Feminism After Postmodernism Theorising Through Practice:

Feminism After Postmodernism? Marysia Zalewski, 2003-09-02 Highly original and stimulating this book provides a detailed overview of postmodern feminist theory and practice Subjects covered include the differences between the feminism of the 1970s and contemporary feminism liberal radical socialist and postmodern feminisms feminist reactions to the growth in reproductive technologies how feminism informs debates about the subject epistemology and political action feminism into the new millennium Feminist Research In Theory And Practice Letherby, Gayle, 2003-02-01 This is a clear and accessible exploration of feminist method methodology and epistemology After situating herself and her work Gayle Letherby charts the debates concerned with the epistemological political and practical issues involved in doing feminist research and places the debates within a wider consideration of the status of knowledge The main focus of the book is then the particular and practical issues for feminist researchers It examines how the process of research affects the results of that research and explores the relation between politics and practice in terms of research and knowledge production Throughout the book there is a practical emphasis on specific examples of feminist research in action and as well as summarizing current theoretical debates Gayle Letherby adds to them Back cover Feminism, Postfeminism and Legal Theory Dorota Gozdecka, Anne Macduff, 2018-12-19 There is much debate about postfeminism what it is and its role in feminist politics Whilst postfeminism has become increasingly influential in the study of literature popular culture and philosophy it has so far received comparatively little attention in law This book aims to remedy this situation The book brings together feminist legal scholars working in different contexts to examine the idea of postfeminism and assess its contemporary relevance It explores a range of questions including the following Does postfeminism describe an age that follows modernism an age where identity politics has realised its goals and feminism is no longer needed Or does postfeminism describe the feminism of a postmodernist age where identity can mean anything at all Or differently again does the term capture a new feminism that discredits feminism and attempts to reshape its political consciousness And what might the answers to these questions mean for law and legal theory and a feminist politics of law reform Succeeding Postmodernism Mary K. Holland, 2013-04-25 While critics collect around the question of what comes after postmodernism this book asks something different about recent American fiction what if we are seeing not the end of postmodernism but its belated success Succeeding Postmodernism examines how novels by DeLillo Wallace Danielewski Foer and others conceptualize threats to individuals and communities posed by a poststructural culture of mediation and simulation and possible ways of resisting the disaffected solipsism bred by that culture Ultimately it finds that twenty first century American fiction sets aside the postmodern problem of how language does or does not mean in order to raise the reassuringly retro question of what it can and does mean it finds that novels today offer language as solution to the problem of language Thus it suggests a new way of reading antihumanist late postmodern fiction and a framework for understanding postmodern and twenty first century fiction as participating in a long and newly enlivened tradition of humanism and realism in literature Exercising Human Rights Robin Redhead, 2014-09-25

Exercising Human Rights investigates why human rights are not universally empowering and why this damages people attempting to exercise rights. It takes a new approach in looking at humans as the subject of human rights rather than the object and exposes the gendered and ethnocentric aspects of violence and human subjectivity in the context of human rights. Using an innovative visual methodology Redhead shines a new critical light on human rights campaigns in practice. She examines two cases in depth. First she shows how Amnesty International depicts women negatively in their 2004 Stop Violence against Women Campaign revealing the political implications of how images deny women their agency because violence is gendered. She also analyses the Oka conflict between indigenous people and the Canadian state. She explains how the Canadian state defined the Mohawk people in such a way as to deny their human subjectivity. By looking at how the Mohawk used visual media to communicate their plight beyond state boundaries she delves into the disjuncture between state sovereignty and human rights. This book is useful for anyone with an interest in human rights campaigns and in the study of political images.

Rethinking School Violence Kerry Robinson, Cristyn Davies, 2012-10-29 Taking a sociocultural approach to understanding violence the authors in this collection examine how norms of gender culture and educational practice contribute to school violence providing strategies to intervene in and address violence in educational contexts.

Emancipatory International Relations Roger D. Spegele, 2014-05-23 International relations theory is witnessing a veritable explosion of works within the areas of modernism and postmodernism yet there has been no attempt to compare these theories and their sources according to a common criterion or logical form. This author argues that while these pioneering imaginative and exciting theoretical works are disparate they also share a common thread that seeks to express emancipatory goals for international relations. This book provides an in depth critical study of this genre of theorizing that he names Emancipatory International Relations. Spegele develops a framework to help the reader understand both the differences and commonalities in modernist and postmodernist emancipatory thinking in International Relations. He critically analyzes modernist theories discourses narratives and postmodernist theory and practice feminist emancipatory discourses and postmodernist international discourse and concludes by examining the coherence viability and plausibility of emancipatory discourses in international relations whether modernist or postmodernist. This challenging and innovative volume will be of interest to students and researchers of international relations.

