The Future of Nursing Institute of Medicine,Committee

on the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation Initiative on the Future of Nursing, at the Institute of Medicine,2011-02-08 The Future of Nursing explores how nurses roles responsibilities and education should change significantly to meet the increased demand for care that will be created by health care reform and to advance improvements in America s increasingly complex health system At more than 3 million in number nurses make up the single largest segment of the health care work force

They also spend the greatest amount of time in delivering patient care as a profession Nurses therefore have valuable insights and unique abilities to contribute as partners with other health care professionals in improving the quality and safety of care as envisioned in the Affordable Care Act ACA enacted this year Nurses should be fully engaged with other health professionals and assume leadership roles in redesigning care in the United States To ensure its members are well prepared the profession should institute residency training for nurses increase the percentage of nurses who attain a bachelor's degree to 80 percent by 2020 and double the number who pursue doctorates Furthermore regulatory and institutional obstacles including limits on nurses scope of practice should be removed so that the health system can reap the full benefit of nurses training skills and knowledge in patient care In this book the Institute of Medicine makes recommendations for an action oriented blueprint for the future of nursing
