Feminism Theory And The Politics Of Difference:

Justice and the Politics of Difference Iris Marion Young, 2011-08-22 In this classic work of feminist political thought Iris Marion Young challenges the prevailing reduction of social justice to distributive justice It critically analyzes basic concepts underlying most theories of justice including impartiality formal equality and the unitary moral subjectivity The starting point for her critique is the experience and concerns of the new social movements about decision making cultural expression and division of labor that were created by marginal and excluded groups including women African Americans and American Indians as well as gays and lesbians Iris Young defines concepts of domination and oppression to cover issues eluding the distributive model Democratic theorists according to Young do not adequately address the problem of an inclusive participatory framework By assuming a homogeneous public they fail to consider institutional arrangements for including people not culturally identified with white European male norms of reason and respectability Young urges that normative theory and public policy should undermine group based oppression by affirming rather than suppressing social group difference Basing her vision of the good society on the differentiated culturally plural network of contemporary urban life she argues for a principle of group representation in democratic publics and for group differentiated policies Danielle Allen s new foreword contextualizes Young s work and explains how debates surrounding social justice have changed since and been transformed by the original publication of Justice and the Politics of Difference

Feminism, Theory and the Politics of Difference Chris Weedon, 1999-03-12 Feminism Theory and the Politics of Difference looks at the question of difference across the full spectrum of feminist theory from liberal radical lesbian and socialist theories to Black and post colonial feminisms

Iris Marion Young Michaela Ferguson, Andrew Valls, 2021-11-18 Iris Marion Young 1949 2006 was one of the most influential and innovative political theorists of her generation who had a significant impact on a wide range of topics such as democratic theory feminist theory and justice She bridged many longstanding divides among political theorists engaging in Continental and critical theory but also insisting on the importance of normative argument her corpus stands as a testament to the fruitfulness of engaging in both abstract theory and the real world of everyday politics This volume spans the several decades of her work illustrating her intellectual development over time through three major areas of innovation Gender Maintaining that gender is both conceptually and politically meaningful Young theorized gender in terms of structures that in combination position different people we call women in different ways such that some women have some structures in common without all women sharing all gendered structures in common Justice Young s early writings on a critical theory of justice evolved in her later and posthumously published works where she developed an account of justice that brought together her theorization of structure with her concern to respond to contemporary claims of injustice The Politics of Difference Young rejected universal and abstract theories of justice and maintained that justice instead required attending to the experiences of people marked by difference This volume will prove useful to scholars and students working

Silverman, 1991-06-04 This book addresses various phases of continental philosophy both in the context of its multiple traditions and in relation to the alternatives that mark the understanding of its present and future Divided into two parts the authors first focus on the diversity of traditions in continental philosophy in connection with the texts of Hegel Marx Kierkegaard Sartre and De Beauvoir Second they explore the reality of social political sexual and philosophical differences in connection with the writings of Merleau-Ponty Arendt Habermas Heidegger Foucault Irigaray Kristeva Derrida and Vattimo They also stress the various theoretical foundations that manifest these differences Issues surrounding the role of philosophical systems language ethical choice relations with others the gendered body socialization and the status of philosophy today constitute the fabric of this book The authors place these ideas in the context of current thought and current debates in continental philosophy and evaluate their significance for the future Feminist Interpretations of Michel Foucault Susan Hekman, 2010-11-01 Despite the possibilities however Foucault's approach has raised serious questions about an equally crucial area of feminist thought politics Some feminist critics of Foucault have argued that his deconstruction of the concept woman also deconstructs the possibility of a feminist politics Several essays explore the implications of this deconstruction for feminist politics and suggest that a Foucauldian feminist politics is not viable

