Chen,1980 As discussed in this paper fertility behaviour is determined by various factors such as ethnicity education income and other variables In Singapore ethnicity is found to be the most significant factor affecting all the four fertility related measures namely the number of children ever born desired family size wife s age at first marriage and current contraceptive use Singapore James T. A State of Ambivalence Lenore Lyons,2004-01-01 This book examines the contemporary feminist movement in Singapore It provides a fascinating analysis of the meanings that Singaporean women attach to the label feminist as well as the ways in which feminist activists negotiate their complex relationship with the Singaporean state Population Policy and Reproduction in Singapore Shirley Hsiao-Li Sun,2012 This book examines the relationship between population policies and individual reproductive decisions in low fertility contexts Using the case study of Singapore it demonstrates that the effectiveness of population policy is a function of competing notions of citizenship and the gap between seemingly neutral policy incentives and the perceived and experienced disparate effects Drawing on a substantial number of personal interviews and focus groups the book analyzes the developmental welfare state s overarching emphasis of citizen responsibility and examines population policies that reinforce social inequalities and ignore cultural diversity These factors combine to undermine elaborate state policy efforts in encouraging citizens biological reproduction The book goes on to argue that in order to facilitate positive fertility decisions the state needs to modify the economic production at all cost approach and pay much more attention to the importance of social rights This suggests that the Singapore government might profitably approach the phenomenon of very low fertility with major initiatives similar to those of other advanced industrialized societies This book offers a significant contribution to the literature on social policy East Asian and Southeast Asian studies Older Persons in Southeast Asia Evi Nurvidya Arifin,Aris Ananta,2009 Demographers economists sociologists and anthropologists analyse the implications of population ageing for family and community welfare and public policy

Women's Empowerment, Population Dynamics, and Development Dennis Hodgson, 2025-03-24 This book assumes that women's empowerment is a social movement aimed at producing political economic and social change It traces the changing relationship among three unprecedented trends experienced in the developing world since 1950 declining levels of mortality and fertility socioeconomic development and women's empowerment It offers two policy analyses of the contemporary relationship of these three trends One for the 30 countries that in 2021 still have TFRs above 4 and another for the 34 countries that currently have below replacement level fertility This analysis highlights a new 21st century fact over ardent neo Malthusian population controllers are no longer the greatest threat to women's reproductive rights That place has been assumed by over ardent pronatalist population controllers in low fertility countries

Singapore Malay/Muslim Community, 1819-2015 Hussin Mutalib, Rokiah Mentol, Sundusia Rosdi, 2016-06-29 Singapore's Malay Muslim community constituting about 15 per cent of the total population and constitutionally enshrined as the indigenous people of Singapore have had its fair share of progress and problems in the history of this country While different aspects of the vicissitudes of life of the community have been written over the years there has not been a singularly substantive published compendium specifically about the community in the form of a Bibliography available This academic initiative fills this obvious literature gap The scope and coverage of this Bibliography is manifestly comprehensive encompassing the different sources of information print or non print about the many facets of life of the Republic's Malays Muslims such as education economy politics culture history health language religion arts and more The result is a Bibliography that is arguably the most expansive if not exhaustive treasury collection about the community ever available anywhere Scholars and researchers in particular and the public in general should find this Bibliography a highly valuable indispensable source of information about the rich and varied life of Singapore's Malay Muslim community stretching a period of two centuries from the time of Stamford Raffles in 1819 until today The Editors Hussin Mutalib Ph D a senior academic with the National University of Singapore Rokiah Mentol and Sundusia Rosdi former senior librarians with Singapore's National Library Board are assisted by professional and experienced librarians

China's Low Birth Rate and the Development of Population Guo Zhigang, Wang Feng, Cai Yong, 2017-12-12 As the most populous country in the world China's demographic challenges have always been too many people for ecological system resources and the environment However by the early 1990s fertility rate in China had dropped below the replacement level and China's low fertility has now attracted the world's attention. This book is among the first studies to raise and examine questions on low fertility in China, believing that China has entered a new era featured by low birth rate and ageing population. Utilizing advanced research methods and models on low fertility to analyze China's census data, this book explores the issues from various perspectives. Methodologies employed in past population studies, policy making concerning fertility rate, underreporting of births and fertility rate estimates, fertility level of the migrant population, current population pattern, long term population trends, population dynamics, and many other thought provoking problems are covered. Finally, the book revisits China's population issues in the context of globalization. The 21st century has seen the new challenge of persistent population decrease and ageing worldwide, which along with economic globalization demands a new understanding of the changes in population pattern and their consequences. Researchers and students in China's demographic and social studies will be attracted by the insightful analysis and rich materials provided in the book. Population policy makers will also benefit from it.