Rituals of Mediation François Debrix, Cynthia Weber, 2003 A timely consideration of the meaning of transnational cultural interactions today. In an era of increasing globalization the cultural and the international have borders as permeable as most nations and an understanding of one requires making sense of the other. Foregrounding the role of mediation understood here as a site of representation transformation and pluralization the authors engage two specific questions. How might we make theoretical and practical sense of transnational cultural interactions? And how are we to understand the ways in which the sites of mediation represent transform and remediate international issues. Accordingly, the authors consider international issues like security, development, political activism, and the war against terrorism through the lens of cultural practices such as traveling through airports, exhibiting art, and photography logging on to the Internet and spinning news stories. The Failure to Protect Timo Kivimäki, 2019. Timo Kivimäki investigates the reasons behind and consequences of military operations by Western powers. It focuses on those interventions aimed at protecting civilians from terror dictators and criminals in fragile states. In doing so, it contributes to the cosmopolitan feminist and post colonial literature on humanitarian interventions. Symptom, Symbol, and the Other of Language Bret Alderman, 2015-12-22. Every statement about language is also a statement by and about psyche. Guided by this primary assumption and inspired by the works of Carl Jung in Symptom, Symbol, and the Other of Language, Bret Alderman delves deep into the symbolic and symptomatic dimensions of a deconstructive postmodernism infatuated with semiotics and the workings of linguistic signs. This book offers an important exploration of linguistic reference and representation through a Jungian understanding of symptom and symbol using techniques including amplification, dream interpretation, and symbolic attitude. Focusing on Ferdinand de Saussure, Jacques Derrida, Michel Foucault, and Richard Rorty, Alderman examines the common belief that words and their meaning are grounded purely in language, instead envisioning a symptomatic expression of alienation and collective dissociation. Drawing upon the nascent field of ecopsychology, the modern disciplines of phenomenology and depth psychology, and the ancient knowledge of myth and animistic cosmologies, Alderman dares us to re-imagine some of the more sacrosanct concepts of the contemporary intellectual milieu informed by semiotics and the linguistic turn. Symptom, Symbol, and the Other of Language is essential reading for academics and students engaged in the study of depth psychology. However, the interdisciplinary approach of the work ensures that it will also be of great interest to those researching and studying in the areas of ethology, ecopsychology, philosophy, linguistics, and mythology. The Future of Asian Feminisms Nursyahbani Katjasungkana, Saskia E. Wieringa, 2011-10-18. This book on the future of Asian feminisms confronting fundamentalisms, conflicts, and neo liberalism is a critical contribution to the rising voices of Asian women's studies scholars and activists. It is based on the ongoing research and advocacy work of the Kartini Asia Network, founded in 2003 in Manila. The five overlapping themes of the network are women, gender, studies, fundamentalisms, conflicts, livelihood, and sexuality. Considering that the economic and political weight of the region is growing fast and that the 21st century has been named the Asian century, Asia is increasingly recognised as the continent to which economic if not political power will shift in the coming decades. The chapters brought together in this volume demonstrate the great diversity of the transversal cultural flow that women's movements within Asia provide. Members of the Kartini network stimulate the articulation of a particular Asian voice in women's studies and in the global women's movement. Considering the existing patriarchal structures all over the continent, a continuum of oppressions unfolds from the global sphere of market exchange to emerging fundamentalisms and to bitter conflicts and struggles around sexualities The present volume provides elements for the critical dialogues that are needed between women in the region between women and men between people in all sorts of strategic positions and between theoreticians in the Global South and the Global North to create a world in which human dignity is not eroded by predatory economic processes and in which democracy diversity pluralism and inclusivity are the guiding principles of governance

From Cuba with Love Megan Daigle, 2015-01-16 Megan Daigle explores the role of women in Cuban political culture by examining the rise of economies of sex romance and money since the early 1990s Investigating the lived realities of the Cuban women and some men who date tourists and offering a unique perspective on the surrounding debates From Cuba with Love raises issues about women's bodies what they can or should do and equally what can be done to them Daigle draws attention to the violence experienced by these young women at the hands of a moralistic state an opportunistic police force and even their own families and partners Daigle's provocative perspective will make readers question how race and politics in Cuba are tied to women and sex and the ways in which political power acts directly on the bodies of individuals through law policing institutional programs and social norms

Corporeal Peacebuilding Tarja Väyrynen, 2018-09-17 This book demonstrates how peace is an event that comes into being in mundane and corporeal encounters The book brings living and experiencing sentient body to Peace and Conflict Studies and examines war and peace as socio political institutions that begin and end with bodies It therefore differs from the wider field of Peace and Conflict Studies where the human body is treated as an abstract and non living entity The book demonstrates that conflict and violence as well as peace touch our bodies in multiple ways Through attending to witnessing wounded remembering silenced and resistant bodies the empirical cases of the book attest to the scope and diversity of war peace and the political of post conflict peacebuilding The book offers a sustained engagement with feminist social and political theory and will be of interest to academics and practitioners alike