Ethics, Politics, and Difference in Julia Kristeva's Writing Kelly Oliver, 2013-10-28 A valuable intervention in Kristevan scholarship and a significant and exciting contribution in its own right to post structuralist discussions of ethical and political agency and practice Contributors Judith Butler Tina Chanter Marilyn Edelstein Jean Graybeal Suzanne Guerlac Alice Jardine Lisa Lowe Noelle McAfee Norma Claire Moruzzi Kelly Oliver Tilottma Rajan Jacqueline Rose Allison Weir Mary Bittner Wiseman Ewa Ziarek Multicultural Education, Critical Pedagogy, and the Politics of Difference Christine E. Sleeter, Peter McLaren, 1995-01-01 This book explores and expands upon linkages between multicultural education and critical pedagogy drawing on the shared goal of challenging oppressive social relationships The Oxford Handbook of Feminist Approaches to the Hebrew Bible Susanne Scholz, 2020-12-31 The Oxford Handbook of Feminist Approaches to the Hebrew Bible brings together 37 essential essays written by leading international scholars examining crucial points of analysis within the field of feminist Hebrew Bible studies Organized into four major areas globalization neoliberalism media and intersectionality the essays collectively provide vibrant relevant and innovative contributions to the field The topics of analysis focus heavily on gender and queer identity with essays touching on African Korean and European feminist hermeneutics womanist and interreligious readings ecofeminist and animal biblical studies migration biblical studies the role of gender binary voices in evangelical egalitarian approaches and the examination of scripture in light of trans women's voices The volume also includes essays examining the Old Testament as recited in music literature film and video games The Oxford Handbook of Feminist Approaches to the Hebrew Bible charts a culturally hermeneutically and exegetically cutting edge path for the ongoing development of biblical studies grounded in feminist womanist gender and queer perspectives Feminism, Identity and Difference Susan J. Hekman, 2013-10-18 This study focuses on a set of issues at the forefront of feminist thought in the late 1990s identity difference and their implications for feminist politics As feminism moves into an era in which differences among women the multiple identities of woman and identity politics are all at the centre of feminist discussions new approaches methods and politics are called for Feminist Politics Deborah Orr, 2007 The essays in Feminist Politics contest some of the prevailing conceptualizations of identity and difference as well as the functions of these concepts in feminist political discourse and praxis Doing so they amply demonstrate that issues of identity and difference have a central place in contemporary feminist scholarship The authors of these essays have worked to develop new ways of understanding and living out differences which will both preserve and celebrate them while also fostering the necessary conditions for opening dialogue and forming new coalitions The intent of these efforts has been to thereby engender imaginative new strategies for the personal spiritual and sociopolitical changes that will enable human growth wellbeing and flourishing While the focus of the work represented here is understandably on women the issues that are raised are given additional urgency explicitly in some of the papers and implicitly in others by the situation of their concerns in the context of the world created by the Bush administration Because that administration has foregrounded issues of identity and difference in ways that are not only inhumane and often inaccurate but dangerous for all of us the new ways of thinking and acting that are proposed here have a much broader application Thus these papers truly invite not only feminists but all people to move in new directions Taken as a whole this volume represents cutting edge thinking from an international perspective in these important and pressing areas for feminist research and praxis

Ethics and Politics Claudia Card,1999 For years mainstream feminist ethics focused criticism on male supremacy Feminist philosophers in this volume adopt a less male focused stance to look closely at oppression s impact on women s agency and on women s relations with women Examining legal social and physical relationships these philosophers confront moral ambiguity moral compromise and complicity in perpetuating oppression Combining personal experience with philosophical inquiry they vividly portray their daily engagement with oppression as both victims and perpetrators They explore such issues as how pornography silences women and radical feminist politics complicity in racism Among these insightful essays Sandra Bartky argues that women share guilt for racism when they benefit from it without protest Susan Brison reflects on uses of narrative in trauma recovery from such experiences as being targeted for rape or murder Joan Callahan examines fallout of derogatory speech directed at lesbians Virginia Held proposes carrying care into marketplaces and governments and in her introduction Claudia Card draws on Primo Levi s conception of gray zones in exploring dangers of character damage to victims of misogyny A fitting companion to Card s highly regarded Feminist Ethics this volume interweaves observations on character political ethics violence and love into an accessible sourcebook for students It tackles some of feminism s most pressing issues and helps readers to identify and then overcome the real damage caused by oppression

Intersecting Voices Iris Marion Young,2020-07-21 Iris Marion Young is known for her ability to connect theory to public policy and practical politics in ways easily understood by a wide range of readers This collection of essays which extends her work on feminist theory explores questions such as the meaning of moral respect and the ways individuals relate to social collectives together with timely issues like welfare reform same sex marriage and drug treatment for pregnant women One of the many goals of Intersecting Voices is to energize thinking in those areas where women and men are still deprived of social justice Essays on the social theory of groups communication across difference alternative principles for family law exclusion of single mothers from full citizenship and the ambiguous value of home lead to questions important for rethinking policy How can women be conceptualized as a single social collective when there are so many differences among them What spaces of discourse are required for the full inclusion of women and cultural minorities in public discussion Can the conceptual and practical link between self sufficiency and citizenship that continues to relegate some people to second class status be broken How could legal institutions be formed to recognize the actual plurality of family forms In formulating such questions and the answers to them Young draws upon ideas from both Anglo American and Continental philosophers including Seyla Benhabib Joshua Cohen Luce Irigaray Susan Okin William Galston Simone de Beauvoir and Michel Foucault
