Gender, Race, and Class in Media Gail Dines, Jean McMahon Humez, 2011 51 contemporary articles are new to this edition with 14 classic pieces retained from prior editions Race and Media Literacy, Explained (or Why Does the Black Guy Die First?) Frederick W. Gooding Jr., 2024-05-24 Talking about race does not have to be incredibly awkward In this book Gooding offers twelve clear cogent and concise racial rubrics to help users of mainstream media more readily discern patterns hidden in plain sight The text primarily leverages popular movies as the medium of analysis since they are unparalleled in their cultural significance but the rubrics apply to other forms of media such as television print and social media Why does the Black guy die first is a well known rhetorical question that challenges disparate treatment of nonwhite characters onscreen This subtle statement about the representation of persons of color within mainstream movies has remained largely unexplored until now Race and Media Literacy Explained provides concrete concepts and a uniform vocabulary with which to recognize and further analyze these formulaic images After participating in this dynamically interactive experience readers will never see media the same way again Book Features Employs an interdisciplinary approach to teaching race drawing on cinema and forms of popular media that most students know Guidance for honing media literacy skills with middle high school and undergraduate college students A HARM Theory Rubric that identifies 6 consistent patterns for depictions of non White characters and 6 consistent patterns for White characters within mainstream movies Questions for Questing sections provide critical questions for further exploration Concrete vocabulary glossary terms to engage with the subject matter more precisely Innovative analysis of depictions of race and ethnicity in the top ten grossing films of all time

Race/gender/media Rebecca Ann Lind, 2010 Race Gender Media contains 43 readings that help readers to think critically about issues of race and gender in the media The readings address a multitude of topics in three major sections Production Content and Audience and approach the matter of race and gender in the media from rhetorical social scientific and critical cultural perspectives The author places a strong emphasis on introducing the material in the book and orienting the reader to the content through overviews context specific introductions and descriptions of each reading

Debating Disney Douglas Brode, Shea T. Brode, 2016-06-30 With stakes in film television theme parks and merchandising Disney continues to be one of the most dominant forces of popular culture around the globe Films produced by the studio are usually blockbusters in nearly every country where they are released However despite their box office success these films often generate as much disdain as admiration While appreciated for their visual aesthetics many of these same films are criticized for their cultural insensitivity or lack of historical fidelity In Debating Disney Pedagogical Perspectives on Commercial Cinema Douglas Brode and Shea T Brode have assembled a collection of essays that examine Disney's output from the 1930s through the present day Each chapter in this volume represents the conflicting viewpoints of contributors who look at Disney culture from a variety of perspectives Covering both animated and live action films as well as television programs these essays discuss how the studio handles social issues such as race gender and culture as well as its depictions of science and history Though some of the essays in this volume are critical of individual films or television shows they also acknowledge the studio's capacity to engage audiences with the quality of their work These essays encourage readers to draw their own conclusions about Disney productions allowing them to consider the studio as the hero as much as the villain in the cultural deliberation Debating Disney will be of interest to scholars and students of film as well as those with an interest in popular culture

The Hero and the Perennial Journey Home in American Film Susan

Mackey-Kallis,2010-08-03 In contemporary America myths find expression primarily in film What's more many of the highest grossing American movies of the past several decades have been rooted in one of the most fundamental mythic narratives the hero quest Why is the hero quest so persistently renewed and retold In what ways does this universal myth manifest itself in American cinema And what is the significance of the popularity of these modern myths The Hero and the Perennial Journey Home in American Film by Susan Mackey Kallis is an exploration of the appeal of films that recreate and reinterpret this mythic structure She closely analyzes such films as E T the Star Wars trilogy It's a Wonderful Life The Wizard of Oz The Lion King Field of Dreams The Piano Thelma and Louise and 2001 A Space Odyssey Elements of the quest mythology made popular by Joseph Campbell Homer's Odyssey the perennial philosophy of Aldous Huxley and Jungian psychology all contribute to the compelling interpretive framework in which Mackey Kallis crafts her study She argues that the purpose of the hero quest is not limited to the discovery of some boon or Holy Grail but also involves finding oneself and finding a home in the universe The home that is sought is simultaneously the literal home from which the hero sets out and the terminus of the personal growth he or she undergoes during the journey back Thus the quest Mackey Kallis asserts is an outward journey into the world of action and events which eventually requires a journey inward if the hero is to grow and ultimately necessitates a journey homeward if the hero is to understand the grail and share it with the culture at large Finally she examines the value of mythic criticism and addresses questions about myth currently being debated in the field of communication studies