The Community of the Weak Hans-Peter Geiser, 2013-03-28 Social postmodernism and systematic theology can be considered the new pair in some of the most creative discussions on the future of theological method on a global scale Both in the academy and in the public square as well as in the manifold local and pastoral moments of ministry and community social activism the social the postmodern and the theological intermingle in engaging and border crossing ways The Community of the Weak presents a new kind of jazzy fundamental theology with a postmodern touch using jazz as a metaphor writing ethnographically messy texts out of the personal windows of lived experiences combining fragments of autobiography with theological reconstruction A comparative perspective on North American and European developments in contemporary systematic theology serves as a hermeneutical horizon to juxtapose two continents in their very different contexts The author proposes a systematic and fundamental theology that is more jazzy global and narrative deeply embedded in pastoral ministry to tell its postmodern story

Feminist Engagement with International Criminal Law Eithne Dowds, 2020-01-23 This work introduces and further develops the feminist strategy of norm transfer the proposal that feminist informed standards created at the level of international criminal law make their way into domestic contexts Situating this strategy within the complementarity regime of the International Criminal Court ICC it is argued that there is an opportunity for dialogue and debate around the contested aspects of international norms as opposed to uncritical acceptance The book uses the crime of rape as a case study and offers a new perspective on one of the most contentious debates within international and domestic criminal legal feminism the relationship between consent and coercion in the definition of rape In analysing the ICC definition of rape it is argued that the omission of consent as an explicit element is flawed Arguing that the definition is in need of revision to explicitly include a context sensitive notion of consent the book goes further setting out draft legislative amendments to the ICC Elements of Crimes definition of rape and its Rules of Procedure and Evidence Turning its attention to the domestic landscape the book drafts amendments to the United Kingdom UK Sexual Offences Act 2003 and to the Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999 thereby showing how the revised version of the ICC definition can be applied in context of the UK Routledge factors which will exert a strong impact on the structure and properties of that domain Section V focuses on technology as the principal trigger of changes and alterations in the essence of warfare The final section draws on the general trends identified in Section I and sheds light on how those trends have manifested in specific local contexts This section zooms in on particular geographies which are seen and anticipated as hotbeds where future warfare will most likely assume its shape and reveal its true colours This book will be of great interest to students of strategic studies defence studies war and technology and International Relations

Political Economy, Power and the Body G. Youngs, 1999-10-28 Political Economy Power and the Body is carefully organized to provide an introductory section of three chapters which set out a number of detailed theoretical arguments relevant to the work developed in the next two sections In this sense the collection should be a major contribution in laying the groundwork in the new area The strength of the volume lies in the way the individual chapters bring theory and practice together It could be argued that it represents the maturity of feminist work in international political economy now The book will be a vital teaching as well as research text especially in international relations international political economy women s studies generally Veiled Threats Rashid, Naaz, 2016-05-31 Available Open Access under CC BY NC ND licence As Muslim women continue to be a focus of media led debate Naaz Rashid uses original scholarship and empirical research to examine how Muslim women are represented in policy discourse and how the trope of the Muslim woman is situated within national debates about Britishness the death of multiculturalism and global concerns over international terrorism Analysing the relevance of class citizenship status and regional differences Veiled threats is a valuable addition to the burgeoning literature on Muslims in the UK post 9 11 It will be of interest to academics and students in public and social policy race equality gender and faith based policy Sexing War/Policing Gender Linda

Åhäll, 2015-02-11 Historically there has been reluctance from mainstream IR scholars as well as feminists to seriously engage with women s agency in warfare Instead scholarship has tended to focus on women s activism for peace or to ignore women s agency altogether This book rectifies this omission by exploring the cultural understanding of actors agents and structures of war and how can we make sense of attitudes towards women agency and war today By using a poststructuralist feminist perspective and by analysing empirical cases from a Western war on terror cultural context Ahall argues that all types of stories are informed by ideas about motherhood and maternal reproduction as the foundation of sexual difference This does not only mean that women are judged read valued based on the shape of their maternalised bodies rather than what they actually do but it means that ideas about motherhood not motherhood itself function to police contemporary gender norms and contemporary understandings of agency in war Overall this book argues that maternalist war stories function to reiterate traditional heteronormative gender roles This is how a body politics of war is not only policing gender norms but actually writing sex itself The body politics of war told through maternalist war stories is a process in which the sexing of war means the policing of gender borders with motherhood acting as the border agent This work will be of interest to students and scholars in areas such as gender political violence and international relations
