Linkages in Developing Economies Gustav Ranis, Frances Stewart, Edna Angeles Reyes, 1990 Private Sector Development and Enterprise Reforms in Growing Asian Economies Seiji Naya, 1990 Transforming the Rural Nonfarm Economy Steven Haggblade, Peter B. R. Hazell, Thomas Reardon, 2007-11-16 Contrary to conventional wisdom that equates rural economies with agriculture rural residents in developing countries often rely heavily on activities other than farming for their income Indeed nonfarm work accounts for between one third and one half of rural incomes in the developing world In recent years accelerating globalization increasing competition from large businesses expanding urban markets for rural goods and services and greater availability of information and communication technology have combined to expose rural nonfarm businesses to new opportunities as well as new risks By examining these rapid changes in the rural nonfarm economy international experts explore how the rural nonfarm economy can contribute to overall economic growth in developing countries and how the poor can participate in this rapidly evolving segment of the economy The authors review an array of recent studies of the rural nonfarm economy in order to summarize existing empirical evidence explore policy implications and identify future research priorities They examine the varied scale structure and composition of the rural nonfarm economy as well as its relationship with agricultural and urban enterprises And they address key questions about the role of public intervention in the rural nonfarm economy and how the rural poor can participate in and navigate the rapid transition underway in rural areas The contributors offer new insights to specialists in rural development and to others interested in overall economic development Comparative Development Experiences of Sub-Saharan Africa and East Asia Ernest Aryeetey, 2017-11-01 Title first published in 2003 This comprehensive book focuses on the prevailing conditions in Asia and Africa under various macroeconomic and sectoral themes in order to provide in depth explanations for the divergent development experiences of the two regions Seeking to go further than the simple comparison of policies the book carefully examines the institutional context for policy implementation within which growth and development have proceeded in the regions Rural Poverty in Developing Asia Muhammad Ghulam Quibria, 1994 Provides in depth accounts of rural poverty in seven developing countries Rice Research and Development Policy Robert S. Zeigler, 1996 Sustainable Economic Development and the Influence of Information Technologies: Dynamics of Knowledge Society Transformation Karatas, Muhammed, Tunca, Mustafa Zihni, 2010-02-28 This book provides relevant theoretical frameworks and the latest empirical research findings in the area of information technology as it relates to sustainable economic development and the development of knowledge societies Provided by publisher The State of Patenting at Research Institutions in Developing Countries: Policy Approaches and Practices Pluvia Zuniga, World Intellectual Property Organization, 2011 This study discusses the opportunities and challenges offered by patents to foster technology transfer from government funded research institutions in developing countries It presents a review of policy frameworks and recent policy changes aimed to foster academic patenting and technology transfer in low and middle income countries It then analyzes patenting activities by universities and public research organizations and compares these trends with respect to high income countries This analysis is complemented with an assessment of the current state of patenting and technology commercialization practices in a selected group of technology transfer offices

Economic Consequences of Globalization Shujiro Urata,Chin Hee Hahn,Dionisius Narjoko,2012-06-25 Economists have long recognized the gains from international trade The question is does international trade or more broadly globalization increase growth Notwithstanding the debates there are still many questions old and new need to be explored in order to improve our understanding on various aspects of globalization including its consequences This book addresses some of these questions utilizing micro datasets of some East Asian countries The focus on East Asia is particularly interesting for the reason that most of these countries have relatively more opened economy and experienced a rapid de facto integration quite recently The book puts forward questions which are related to the relationship between globalization on the one hand and firm performance activities or characteristics on the other The chapters draw recent theoretical framework from the relevant literatures and then empirically test mostly by econometric analysis the hypotheses on these relationships The extent or magnitude of the globalization impact is also demonstrated by the means of descriptive analysis Finally there are useful insights for policy decision makers to be drawn from the empirical results The book presents rigorous empirical analysis based on recent theoretical framework in international economics focusing on the highest growing region in the world The use of micro data analysis a key feature of this book gives us much richer information on various issues of globalization This book therefore should be of the interest to scholars and postgraduate students of international economics development economics and East Asian economics