Black Magic Woman and Narrative Film Montréal Aza Missouri,2015-07-17 Black Magic Woman and Narrative Film examines the transformation of the stereotypical tragic mulatto from tragic to empowered as represented in independent and mainstream cinema The author suggests that this transformation is through the character s journey towards African based religions

Masculine Interests Robert Lang,2002 In the 1930s a band of smart and able young men some still in their twenties helped Franklin D Roosevelt transform an American nation in crisis They were the junior officers of the New Deal Thomas G Corcoran Benjamin V Cohen William O Douglas Abe Fortas and James Rowe helped FDR build the modern Democratic Party into a progressive coalition whose command over power and ideas during the next three decades seemed politically invincible This is the first book about this group of Rooseveltians and their linkage to Lyndon Johnson s Great Society and the Vietnam War debacle Michael Janeway grew up inside this world His father Eliot Janeway business editor of Time and a star writer for Fortune and Life magazines was part of this circle strategizing and practicing politics as well as reporting on these men Drawing on his intimate knowledge of events and previously unavailable private letters and other documents Janeway crafts a riveting account of the exercise of power during the New Deal and its aftermath He shows how these men were at the nexus of reform impulses at the electoral level with reform thinking in the social sciences and the law and explains how this potent fusion helped build the contemporary American state Since that time efforts to reinvent government by brains trust have largely failed in the U S In the last quarter of the twentieth century American politics ceased to function as a blend of broad coalition building and reform agenda setting rooted in a consensus of belief in the efficacy of modern government Can a progressive coalition of ideas and power come together again The Fall of the House of Roosevelt makes such a prospect both alluring and daunting

Representations of the Orient in Western Music Nasser Al-Tae,2017-07-05 This book focuses on the cultural political and religious representations of the Orient in Western music Dr Nasser Al Tae traces several threads in a vast repertoire of musical representations concentrating primarily on the images of violence and sensuality Al Tae argues that these prevailing traits are not only the residual manifestation of the Ottoman threat to Western Europe but also the continuation of a long and complex history of fear and fascination towards the Orient and its Islamic religion In addition to analyses of musical works Al Tae draws on travel accounts paintings biographies and political events to engage with important issues such as gender race and religious differences that may have contributed to the variously complex images of the Orient in Western music The study extends the range of Orientalism to cover eighteenth century Austria nineteenth century Russia and twentieth century America The book challenges those scholars who do not see Orientalism as problematic and tend to ignore the role of musical representations in shaping the image of the Other within a wider interdisciplinary study of knowledge and power

Screening Difference

Jaap Van Ginneken, 2007-08-29 Did you know that Pocahontas probably never fell in love with John Smith as the Disney and other film versions of those events pretend That Godzilla was originally an anti American and anti nuclear movie heavily cut and supplemented with new material That Zorro was not created by an American author but derived from the much older Mexican struggle for independence That Anna and the King was largely invented That the myth of the sexually eager Hula girls is based on misunderstandings by the first explorers That Black Hawk Down and many other war movies were censored and indirectly subsidized by the Pentagon Screening Difference takes us on a fascinating voyage through major movie blockbusters that deal with the encounter between us based on white Hollywood and them the filmic representations of other races ethnicities and cultures Looking at subtle orientations in casting and make up sets and props lighting and camera movements music and language this lively book follows the best known genres and subgenres from animated cartoons to wilderness films from romantic movies to colonial adventures Screening Difference tracks the stories back to their origins and patiently dissects the hidden messages that have gradually crept into them
