On Teaching Foreign Languages Marcela Ruiz-Funes, 2002-10-30 The author reports on a qualitative action research project on theories and practices in foreign language education The goal of the study was to relate the knowledge of foreign language teaching learning and acquisition gained through research to the beliefs and experiences of expert foreign language teachers The four participating teachers represent real teachers who distinguish themselves from their peers for their excellence in teaching foreign languages and their success in serving as clinical teachers Four theoretical issues are discussed in detail the proficiency movement the role of input teaching language in context and class participation motivation and discipline These aspects were selected because 1 they pose major challenges to foreign language interns and 2 they play an essential role in the learning acquisition process of second language students The major contribution of this study is the integration of the theoretical and practical dimensions The practical aspect is presented by the expert foreign language teachers who describe in their own words how and explain why they implement a given foreign language theory in their classrooms This integration provides foreign language teachers with a realistic view of foreign language education and establishes a dialogue between the university and the school communities A significant number of excerpts from discussion interview sessions conducted with the teachers are included

Schmidt, Laura Torres-Zúñiga, 2017-06-23 This volume explores how the traditional academic disciplines of linguistics translation literature and cultural studies can contribute to or be integrated into the teaching of a foreign language by means of innovative methodologies techniques and instruments The book begins with a selection of essays on applied linguistics that share some significant findings in the context of second or foreign language acquisition It then examines the ways in which linguistics translation theory literature and cultural studies are brought into the foreign language classroom not just as objects of study but also as vehicles for language learning By presenting studies on four main foreign languages English Spanish French and German the collection offers to the foreign language profession an opportunity for the sharing and comparison of strategies across languages at both the secondary and higher education level The text is a valuable resource for language teachers with a more philologically oriented background who would like to learn how to apply their research knowledge and experience to the design and implementation of new methodological approaches
