciences and history