Social Context, Policies, And Changes In Singapore: Beyond The First 50 Years Intan Azura Mokhtar, Yaacob Ibrahim, 2022-03-02

This book is a collection of essays by thought and advocacy leaders, policymakers and academics in Singapore who have been and are in positions of influence in shaping social policies and hence the social context in the country. These essays are meant to initiate discussion, promote debate and broaden understanding of the social issues at play, the challenges faced and the trade offs involved in enhancing social policies, strengthening the social compact and shaping the social context in Singapore. This is done through addressing issues and challenges in:

- 1 Government and Civil Society
- 2 Education
- 3 Employability and Employment
- 4 Social and Family Development
- 5 Demographics and Social Spending
- 6 Healthcare and Healthcare Financing
- 7 Urban Planning and the Environment
- 8 Disruptions, New Technologies and Smart Nation

It is hoped this book will be useful for students of sociology, social policy or public policy as they discuss the dynamics and trade offs involved in planning, shaping and implementing social and public policies in Singapore. This book also hopes to inform and initiate dialogues among Singaporeans on the social issues and challenges we face in our city state and which we have to collectively address as a nation.

Culture, Identity and Religion in Southeast Asia Alistair D. B. Cook, 2009-05-27

I have read the draft of this book sent to me by the editor. After reading this draft, I do think this book is valuable and timely. It discusses the contemporary issues that have worried many people in the present world: terrorism, human rights, Islamic radicalism and the problem of identity in the Singaporean capitalism. These issues are not discussed in the theoretical, abstract way; it also doesn't mean that theories are not discussed at all, but in the context of various concrete societies. The book deals with one of the above issues in Malaysia, Singapore and Indonesia. Aceh and Sumenep in Madura. Each issue is written by a different author that has studied the issue thoroughly. So the book is a collection of research done by specialists of these issues. Two essays on Southeast Asia, one on health and the other on human security give the general picture of this region acting as a broad introduction of the chapters that follow Each chapter has been written professionally and the readers will learn many things from each of them One has to read the chapter in order to really appreciate them Therefore I really recommend that this manuscript to be published as a book in order to get a large audience One shortcoming though this book deals with three countries only Malaysia Singapore and Indonesia albeit these three are the important countries in the region Other important Southeast Asian countries such as Thailand the Philippines and Burma are not discussed individually With the omission of these countries it thus can be argued whether this book can represent the Southeast Asian region Also in dealing with Indonesia the chapters talk on sub national level namely on Aceh province and a peripheral city Sumenep in the island of Madura East Java while Malaysia and Singapore are dealt on the level of nation state To conclude even with these shortcomings this book is still valuable Therefore I would like to recommend it be published Arief Budiman Foundation Professor of Indonesian Asia Institute The University of Melbourne Australia Routledge Handbook of Southeast Asian Economics Ian Coxhead,2014-12-17 The Routledge Handbook of Southeast Asian Economics offers new insights into the rapidly developing economies of Southeast Asia Despite widespread initial deprivation Southeast Asia has achieved and sustained a remarkable rate of growth in the course of which tens of millions have successfully escaped severe poverty Though the economies of the region vary in many dimensions integration into the wider East Asian network of production and trade is a notable common feature one that continues a centuries long history of engagement with global trade A second striking feature is the pace and extent of transformation in the structure of production and in sources of household income in the region which has undergone remarkably rapid industrialization and urban growth However the search for sustained and sustainable growth through and beyond middle income continues to confront pressing economic and policy challenges This Handbook offers a timely and comprehensive overview of Southeast Asian economic development Organized according to the logic of chronological and thematic unity it is structured in these sections Growth and development over the long term Food agriculture and natural resources Trade investment and industrialization Population labor and human capital Poverty and political economy Twenty first century challenges This original Handbook written by experts in their fields is unique in the breadth and depth of its coverage Its forward looking perspective renders it relevant both now and in the future This advanced level reference work will be essential reading for students researchers and scholars of Asian Studies Economics and Southeast Asian studies
