Do You Feel it Too? Nicoline Timmer, 2010 Do You Feel It Too explores a new sense of self that is becoming manifest in experimental fiction written by a generation of authors who can be considered the heirs of the postmodern tradition It offers a precise in depth analysis of a new post postmodern direction in fiction writing and highlights which aspects are most acute in the post postmodern novel Most notable is the emphatic expression of feelings and sentiments and a drive toward inter subjective connection and communication The self that is presented in these post postmodern works of fiction can best be characterized as relational To analyze this new sense of self a new interpretational method is introduced that offers a sophisticated approach to fictional selves combining the insights of post classical narratology and what is called narrative psychology Close analyses of three contemporary experimental texts Infinite Jest 1996 by David Foster Wallace A Heartbreaking Work of Staggering Genius 2000 by Dave Eggers and House of Leaves 2000 by Mark Danielewski provide insight into the typical problems that the self experiences in postmodern cultural contexts Three such problems or symptoms are singled out and analyzed in depth an inability to choose because of a lack of decision making tools a difficulty to situate or appropriate feelings and a structural need for a we a desire for connectivity and sociality The critique that can be distilled from these texts especially on the perceived solipsistic quality of postmodern experience worlds runs parallel to developments in recent critical theory These developments in fiction and theory both signal in the wake of poststructural conceptions of subjectivity a perhaps much awaited turn to the human in our culture at large today
