Literacies Of Power:

Literacies of Power Donaldo Macedo, 2018 Literacies of Power illustrates the many ways American schools media and other social institutions perpetuate ignorance In this new expanded edition Donaldo Macedo shows why so called common culture literacy is a form of dominant cultural reproduction that undermines independent thought and goes against the best interests of our students Offering a wide ranging counterargument Macedo shows why cultural literacy cannot be restricted to the acquisition of Western heritage values which sustain an ideology that systematically negates the cultural experiences of many members of society not only minorities but also anyone who is poor or disenfranchised Macedo calls on his own experience as a Cape Verdean immigrant from West Africa who had to surmount the barriers imposed by the world's most entrenched monolingual system of higher education His eloquence in this book is testimony to the very idea that critical thinking and good education are not and must not be culturally or linguistically bounded A new concluding chapter by the author critically challenges the crucial role of schools in the manufacture of consent for the war in Iraq and the Patriot Act and the charitable racism that is too often evident in the field of ESL In essays new to this edition well known and respected educators Joe Kincheloe Peter McLaren and Shirley Steinberg share their insights on Macedo's message complementing Paulo Freire's Foreword to the original edition Provided by publisher Literacies Of Power Donaldo Macedo, 1994-11 In Boston twelve year old student David Spritzler faced disciplinary action from his school for his vocal questioning of the Pledge of Allegiance which celebrates liberty and justice for all The boy's concerns were not taken by the teacher as an opportunity to engage the class in a discussion of the country's problems such as homelessness which could be seen just outside on Boston's streets Across the river at prestigious MIT a linguist student told her colleague that she could not take time to read literature outside of theoretical linguistics if she wanted to be a top scholar in her field Even essays that linked linguistics to its historical and social context fell outside her diligent pursuit of theory What do these two seemingly disparate events have in common According to Donaldo Macedo they are part of an educational legacy that stifles critical thinking in favor of indoctrination and specialization Our educational system has lost sight of its responsibility to prepare students in the kind of broad critical thinking necessary for responsible citizenship Literacy and Literacies James Collins, Richard Blot, 2003-05-08 Table of contents Literacy and Power Hilary Janks, 2009-10-16 Hilary Janks addresses key questions about literacy and power in this landmark text that is both engaging and accessible Her central argument is that competing orientations to critical literacy education domination power access diversity design foreground one over the other but are crucially interdependent and need to work together to create possibilities for redesign and social action that serve a social justice agenda She examines the theory underpinning each orientation and develops new theory in the argument for interdependence and integration Sitting at the interface between theory and practice constantly moving from one to the other the text is rich with examples of how to use these orientations in real teaching contexts and how to use them to counterbalance one another In the groundbreaking final chapter Janks considers how the rationalist underpinning of critical literacy tends to exclude the non rational shows ways of working beyond reason pleasure and play desire and the unconscious and makes the case that these need to be taken seriously given their power to cut across the work of critical literacy educators working from any orientation

Literacies, Power and Identities in Figured Worlds in Malawi Ahmmardouh Mjaya,2022-02-24 This book is based on an in depth ethnographic study of the National Adult Literacy Programme NALP in Malawi It highlights the significance of exploring power and identity in literacy studies Employing the concept of figured worlds to study literacy as a social practice the book focuses on understanding power relationships and identities in literacy practices It illustrates how literacy identities and power relationships of some local community members continuously vary from one context to another and in some cases even within the same context Using notions such as agency artefact resistance shame and positioning the book demonstrates the potential of the concept of figured worlds to address some of the questions raised within the New Literacy Studies especially those concerning power and identity The book also illustrates the value of an ethnographic approach in adult literacy studies by exploring the challenges faced by the researcher in gaining access to community members activities and the opportunity to experience first hand what instructors go through in facilitating adult literacy lessons

Literacies, Power, and the Schooled Body Kerry Dixon,2010-11-15 This book examines how children s bodies are trained in time and space to produce schooled literate individuals Moving from theory to practice examples of real classroom events show how teachers practices direct discipline onto children s bodies