A.I.D. Research and Development Abstracts ,1990 Is the Emerging Nonfarm Market Economy the Route Out of Poverty in Vietnam? Dorothyjean Cratty,Dominique Van de Walle,2003 Are the household characteristics that are good for transition to a more diversified market oriented development process in Vietnam also important for reducing poverty Or are there tradeoffs The determinants of both poverty incidence and participation in rural off farm activities are modeled as functions of household and community characteristics using comprehensive national household surveys for 1993 and 1998 Despite some common causative factors such as education and region of residence the processes determining poverty and inhibiting diversification are clearly not the same Participation in the emerging rural nonfarm market economy will be the route out of poverty for some but certainly not all of Vietnam s poor This paper a product of Public Services Development Research Group is part of a larger effort in the group to understand how to reduce poverty transfer and female entrepreneurs Updated Philippine Development Plan, 1984-1987 Philippines. National Economic and Development Authority, 1984 Democratization and Market Reform in Developing and Transitional Countries James G. McGann, 2010-01-04 This book explores the pivotal role of think tanks in the democratization and economic reform movements by evaluating their overall effect on the transformation process in developing and transitional countries around the world James G McGann assesses twenty three think tanks located in nine countries and four regions of the world Chile Peru Poland Slovakia South Africa Botswana the Philippines Thailand and Vietnam that have most impacted political and economic transitions in their respective countries The author examines the role they played in the process of democratization and market reform during the late 80s and 90s and identifies the importance of think tanks in these processes by evaluating their overall effect on the policymaking process He argues in the early stages of a transition from an authoritarian regime to an open and democratic society the activities of think tanks are especially critical and they have provided a civil society safety net to support these fragile democracies This book will be of interest to students and scholars of political science democratization development economic development and civil society The Report: Philippines 2019 Oliver Cornock, The Philippines cooling inflation improved ease of doing business and increased openness to foreign participation are set to encourage more foreign direct investment A wealth of infrastructure investment under President Rodrigo Duterte s flagship Build Build Build programme should ease congestion reduce regional inequality and further boost the flourishing tourism industry Technology Transfer, Intellectual Property and Effective University-industry Partnerships World Intellectual Property Organization, 2007 This study examines and evaluates the recent progress made in seven Asian countries China India Japan Philippines the Republic of Korea Singapore and Thailand towards more effective and mutually reinforcing relations between universities and industries in the field of scientific and technological research and proposes a checklist for action to make these relationships even more effective from the broad perspective of the national economy In particular it highlights the mechanisms adopted by these Asian countries for technology transfer and pays particular attention to the use of the intellectual property system as an instrument for technology transfer from university to industry While economic and historical situations are different across Asian countries and no simple solution can be found that is universally applicable throughout the region it is the hope of the participants in this project that this document will provide some useful lessons and insights and will thus be helpful to policy makers who are concerned with evaluating the effectiveness of university industry relations in their respective countries and identifying ways to improve them The Local Impact of Globalization in South and Southeast Asia Bart Lambregts, Niels Beerepoot, Robert C. Kloosterman, 2015-08-27 In the past two decades several millions of IT enabled services jobs have been relocated or offshored from the US and Europe to in particular low cost economies around the world Most of these jobs so far have landed in South and South East Asia with India and the Philippines receiving the bulk of them This has caused profound changes in the international division of labour and has had correspondingly wide social and economic effects This book examines how this next wave in globalization affects people and places in South and South East Asia It brings together twelve case studies from India the Philippines China Hong Kong and Thailand and explores how and for whom services offshoring creates opportunities triggers local economic transformations and produces challenges This book in addition compares how different countries take part in this second global shift investigates service sector driven economic development from a historical perspective and engages with the question whether and to what extent services offer a new promising avenue of sustained economic growth for developing countries It argues that service led development in developing countries is not easy for all the workers involved or a guaranteed path to sustained economic development and prosperity This volume stands out from other books in the field in its exploration of the social and economic outcomes in the cities and countries where services have been located Based on cutting edge empirical research and original data the volume offers a state of the art contribution to this growing debate The book provides valuable insights for students scholars and professionals interested in services offshoring socio economic development and contemporary transformations in South and South East Asia The World Bank Research Program, 2005-2007 ,2008 This pocket sized reference on key environmental data for over 200 countries includes key indicators on agriculture forestry biodiversity energy emission and pollution and water and sanitation The volume helps establish a sound base of information to help set priorities and measure progress toward environmental sustainability goals
